Christianity, LGBTQ Suicide, and the Souls of Queer Folk Cody J. Sanders,2020-05-15 While garnering the attention of professionals across disciplines from medicine to public health to psychology and frequently covered as a topic of public concern in the news media the elevated occurrence of suicide attempts among LGBTQ persons has received little attention within the literature of theology and religious studies This book fills that lacuna by addressing the role that religious spiritual and theological narratives play in shaping the souls of queer folk Taking a narrative approach to qualitative interview material from LGBTQ individuals who survived their suicide attempts Cody J Sanders argues that theological narratives can operate violently upon the souls of LGBTQ people in ways that make life precarious and at time seem unlivable The book critically addresses the violence of theological narratives upon queer souls filling a crucial void in scholarship concerning the role of religion specifically Christianity in LGBTQ suicide Ultimately the author draws upon the interview material to move readers toward constructive methods of contributing to the resistance and resilience of queer souls in relation to soul violence asking how we can intervene with practices of care in order to cultivate livability of life for queer people

Knowing Their Place? Identity and Space in Children's Literature Terri Doughty, Dawn Thompson, 2011-12-14 Traditionally in the West children were expected to know their place but what does this comprise in a contemporary globalized world Does it mean to continue to accept subordination to those larger and more powerful Does it mean to espouse unthinkingly a notion of national identity Or is it about gaining an awareness of the ways in which identity is derived from a sense of place Where individuals are situated matters as much if not more than it ever has In children's literature the physical places and psychological spaces inhabited by children and young adults are also key elements in the developing identity formation of characters and through engagement of readers too The contributors to this collection map a broad range of historical and present day workings of this process exploring indigeneity and place tracing the intertwining of place and identity in diasporic literature analyzing the relationship of the child to the natural world and studying the role of fantastic spaces in children's construction of the self. They address fresh topics and texts ranging from the indigenization of the Gothic by Canadian mixed blood Anishinabe writer Drew Hayden Taylor to the lesser known children's books of George Mackay Brown to eco feminist analysis of contemporary verse novels. The essays on more canonical texts such as Peter Pan and the Harry Potter series provide new angles from which to revise them. Readers of this collection will gain understanding of the complex interactions of place, space and identity in children's literature. Essays in this book will appeal to those interested in Children's Literature, Aboriginal Studies, Environmentalism and literature, and Fantasy literature.
