with these newly digitalised audio and video materials makes Storytelling in Northern Zambia a much needed addition to the slender corpus of African folklore studies that deal with storytelling performance. CANCEL threads his way between the complex demands of African fieldwork studies, folklore theory, narrative modes, reflexive description and simple documentation and succeeds in bringing to the reader a set of performers and their performances that are vivid, varied and instructive. He illustrates this living narrative tradition with a wide range of examples and highlights the social status of narrators and the complex local identities that are at play. CANCEL's study tells us not only about storytelling but sheds light on the study of oral literatures throughout Africa and beyond. Its innovative format meanwhile explores new directions in the integration of primary source material into scholarly texts.
