Manuscript Illumination In Lyons 1473 153:

Manuscript Illumination in Lyons, 1473-1530 Elizabeth Burin, 2001 In the late fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries Lyons grew into one of Europe's great commercial centres and even served as an unofficial second capital of the French kingdom While scholars have long recognized the city's prominent role in the history of printing this is the first book to survey the art of manuscript illumination after the introduction of printing to Lyons in 1473 Using the manuscripts themselves as its main source this study identifies and assesses the art of Lyons's busiest illuminators workshops It then reviews the nature of patronage and the activity of the illuminators during the close of the Middle Ages and the dawn of the Renaissance The picture that emerges is one of a tightly knit community of artists adapting their production of fine religious and secular manuscripts to the changing demand of the clergy the merchant class the nobility writers and members of the court A descriptive catalogue provides complementary information on 136 illuminated manuscripts books and leaves many of them never published at length The work is illustrated by a broad selection of colour and black and white reproductions

Sacred Fictions of Medieval France Maureen Barry McCann Boulton, 2015 A study of the immensely popular lives of Christ and the Virgin in medieval France

Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages Lucy Donkin, 2022-02-15 Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages illuminates how the floor surface shaped the ways in which people in medieval western Europe and beyond experienced sacred spaces The ground beneath our feet plays a crucial yet often overlooked role in our relationship with the environments we inhabit and the spaces with which we interact By focusing on this surface as a point of encounter Lucy Donkin positions it within a series of vertically stacked layers the earth itself permanent and temporary floor coverings and the bodies of the living above ground and the dead beneath providing new perspectives on how sacred space was defined and decorated including the veneration of holy footprints consecration ceremonies and the demarcation of certain places for particular activities Using a wide array of visual and textual sources Standing on Holy Ground in the Middle Ages also details ways in which interaction with this surface shaped people's identities whether as individuals office holders or members of religious communities Gestures such as trampling and prostration the repeated employment of specific locations and burial beneath particular people or actions used the surface to express likeness and difference From pilgrimage sites in the Holy Land to cathedrals abbeys and local parish churches across the Latin West Donkin frames the ground as a shared surface both a feature of diverse distant places and subject to a variety of uses over time while also offering a model for understanding spatial relationships in other periods regions and contexts

Who were the medieval illuminators? How were their hand-produced books illustrated and decorated? In this beautiful book Jonathan Alexander presents a survey of manuscript illumination throughout Europe from the fourth to the sixteenth century. He discusses the social and historical context of the illuminators' lives, considers their methods of work and presents a series of case studies to show the range and nature of the visual sources and the ways in which they were adapted, copied or created anew. Alexander explains that in the early period Christian monasteries and churches were the main centers for the copying of manuscripts and so the majority of illuminators were monks working in and for their own monasteries. From the eleventh century lay scribes and illuminators became increasingly numerous and by the thirteenth century professional illuminators dominated the field. During this later period illuminators were able to travel in search of work and to acquire new ideas; they joined guilds with scribes or with artists in the cities and their ranks included nuns and secular women Work was regularly collaborative and the craft was learned through an apprenticeship system Alexander carefully analyzes surviving manuscripts and medieval treatises in order to explain the complex and time consuming technical processes of illumination its materials methods tools choice of illustration and execution From rare surviving contracts he deduces the preoccupation of patrons with materials and schedules Illustrating his discussion with examples chosen from religious and secular manuscripts made all over Europe Alexander recreates the astonishing variety and creativity of medieval illumination His book will be a standard reference for years to come Studies in Manuscript Illumination, 1200-1400 Lucy Freeman Sandler, 2007-12-31 The author is Helen Gould Sheppard Professor of Art History at New York University Institute of Fine Arts and a leading authority on English medieval manuscript illumination This volume bring together twenty six of Professor Sandler s studies focusing on illustrated manuscripts produced in England in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries particularly on the illuminated psalters The marginal illustrations in these psalters are a topic of particular interest and there are a number of iconographic studies derived from this material A separate section deals with the illustrated encyclopedias of the period particularly the Omne bonum Illuminated Manuscripts [1966]. ,1966 Understanding Illuminated Manuscripts Michelle Brown, 2018-12-18 What is a historiated initial What are canon tables What is a drollery This revised edition of Understanding Illuminated Manuscripts A Guide to Technical Terms offers definitions of the key elements of illuminated manuscripts demystifying the techniques processes materials nomenclature and styles used in the making of these precious books Updated to reflect current research and technologies this beautifully illustrated guide includes images of important manuscript illuminations from the collection of the J Paul Getty Museum and beyond Concise readable explanations of the technical terms most frequently encountered in manuscript studies make this portable volume an essential resource for students scholars and readers who wish a deeper understanding and enjoyment of illuminated manuscripts and medieval book production Illuminated Manuscripts Jp.
