PARTRIDGE, 1930 Maori Paintings Gottfried Lindauer, 1965 This book is the outcome of a partnership between artist Gottfried Lindauer and Patron H E Partridge which continued for over half a century and produced more than 100 paintings including a collection which has become part of the heritage of the Maori race and of New Zealand the Partridge Collection of Maori Lindauer Paintings This book reproduces 48 of the 70 paintings in the Partridge Collection in full colour and records in faithful and picturesque detail many of the distinguished figures of a Maori era that is past Several of Lindauer's colourful scenes of Maori village life and customs are also included This book is sponsored by Mrs E L Clayton a daughter of Mr H E Partridge and the royalties earned are to be paid to the Maori Education Foundation Dust jacket New Zealand Painting Michael Dunn, 2003 Completely revised and updated Chapters have been rewritten Also added in a substantial new chapter on contemporary Maori and Pacific Island painting as well as an acknowledgement of the coming wave of Asian artists Gottfried Lindauer, 2015 Galleries of Maoriland Roger Blackley, 2018-10-18 Galleries of Maoriland introduces us to the many ways in which European colonists to New Zealand discovered created propagated and romanticised the Maori world summed up in a popular nickname describing New Zealand Maoriland But Blackley shows that Maori were not merely passive victims they too had a stake in this process of romanticisation What this book asks were some of the Maori purposes that were served by curio displays portrait collections and the wider ethnological culture Galleries of Maoriland looks at Maori prehistory in European art the enthusiasm of settlers and Maori for portraiture and recreations of ancient life the trade in Maori curios and the international exhibition of this colonial culture By illuminating New Zealand's artistic and ethnographic economy this book provides a new understanding of our art and our culture Haerenga Vincent

O'Malley,2015-05-04 M ori and Europeans were encountering one another for the first time not just along the shorelines of New Zealand but also on the streets of Melbourne Liverpool and New York From the late eighteenth century M ori travellers spread out from New Zealand across the globe They travelled for a variety of reasons curiosity adventure commerce political missions or duress and were part of an international movement of M ori of surprisingly large scale Most travellers eventually returned home bringing something of their own new world experiences with them These remarkable experiences of voyaging and discovery presented across a series of vignettes also form part of the wider history of M ori and P keh encounter A

Cultural History of the British Empire John MacDonald MacKenzie,2022-01-01 A compelling history of British imperial culture showing how it was adopted and subverted by colonial subjects around the world As the British Empire expanded across the globe it exported more than troops and goods In every colony imperial delegates dispersed British cultural forms Facilitated by the rapid growth of print photography film and radio imperialists imagined this new global culture would cement the unity of the empire But this remarkably wide ranging spread of ideas had unintended and surprising results In this groundbreaking history John M MacKenzie examines the importance of culture in British imperialism MacKenzie describes how colonized peoples were quick to observe British culture and adapted elements to their own ends subverting British expectations and eventually beating them at their own game As indigenous communities integrated their own cultures with the British imports the empire itself was increasingly undermined From the extraordinary spread of cricket and horse racing to statues and ceremonies MacKenzie presents an engaging imperial history one with profound implications for global culture in the present day Marlborough and Nelson Rough Guides Snapshot New Zealand (includes Abel Tasman
