countries that have witnessed significant changes and civil wars Yet the plans for reconciliation transitional justice and the return of the displaced often overlook the real conditions that make these recommendations impossible This book provides a critical analysis of current post conflict frameworks for Syria and Iraq Drawing on empirical research the book shows that reconciliation and reconstruction scenarios need to be considered alongside the realities on the ground It argues that Iraq and Syria exist in a condition of conflict transformation rather than of conflict termination because the extreme changes that accompanied these countries into war continue long after the conflicts end Furthermore the chapters highlight why experts should not seek solutions in culturalist terms and ancestral enmities or rely on the wartime status quo Rather they should look to the specific military political economic and socio cultural conditions that require different solutions A critical analysis of existing post conflict frameworks their applicability and their potential outcomes in Iraq and Syria the book is a vital contribution to post conflict studies It highlights the need for new approaches to reconstruction and peacebuilding in Arab countries and points to how they should be found
