Mapping The Terrain New Genre Public Art:

Mapping the Terrain Suzanne Lacy, 1995 In this wonderfully bold and speculative anthology of writings artists and critics offer a highly persuasive set of argument and pleas for imaginative socially responsible and socially responsive public art Amazon

Public Art Hilde Hein, 2006-07-27 By considering the museum itself as art rather than as a receptacle this work argues for an improved understanding of the role museums play in shaping public discourse

Conversation Pieces Grant H. Kester, 2013-04-15 Grant Kester discusses the disparate network of artists collectives united by a desire to create new forms of understanding through creative dialogue that crosses boundaries of race religion culture

Art in Public Lambert Zuidervart, 2010-11-15 This book examines fundamental questions about funding for the arts why should governments provide funding for the arts What do the arts contribute to daily life Do artists and their publics have a social responsibility Challenging questionable assumptions about the state the arts and a democratic society Lambert Zuidervart presents a vigorous case for government funding based on crucial contributions the arts make to civil society He argues that the arts contribute to democratic communication and a social economy fostering the critical and creative dialogue that a democratic society needs Informed by the author's experience leading a non profit arts organisation as well as his expertise in the arts humanities and social sciences this book proposes an entirely new conception of the public role of art with wide ranging implications for education politics and cultural policy

The Practice of Public Art Cameron Cartiere, Shelly Willis, 2008-05-07 This exciting new collection of essays by practicing artists curators activists art writers administrators city planners and educators offers divergent perspectives on the numerous facets of the public art process The volume also includes a useful graphic timeline of public art history

Leaving Art Suzanne Lacy, 2010-08-24 A collection of thirty texts written by the internationally renowned conceptual and performance artist Suzanne Lacy between 1974 and 2007

Suzanne Lacy Sharon Irish, Suzanne Lacy, Often controversial and sometimes even shocking to audiences the work of California based artist Suzanne Lacy has challenged viewers and participants with personal accounts of traumatic events settings that require people to assume uncomfortable positions multisensory productions that evoke emotional as well as intellectual responses and even flayed lambs and beef kidneys Lacy has experimented with ways to claim the power of mass media to use women's consciousness raising groups as a performance structure and to connect her projects to lived experiences The body and large groups of bodies are the locations for her lifelike art revealing the aesthetics of relationships among people In this critical examination of Suzanne Lacy Sharon Irish surveys Lacy's art from 1972 to the present demonstrating the pivotal roles that Lacy has had in public art feminist theory and community organizing Lacy initially used her own body or animal organs to visually depict psychological states or social conditions in photographs collages and installations In the late 1970s she turned to organizing large groups of people into art events including her most famous work The Crystal Quilt a 1987 performance broadcast live on PBS and featuring hundreds of women in Minneapolis and pioneered a new genre of public art Irish investigates the spaces between art and life self and other and the body and physical structures in Lacy's multifaceted artistic projects showing how throughout her influential career Lacy has created art that resists racism promotes feminism and explores challenging human relationships

Culture-Led Urban Regeneration

Ronan Paddison, Steven Miles, 2020-11-25 The idea that culture can be employed as a driver for urban economic growth has become part of the new orthodoxy by which cities seek to enhance their competitive position Such developments reflect not only the rise to prominence of the cultural sphere in the contemporary urban economy but how the meaning of culture has been redefined to include new uses in order to meet social economic and political objectives This significant book focuses on the ability of cultural investment to meet the rhetoric of social inclusion and the extent to which it offers sustainable solutions to the problems of the city To this end it focuses on the meanings and practice of culture led policy within the city and its evaluation is proposed Paddison and Miles have edited an innovative book which presents a series of diverse case studies to challenge the one size fits all model of culture led urban regeneration a key concern being the extent to which culture led regeneration can genuinely fulfil the expectations that policy makers and urban commentators have of it This book was previously published as a special issue of Urban Studies

In Other Los Angeleses

Meiling Cheng, 2002-03-20 Performance art and Los Angeles two subjects spectacularly resistant to definitions illuminate each other in this searching study by Meiling Cheng A marginal artistic pursuit by choice as well as necessity performance art has flourished in and about multicentric Los Angeles for nearly four decades finding its own centers of activity moving and changing as the margins have reconstituted themselves The notion of multicentricity serves somewhat paradoxically as the unifying motif in Cheng's imaginative views of center and periphery self and other and mainstream and marginal cultures She analyzes individual artists and performances in detail bringing her own center gracefully and unmistakably into contact with all those others Without suggesting that her approach is definitive she offers a way of thinking and talking coherently about particularly elusive ephemeral artwork Cheng describes performance art as an intermedia visual art form that uses theatrical elements in presentation Performance art which uses the living body as its central medium occurs only here and only now Because it is intentionally volatile highly adaptable and often site specific with emphasis on audience interaction context is inseparable from the work itself When Cheng writes about Suzanne Lacy or Tim Miller Johanna Went or Oguri and Renzoku Sacred Naked Nature Girls or osseus labyrinth she is conscious of her role in extending their creative expression As members of the virtual audience readers and viewers of other documentation concerning performance art are arrayed outside the center represented by a given artist and the circle represented by the immediate witnesses to a performance but all may entertain what Cheng calls a conceptual ownership of the work A person who reads about a performance she says may feel more affected by this virtual encounter than a person who has seen it live and may reimagine it as a prosthetic performance Cheng's writing draws us into the many centers where a vibrant contemporary art phenomenon and a fascinating urban environment interact Published in association with the Southern California Studies Center at the University of Southern California

Critical Issues in Public Art Harriet Senie, 2014-07-15 In this groundbreaking anthology twenty two artists architects historians critics curators and philosophers explore the role of public art in creating a national identity contending that each work can only be understood by analyzing the context in which it is commissioned built and received They emphasize the historical continuum between traditional works such as Mount Rushmore the Washington Monument and the New York Public Library lions in addition to contemporary memorials such as the Vietnam Veterans Memorial and the Names Project AIDS Quilt They discuss the influence of patronage on form and content isolate the factors that precipitate controversy and show how public art overtly and covertly conveys civic values and national culture Complete with an updated introduction Critical Issues in Public Art shows how monuments murals memorials and sculptures in public places are complex cultural achievements that must speak to increasingly diverse groups

The Everyday Practice of Public Art Cameron Cartiere, Martin Zebracki, 2015-11-19 The Everyday Practice of Public Art Art Space and Social Inclusion is a multidisciplinary anthology of analyses exploring the expansion of contemporary public art issues beyond the built environment It follows the highly successful publication The Practice of Public Art eds Cartiere and Willis and expands the analysis of the field with a broad perspective which includes practicing artists curators activists writers and educators from North America Europe and Australia who offer divergent perspectives on the many facets of the public art process The collection examines the continual evolution of public art moving beyond monuments and memorials to examine more fully the development of socially engaged public art practice Topics include constructing new models for developing and commissioning temporary and performance based public artworks understanding the challenges of a socially engaged public art practice vs social programming and policymaking the social inclusiveness of public art the radical developments in public art and social practice pedagogy and unravelling the relationships between public artists and the communities they serve The Everyday Practice of Public Art offers a diverse perspective on the increasingly complex nature of artistic practice in the public realm in the twenty first century Museums and Public Art? Cher Krause Knight, Harriet F. Senie, 2018-06-11 While many museums have ignored public art as a distinct arena of art production and display others have either grudgingly or enthusiastically embraced it Some institutions have partnered with public art agencies to expand the scope of special exhibitions other museums have attempted to establish in house public art programs This is the first book to contextualize the collaborations between museums and public art through a range of essays marked by their coherence of topical focus written by leading and emerging scholars and artists Organized into three sections it represents a major contribution to the field of art history in general and to those of public art and museum studies in particular It includes essays by art historians critics curators arts administrators and artists all of whom help to finally codify the largely unwritten history of how museums and public art have and continue to intersect Key questions are both addressed and offered as topics for further discussion Who originates such public art initiatives funds them and most importantly establishes the philosophy behind them Is the efficacy of these initiatives evaluated in the same way as other museum exhibitions and programs Can public art ever be a permanent feature in any museum And finally are the museum and public art ultimately at odds or able to mutually benefit one another CULTURAL GEOGRAPHY IN PRACTICE Miles Ogborn, Alison Blunt, Pyrs Gruffudd, David Pinder, 2014-04-23 Cultural Geography in Practice provides an innovative and accessible approach to the sources theories and methods of cultural geography Written by an international team of prominent cultural geographers all of whom are experienced researchers this book is a fully illustrated guide to methodological approaches in cultural geography In order to demonstrate the practice of cultural geography each chapter combines the following features Practical instruction in using one of the main methods of cultural geography e g interviewing interpreting texts and visual images participatory methods An overview of a key area of concern in cultural geography e g the body national identity empire marginality A nuts and bolts description of the actual application of the theories and methods within a piece of research With the addition of boxed definitions of key concepts and descriptions of research projects by students who devised and undertook them Cultural Geography in Practice is an essential manual of research practice for both undergraduate and graduate geography students Public Art Encounters Martin Zebracki, Joni M. Palmer, 2017-09-05 Public art is produced and lived within multiple interlaced and contested political economic social and cultural symbolic spheres This lively collection is a mix of academic and practice based writings that scrutinise conventional claims on the inclusiveness of public art practice Contributions examine how various social differences across class ethnicity age gender religion ability and literacy shape encounters with public art within the ambits of the design regeneration and everyday experiences of public spaces The chapters richly draw on case studies from the Global North and South providing comprehensive insights into the experiences of encountering public art via a variety of scales and realms This book advances critical insights of how socially practised public arts articulate and cultivate geographies of social difference through the themes of power the politics of encountering affect the embodied ways of encountering and diversity the inclusiveness of encountering It will appeal to scholars students and practitioners of cultural geography the visual arts urban studies political studies and anthropology
