Maori Land Tenure Studies Of A Changing Institution:

Maori Land Tenure Ian Hugh Kawharu,1977 In this comprehensive study professor Kawharu emphasizes the effects of the changes that have taken place over the last 150 years He describes how the fragmentation of remaining land holdings despite efforts at consolidation and the rapid post war urban ization of the Maori people have given rise to a weakening of community bonds and a gradual breakdown in the traditional social structure of the tribe Back cover Maori Land Tenure Ian Hugh Kawharu,1981-01

An Unsettled History Alan Ward,2015-12-21 An Unsettled History squarely confronts the issues arising from the Treaty of Waitangi in New Zealand today Alan Ward writes lucidly about the Treaty claims process about settlements made and those to come New Zealand s short history unquestionably reveals a treaty made and then repeatedly breached This is a compelling case for fair and reasonable settlement and for the rigorous continuation of the Treaty claims process through the Waitangi Tribunal The impact of the past upon the present has rarely been analysed so clearly or to such immediate purpose

Critical Toponymies Jani Vuolteenaho,2017-03-02 While place names have long been studied by a few devoted specialists approaches to them have been traditionally empiricist and uncritical in character This book brings together recent works that conceptualize the hegemonic and contested practices of geographical naming The contributors guide the reader into struggles over toponymy in a multitude of national and local contexts across Europe North America New Zealand Asia and Africa In a ground breaking and multidisciplinary fashion this volume illuminates the key role of naming in the colonial silencing of indigenous cultures canonization of nationalistic ideals into nomenclature of cities and topographic maps as well as the formation of more or less fluid forms of postcolonial and urban identities

Pluralizing Political Philosophy Ingrid Robeyns,2025-02-04 Pluralizing Political Philosophy focuses on economic and ecological inequalities By reducing the current marginalization of a range of traditions and approaches outside liberalism which especially takes place at universities in the Global North political philosophy will have access to a richer range of theories This marginalization happens to some extent to traditions that could be understood as providing an internal critique to liberalism but happens especially to various non western political philosophies The chapters in this edited volume illustrate the wide range of perspectives that exist to analyze economic and ecological inequalities In addition to critical discussions of liberal egalitarianism and green liberalism contributing authors also offer discussions of M ori philosophy ecofeminism Confucian political philosophy an ethics of care Ubuntu philosophy Buen Vivir and hybrid approaches The different traditions and approaches not only differ in their normative commitments but also in their ontological assumptions and methodological underpinnings The volume closes with four shorter chapters that provide meta theoretical reflections on the volume and make suggestions on how to further pluralise political philosophy This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4 0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations

Boundary Markers Giselle Byrnes, 2015-12-21 In a country where land disputes were the chief cause of conflict between the coloniser and the colonised surveying could never be a neutral depoliticised pastime In a groundbreaking piece of scholarship Giselle Byrnes examines the way surveyors became figuratively and literally the cutting edge of colonisation Clearing New Zealand's vast forests laying out town plans and deciding on place names they were at every moment asserting British power Boundary Markers also shows how the surveyors commercial gaze a view of the countryside coloured by the desire for profit put them at odds with the M ori view of land

Richard Seddon: King of God's Own Tom Brooking, 2014-08-27 2014 Must Read Otago Daily Times The life the health the intelligence and the morals of the nation count for more than riches and I would rather have this country free from want and squalor and unemployed than the home of multi millionaires Richard Seddon 1905 Casting a long shadow over New Zealand history Richard John Seddon Premier from 1893 to his untimely death in 1906 held a clear vision for the country he led Pushing New Zealand in more egalitarian directions than ever before he was both the builder and the maintenance man if not the architect of our country Challenging popular opinion of New Zealand's longest serving Prime Minister as a ruthless pragmatist cunning misogynist and Imperialistic jingoist this landmark biography of Seddon presents an altogether more sympathetic erudite appraisal Reconciling two generations of New Zealand scholarship Richard Seddon King of God's Own demonstrates that while holding fast to common ideals Seddon was successful by mastering the art of the possible He knew instinctively what his electorate would tolerate and remained in step with public opinion Despite contradictions in his attitudes towards other races he fought to ensure privilege did not become entrenched in what he envisioned as a white man's utopia In this perceptive new evaluation political historian Tom Brooking explains Seddon's complex relationship with Maori and shows how he in fact held a progressively bi cultural vision for the future of God's Own Country Seddon was no saint Somewhat autocratic and given to petty nepotism he nevertheless remains the most dominant political leader in our country's history Internationally his high profile within the Empire helped put New Zealand on the map Domestically he sought a middle ground between free market extremism and full blown socialism And more privately Seddon was a devoted family man his actions shaped much more by his supportive wife and assertive daughters than has previously been realised

Richard Seddon King of God's Own is a superlative achievement in New Zealand history writing Absorbing wide ranging and beautifully articulated it reframes and repositions one of the founding fathers of modern New Zealand The definitive biography of one of New Zealand's most influential political leaders Paul Moon author of New Zealand in the Twentieth Century King of God's Own is a nuanced and generous assessment of our most famous Premier a man very much of his own time Gavin McLean co editor of the bestselling Frontier of Dreams The Story of New Zealand An excellent biography and a major revision of an important period in this country's history Barry Gustafson acclaimed biographer of Sir Keith Holyoake Sir Robert Muldoon and Michael Joseph Savage Also available as an eBook Sleep Around the World K. Maoris used to practice slavery just like them poor Negroes had to endure in America says Beth Heke in Once Were Warriors Oh those evil colonials who destroyed Maori culture by ending slavery and cannibalism while increasing the life expectancy wrote one sarcastic blogger So was Maori slavery just like the experience of Africans in the Americas and were British missionaries or colonial administrators responsible for ending the practice What was the nature of freedom and unfreedom in Maori society and how did that intersect with the perceptions of British colonists and the anti slavery movement A meticulously researched book Outcasts of the Gods looks closely at a huge variety of evidence to answer these questions analyzing bondage and freedom in traditional Maori society the role of economics and mana in shaping captivity and how the arrival of colonists and new trade opportunities transformed Maori society and the place of captives within it Historical Dictionary of New Zealand Janine Hayward,Richard Shaw,Lara Greaves,Claire Timperley,2024-11-19 The Historical Dictionary of New Zealand Fourth Edition provides a broad introduction to New Zealand as well as rich detail about the people events laws concepts and institutions that have shaped New Zealand history This is done through a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has more than 800 cross referenced entries on important personalities as well as aspects of the country s politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about New Zealand Racial Crossings Damon Ieremia Salesa,2011-05-19 Moving away from conventional theories about Victorian attitudes towards race Salesa focuses on an array of equally influential yet seemingly opposite ideas where racial crossing was seen as a means of improvement a way to manage racial conflict or create new societies or even a way to promote the rule of law Histories, Power and Loss Andrew Sharp,P.G. McHugh,2015-12-29 From the 1970s onwards M ori began a concerted effort to confront P keh with the wrongs done during the colonisation of New Zealand They made highly contested claims for reparation of past wrongs and the restitution of their political power putting history at the heart of their claims This process of drawing on the past is examined by a wide range of writers both M ori and P keh and all highly respected thinkers in history law and philosophy Histories Power and Loss offers an incisive analysis that is relevant to any country where political and legal relations between indigenous peoples and colonisers are being scrutinised Healing Our History 3rd Edition Robert Consedine,Joanna Consedine,2012-03-28 A powerful and humane book Healing Our History eschews rhetoric and cuts to the true story of race relations in New Zealand The Treaty of Waitangi is the most important document in New Zealand s history Current Treaty issues and Maori Pakeha relationships can only be understood within the wider story of New Zealand As we understand and honour our history we can acknowledge the need for restoration healing and right relationships The public response to previous editions of this bestselling book by Robert Consedine and his daughter Joanna Consedine has been strong and overwhelmingly positive This 2012 edition updates and expands on the critical issues the foreshore and seabed debate Maori access to political power and the emergence of the Maori Party the remarkable growth of the Maori economy self determination Maori language and the developments in Maori education constitutional issues and the benefits of the Treaty settlement process New Zealand and all New Zealanders have much to celebrate and many challenges ahead Drawing on Robert s unique experience as a leading Treaty educator the powerful message of this book illustrates how each and every New Zealander across all cultures can discover a new sense of personal and national identity grounded in an authentic Treaty relationship This is one of those books New Zealand needs Michael King Based on years of Treaty work experience this book is essential reading Claudia Orange Gender and Power in the Pacific Katarina Ferro,Margit Wolfsberger,2003 Women from the Pacific Islands are often perceived by Europeans as passive beauties dancing the hula with a flower in their hair as docile companions of European or local men or as naive personalities surrounded by an endangered environment But far from that male Western reception of women s status which can be found in documentaries motion pictures as well as travel and adventure literature women are active and resolute agents who self confidently shape their societies through their courageous and determined acting in public as well as in their communities The current volume of Novara Contributions to Research on the Pacific wants to deliver insights into the lives of women from the Pacific Islands and shows how they deal with shifting gender relations in changing societies Traditions and adjustment processes to changing living conditions of women and men in Papua New Guinea Palau and New Zealand present fascinating research fields which open up the view to new living models apart from Western gender concepts

Colonization and Development in New Zealand between 1769 and 1900 Ian Pool, 2015-09-03 This book details the interactions between the Seeds of Rangiotea New Zealand's Maori people of Polynesian origin and Europe from 1769 to 1900 It provides a case study of the way Imperial era contact and colonization negatively affected naturally evolving demographic epidemiologic transitions and imposed economic conditions that thwarted development by precursor peoples wherever European expansion occurred In doing so it questions the applicability of conventional models for analyses of colonial histories of population health and of development The book focuses on and synthesizes the most critical parts of the story the health and population trends and the economic and social development of Maori It adopts demographic methodologies most typically used in developing countries which allow the mapping of broad changes in Maori society particularly their survival as a people The book raises general theoretical questions about how populations react to the introduction of diseases to which they have no natural immunity Another more general theoretical issue is what happens when one society's development processes are superseded by those of some more powerful force whether an imperial power or a modern day agency which has ingrained ideas about objectives and strategies for development Finally it explores how health and development interact The Maori experience of contact and colonization lasting from 1769 to circa 1900 narrated here is an all too familiar story for many other territories and populations Natives and former colonists This book provides a case study with wider ramifications for theory in colonial history development studies demography anthropology and other fields

Decolonisation and the Pacific Tracey Banivanua Mar, 2016-04-26 This book charts the previously untold story of decolonisation in the oceanic world of the Pacific Australia and New Zealand presenting it both as an indigenous and an international phenomenon Tracey Banivanua Mar reveals how the inherent limits of decolonisation were laid bare by the historical peculiarities of colonialism in the region and demonstrates the way imperial powers conceived of decolonisation as a new form of imperialism She shows how Indigenous peoples responded to these limits by developing rich intellectual political and cultural networks transcending colonial and national borders with localised traditions of protest and dialogue connected to the global ferment of the twentieth century The individual stories told here shed new light on the forces that shaped twentieth century global history and reconfigure the history of decolonisation presenting it not as an historic event but as a fragile contingent and ongoing process continuing well into the postcolonial era

Making Settler Colonial Space Tracey Banivanua Mar, P. Edmonds, 2010-05-07 Charts the making of colonial spaces in settler colonies of the Pacific Rim during the last two centuries Contributions journey through time place and region and piece together interwoven but discrete studies that illuminate transnational and local experiences violent ideological and cultural that produced settler colonial space
