Shanghai Emerald P 50:

Gunboats, Empire and the China Station Matthew Heaslip, 2020-10-01 Examining Britain's imperial outposts in 1920s East Asia this book explores the changes and challenges affecting the Royal Navy's third largest fleet the China Station as its crews fought to hold back the changing tides of fortune Bridging the gap between high level naval strategy and everyday imperial culture Heaslip highlights the importance of the China Station to the British imperial system foreign policy and East Asian geopolitics while also revealing the lived experiences of these imperial outposts Following their immersion into a new world and the challenges they encountered along the way it considers how its naval officers were perceived by the Chinese populations of the ports they visited how the two communities interacted and what this meant at a time of peace Against the changing nature of Britain's informal empire in the 1920s Gunboats Empire and the China Station highlights the complex nature of naval operations in between major conflicts and calls into question how peaceful this peacetime truly was The London and China Telegraph, 1871 The Mercantile Navy List and Maritime Directory Great Britain. General Register and Record Office of Shipping and Seamen, 1931 The New York Times Index, 1926 Linocuts of the Machine Age Stephen Coppel, 1995 Drawing on a wealth of primary sources including letters memoirs photographs and critical appraisals in the press Stephen Coppel provides a fascinating account of the work and lives of these seven artists This book will introduce to a new audience the vitality and appeal of these prints which from the Second World War until quite recently have been largely overlooked A key feature of the book is an extensive and fully illustrated catalogue raisonné which documents over 380 linocuts arranged in chronological order by artist The catalogue records their exhibition history and location and provides documentary and contextual notes on individual entries Locating Chinese Women Kate Bagnall, Julia T. Martínez, 2021-03-23 This ground breaking edited collection draws together Australian historical scholarship on Chinese women their gendered migrations and their mobile lives between China and Australia It considers different aspects of women's lives both as individuals and as the wives and daughters of immigrant men While the number of Chinese women in Australia before 1950 was relatively small their presence was significant and often subject to public scrutiny Moving beyond traditional representations of women as hidden and silent this book demonstrates that Chinese Australian women in the twentieth century expressed themselves in the public eye whether through writings in photographs or in political and cultural life Their remarkable stories are often inspiring and sometimes tragic and serve to demonstrate the complexities of navigating female lives in the face of racial politics and imposed categories of gender culture and class Historians of transnational Chinese migration have come to recognize Australia as a crucial site within the Cantonese Pacific and this collection provides a new layer of gendered comparison connecting women's experiences in Australia with those in Canada the United States and New Zealand Locating Chinese Women is a path breaking book By exploring the experiences of Chinese Australian women during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the authors have opened new and compelling avenues of inquiry about the history of Chinese Australian women In this landmark work they have brilliantly recast the history of Chinese Australia Joy Damousi Australian Catholic University Locating Chinese Women breaks new ground in Australian and transnational Chinese women s history by making the lives of remarkable Chinese Australian women visible Photographs testimonies Chinese language newspapers and digitized archives help document the women s agency and activities as they navigate public lives between and within Australia and China during the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Shirley Hune University of California Los Angeles and University of Washington Emergent
