Islands and American Policy in the Pacific Ruth Douglas Currie,2016-10-27 For centuries the Marshall Islands have been drawn into international politics primarily because of their central location in Oceania After World War II they came into the American sphere as part of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands At the outset of the Cold War the Marshalls were a site for nuclear tests and later for the U S Army s ballistic missile testing as part of President Reagan s Strategic Defense Initiative This book focuses on the islanders tenacious negotiations for independence and control of their land accomplished as the Republic of the Marshall Islands in a Compact of Free Association with the U S The creation of American policy in the Pacific was a struggle between the U S departments of the Interior and State and the military s goals for strategic national defense as illustrated by the case of the Army s base at Kwajalein Atoll The Wardian Case Luke Keogh,2023-01-05 In

1829 surgeon and amateur naturalist Nathaniel Bagshaw Ward discovered that plants enclosed in airtight glass cases could survive for long periods without watering After four years of growing plants under glass in his London home Ward created traveling glazed cases that he hoped would be able to transport plants around the world After a test run from London to Sydney Ward was proven correct and the Wardian case was born It is easy to forget in our technologically advanced and globalized world but prior to the invention of the case it was extremely difficult to transfer plants around the globe as they often died from mishandling cold weather or salt from the ocean In this enthralling book Luke Keogh takes us around the world and through history with the Wardian case He shows that this revolution in the movement of plants transformed the world impacting the commercial nursery trade late nineteenth century imperialism and the global environment The repercussions of this revolution are still with us today Leviathan: The History of Whaling in America Eric Jay
