Sharing The Worlds Resources:

Sharing the World's Resources Oscar Schachter, 1977 No area of the world has been viewed by Americans with greater moral disapproval and yet less attention than southern Africa writes Anthony Lake in the introduction to The Tar Baby Option Feeling that there is much to be learned from an examination of the American response to the Rhodesian problem he offers a detailed account of America's Southern Rhodesia policy since the Smith government's unilateral declaration of independence from Great Britain in 1965 The book provides information essential to an understanding of the American approach to the current crisis in the region The author's use of previously undisclosed materials and interviews with U S foreign policymakers gives the reader an inside look not only at the Rhodesian question but also at the politics of American foreign policy

Sharing the World Michael Carley, Phillipe Spapens, 2017-09-25 This work proposes a framework based on the concept of a fair distribution of environmental space to include the diverse needs of North and South Drawing on research in 38 countries it aims to give an equitable basis for global development in order to achieve sustainable consumption by the year 2050 The environmental space approach seeks to explain the limitations of the global market economy as a tool of development and to give us the means to alter it in order to achieve a genuine quality of life rather than simple economic growth In addition this book seeks to urge all countries and peoples to consider and evaluate the environmental space approach and to join in a movement towards sustainable production and consumption for the 21st century services such as landscape management and the maintenance of wildlife habitats. However, it is often undervalued, underused and under threat. This report updates the global assessment provided in the first report on The State of the World's Animal Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture published in 2007. It focuses particularly on changes that have occurred during the period since the first report was published. It serves as a basis for a review and potential update of the Global Plan of Action for Animal Genetic Resources, which since 2007 has provided an agreed international framework for the management of livestock biodiversity. Drawing on 129 country reports, it presents an analysis of the state of livestock diversity, the influence of livestock sector trends on the management of animal genetic resources, the state of capacity to manage animal genetic resources, including legal and policy frameworks, and the state of the art in tools and methods for characterization, valuation, use, development, and conservation.

summarizes the state of biodiversity for food and agriculture in the region based largely on information provided in ten country reports submitted to FAO as part of the reporting process for the report on The State of the World's Biodiversity for Food and Agriculture. Biodiversity for food and agriculture is the diversity of plants, animals and micro organisms at genetic, species and ecosystem levels present in and around crop, livestock, forest and aquatic production systems. It is essential to the structure, functions and processes of these systems to livelihoods and food security and to the supply of a wide range of ecosystem services. It has been managed or influenced by farmers, livestock keepers, forest dwellers, fish farmers and fisherfolk for hundreds of generations. The report was originally prepared as supporting documentation for an informal regional consultation on the state of the Pacific region's biodiversity for food and agriculture held in Nadi, Fiji in May 2016. It was later revised based on feedback received from the participants of the informal consultation. It provides a description of the drivers of change affecting the region's biodiversity for food and agriculture and of its current status and trends. It also discusses the state of efforts to promote the sustainable use and conservation of biodiversity for food and agriculture in the region including through the development of supporting policies, legal frameworks, institutions and capacities. Europe and Central Asia Regional Synthesis for The State of the World's Biodiversity for Food and Agriculture, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2019-11-20.
