Gender/body/knowledge Alison M. Jaggar,Susan Bordo,1989 The essays in this interdisciplinary collection share the conviction that modern western paradigms of knowledge and reality are gender biased Some contributors challenge and revise western conceptions of the body as the domain of the biological and natural the enemy of reason typically associated with women

Beyond the Gene Jan Sapp,1987-05-14 The scope and significance of cytoplasmic inheritance has been the subject of one of the longest controversies in the history of genetics In the first major book on the history of this subject Jan Sapp analyses the persistent attempts of investigators of non Mendelian inheritance to establish their claims in the face of strong resistance from nucleo centric geneticists and classical neo Darwinians A new perspective on the history of genetics is offered as he explores the conflicts which have shaped theoretical thinking about heredity and evolution throughout the century materialism vs vitalism reductionism vs holism preformation vs epigenesis neo Darwinism vs new Lamarckism and gradualism vs saltationism In so doing Sapp highlights competitive struggles for power among individuals and disciplinary groups He accepts that political interests and general social contexts may directly affect scientific ideas but develops the stronger thesis that social interests inside science itself are always involved in the content of scientific knowledge He goes on to show that there are no neutral judges in scientific controversies and investigates the social strategies and methodological rhetoric used by scientists when they defend or oppose a particular theory At the same time Sapp illustrates the social constraints that ensure the high cost and risk of entertaining unorthodox theories in the sciences

Cultural Constructions of the Femme Fatale S. Simkin, 2014-10-29 The figure of the beautiful but lethal woman has haunted the Western imagination from ancient myth to contemporary film Looking at news media cinema drama and other cultural forms this study considers the interaction between representations of real life femmes fatales and their fictional counterparts
