

The background is a dark, textured blue with a mottled, watercolor-like appearance. Scattered throughout are several stylized flowers. These flowers are outlined in a vibrant yellow-gold color. The petals are filled with a deep blue, and the centers feature yellow stamens. Some flowers are in full bloom, while others are in various stages of opening. The overall aesthetic is elegant and artistic.

Seeing Witness Jane Blocker, 2009 The act of bearing witness can reveal much but what about the figure of the witness itself As contemporary culture is increasingly dominated by surveillance the witness whether artist historian scientist government official or ordinary citizen has become empowered in realms from art to politics In Seeing Witness Jane Blocker challenges the implicit authority of witnessing through the examination of a series of contemporary artworks all of which make the act of witnessing visible open to inspection and critique

Lest We Lose Love Scherto Gill, 2023-04-18 Few are aware that since antiquity there has always been the philosophy of love at the core of Western culture It articulates what makes life meaningful and worthwhile and how we can live a good life together through an ethic of love This book fills this significant gap not only reconnecting the reader with such important wisdom and more crucially also reorienting our socio economic institutions and collective actions towards more loving and caring and more concerned with the qualities of our lived experiences By re discovering the gifts of love we may challenge the existing systemic dehumanisation and draw from knowledge and understanding already present in our culture This is timely because the global crises we are facing are catastrophic especially when it comes to climate change Therefore we must respond from a place of love rather than fear Whether it is reducing the use of fossil fuels lowering greenhouse emission choosing the right food to eat or advocating for structural transformation our concerted endeavours start with an appropriate appreciation of the nature of our well being which includes the planet s well ness This book highlights a clear pathway forward to ensure collective healing and co flourishing with nature we must practise the art of loving

Breaking Up (at) Totality Debra Diane Davis, 2000 Rhetoric and composition theory has shown a renewed interest in sophistic countertraditions as seen in the work of such postphilosophers as Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault and H l ne Cixous and of such rhetoricians as Susan Jarratt and Steven Mailloux As D Diane Davis traces today s theoretical interest to those countertraditions she also sets her sights beyond them Davis takes a third sophistic approach one that focuses on the play of language that perpetually disrupts the either or binary construction of dialectic She concentrates on the nonsequential third excess that overflows language s dichotomies In this work laughter operates as a trope for disruption or breaking up which is from Davis s perspective a joyfully destructive shattering of our confining conceptual frameworks      Autobiography, Volume 1 Mircea Eliade,1990-01-16 Here finally are Eliade s memoirs of the first thirty years of his life in Mac Linscott Rickett s crisp and lucid English translation They present a fascinating account of the early development of a Renaissance talent expressed in everything from daily and periodical journalism realistic and fantastic fiction and general nonfiction works to distinguished contributions to the history of religions Autobiography follows an apparently amazingly candid report of this remarkable man s progression from a mischievous street urchin and literary prodigy through his various love affairs a decisive and traumatic Indian sojourn and active brilliant participation in pre World War II Romanian cultural life Seymour Cain Religious Studies Review      Reading Theories in Contemporary Fiction Lisa McNally,2013-04-25 Even after the upheavals wrought by Theory literary criticism has generally ignored the act and experience of reading itself proceeding as though something so fundamental to our experience of texts could be taken for granted Reading Theories in Contemporary Fiction draws on deconstruction and the thought of Jacques Derrida to explore the ways in which contemporary fiction engages with reading its power the elusive nature of its experience and the failures of understanding inherent in it Along the way the book proceeds through close readings of such authors as J M Coetzee David Mitchell Toni Morrison and Philip Roth      Shattered Love Stacey Marie Brown,2018 Everyone has a story about a broken heart but Jaymerson s heart wasn t just broken It was completely shattered Along with her body and mind Jaymerson Holloway had it all until one moment One bad decision A split second and her life was altered forever Faced with unimaginable grief and guilt while learning to simply walk again Jaymerson realizes she will never be the same Everyone wants her to get back to who she was before But nothing of her old life feels real to her anymore The only one who understands what she is going through is someone who has always been cruel to her and someone she hates The other survivor Hunter Harris is totally off limits and full of secrets Though each blames the other they are the only ones to help start to repair their shattered lives But as the undeniable pull between them intensifies she starts to wonder if she will ever learn the secrets he s been hiding or if she even wants to      Wild Flower Freedom E. Allen,2004-04 Body mind spirit family and relationships medical psychology religion self help      Literature and "Interregnum" Patrick Dove,2016-06-21 Examines literary responses to the impact of economic and technological globalization in Latin America Literature and Interregnum examines the unraveling of the political forms of modernity through readings of end of millennium literary texts by César Aira, Marcelo Cohen, Sergio Chejfec, Diamela Eltit and Roberto Bolaño. The opening of national spaces to the global capitalist system in the 1980s culminates in the suspension of key principles of modernity, most notably that of political sovereignty. While the neoliberal model subjugates modern forms of social organization and political decision making to an economic rationale, the market is unable to provide a new ordering principle that could fill the empty place formerly occupied by the national figure of the sovereign. The result is a situation that resembles what the Italian political philosopher Antonio Gramsci termed interregnum, an in-between time in which the old order is dying and the new cannot be born. The recoding of history as literary form provides occasions for reconsidering modern conceptualizations of aesthetic experience, mood, temporality, thought, politics, ethical experience, as well as of literature itself as social institution. In his analysis, Patrick Dove seeks to create dialogues between literature and theoretical perspectives including Continental philosophy, political thought, psychoanalysis, and sociology of globalization. The author highlights the connections between mass media, technology, politics, and economics. This is a first-rate, timely and rigorously theorized intervention that everyone in the field of Latin American literary and cultural studies will have to read, teach, discuss, and cite. Charles Hatfield, author of The Limits of Identity: Politics and Poetics in Latin America. Transitioning from literary analysis of Latin American novels to political theory, philosophy, sociology, history, and back, Dove brilliantly performs one of the most difficult tasks of the critic: to think the history of the present. Rather than engaging in blind celebrations of globalization, Dove fearlessly looks straight into the eye of the storm, deploying new vocabularies to help us grasp contemporary precariousness, new forms of violence, and increasing inequality. In so doing, he mounts a bracing critique of the almost comedic way in which our outdated critical weapons keep firing at the wrong targets. A must-read for Latin Americanists and comparatists, as well as for scholars interested in putting interdisciplinarity to work. Moira Fradinger, author of Binding Violence: Literary Visions of Political Origins. Forms of Emotion Peta Tait, 2021-11-29. Forms of Emotion analyses how drama, theatre, and contemporary performance present emotion and its human and nonhuman diversity. This book explores the emotions, emotional feelings, mood, and affect which make up a spectrum of emotion to illuminate theatrical knowledge and practice and reflect the distinctions and debates in philosophy, neuroscience, psychology, and other disciplines. This study asserts that specific forms of emotion are intentionally unified in drama, theatre, and performance to convey meaning, counteract separation, and subversively champion emotional freedom. The book progressively shows that the dramatic and theatrical representation of the nonhuman reveals how human dominance is offset by emotional connection with birds, animals, and the natural environment. This book will be of great interest to students and researchers interested in the emotions and affect in dramatic literature, theatre studies, performance studies, psychology, and philosophy, as well as artists working with emotionally expressive performance.
