seven Rachel and her dreams are shattered by the discovery that she has leprosy. Forcibly removed from her family, she is sent to Kalaupapa, the isolated leper colony on the island of Molokai. In her exile, she finds a family of friends to replace the family she has lost: a native healer Haleola who becomes her adopted auntie and makes Rachel aware of the rich culture and mythology of her people; Sister Mary Catherine Voorhies, one of the Franciscan sisters who care for young girls at Kalaupapa; and the beautiful worldly Leilani who harbors a surprising secret. At Kalaupapa, she also meets the man she will one day marry. True to historical accounts, Molokai is the story of an extraordinary human drama, the full scope and pathos of which has never been told before in fiction. But Rachel's life, though shadowed by disease, isolation, and tragedy, is also one of joy, courage, and dignity. This is a story about life, not death; hope, not despair. It is not about the failings of flesh but the strength of the human spirit.

Enchantment Thaisa Frank, 2012-06-08 The short fiction of Thaisa Frank has captivated readers for two decades, and now many of those pieces are collected in one volume along with several new stories. In the title story, a lonely mother and housewife orders an enchanted man from a website called The Wondrous Traveler who arrives with instructions for use and a list of frequently asked questions about enchantment. In Thread, two circus performers who pass through the eye of a needle become undone by a complicated love triangle. In Henna, a young writing teacher must contend with an exotic student who will not write her hands covered in dye and her fingers sprouting innumerable gardens. And in The Loneliness of the Midwestern Vampire, the undead descend upon the heartland of the country and become accustomed to its friendlier way of life, attending barn raisings and feasting on cattle in an attempt to normalize their darker passions. These are vibrant, compelling stories that examine the distance between imagination and reality and how characters bridge that gap in their attempt to reach one another.
