Meagre Harvest The Australian Womens Movement 19501990s:

Sex, Love and Feminism in the Asia Pacific Chilla Bulbeck, 2008-10-27 Sex love and feminism are three aspects of the rapidly changing gender relations that shape young people's lives in the Asia Pacific region. Much has been written about rapidly changing countries in Asia, most recently China and India. With the global spread of capitalist production and neo-liberal ideologies, the claim that the rest of the world's women are treading the path to enlightenment and development forged by women in the West has been revived. This book explores that contention through a comparative analysis of the attitudes of young middle class urbanites in ten countries: the USA, Australia, Canada, Japan, Thailand, South Korea, India, Indonesia, China, and Vietnam. Drawing on detailed empirical research, the study describes and compares attitudes towards the women's movement, sexual relations, and family arrangements in the countries considered. It explores young people's image of feminists and what they feel the women's movement has achieved for women and men in their country. The book discusses young people's attitudes to controversial gender issues such as role reversal, sharing housework, abortion rights, same sex sexual relations, nudity, and pornography. Through a comparative analysis of the gender vocabularies by which young people understand gender issues, the book highlights the role of differences in history, culture, economics, and political leadership. These influence attitudes to gender relations, the status of women, and the political programs of the women's movement in different countries. Whilst there are striking parallels between countries and even across the whole sample, those similarities do not fall neatly into a simple dichotomy of the west versus the rest.

Families, Labour and Love Maureen Baker, 2020-07-29 We think of our family life as very personal, but in fact it is shaped by influences well beyond our control. Families, Labour and Love identifies the ways in which family and personal life in three settler societies, Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, has been shaped by colonisation, immigration, globalisation, demographic changes, law, and policy. Baker shows that these three countries, each a former colony, developed similar family trends and similar family policies. Strongly gendered patterns of paid and unpaid work played a major role in family life. The family practices of indigenous people were largely overlooked, as were those of recent immigrant groups. However, local conditions also produced significant differences in family experiences among the three countries. Richly illustrated with examples, comparative data, and textual sources, Families, Labour and Love provides a broad-ranging analysis of the family which will appeal to students, researchers, and policy makers. Maureen Baker outlines with great clarity the diversity of families and the way in which they are shaped by historical and cultural forces. The focus on Australia, New Zealand, and Canada is not only refreshing but throws into sharp relief the impact on contemporary families of the colonial experience, industrialisation, large-scale immigration, and globalisation.
