Morrison,Dimitrios Buhalis,2023-09-25 This Handbook provides a comprehensive overview of trends and issues in the global supply and demand on tourism With contributions from 70 authors this Handbook showcases a diverse range of perspectives with insights from around the globe It reviews the interactions among trends and issues and it emphasises the importance of tracking and interpreting these on a global scale The book is organized into three parts with Part I focusing on supply side trends including transport attractions culture heritage tourism technology policies and destination management Part II critically reviews the external factor trends including the impact of terrorism multi crisis destinations Generation Z s important contributions to the sector the regulation of sharing economy platforms and nature tourism in future Part III focuses on market led trends such as bleisure glamping VFR travel transformational tourism and new trends in wellness tourism following the post COVID era The book also provides predictions for the upcoming decades This Handbook will be a vital tool for researchers students and practitioners in the tourism and hospitality sector to further develop their knowledge and expertise in the field It examines business and policy implications offering guidance for developing sustainable competitive advantage      Before Environmental Law Benjamin J Richardson,2023-10-05 This landmark open access book unveils the history of defending Australia s natural environment and examines the subject s legal and political contexts from the birth of the nation in 1901 until the advent of the so called modern era of environmental regulation in the late 1960s It rejects the mythology that Australia lacked environmental law before the late 1960s in revealing how many of today s environmental laws from pollution control to nature conservation emerged from precedents or events much earlier in the 20th century This history however reveals a discrepancy between lawmakers greater efficacy to exploit rather than protect the environment a discrepancy that grew as nature s backlash intensified in a rapidly degrading continent colonised to build the Australian nation In exploring these dynamics the book offers a rich tapestry of case studies illustrated with historic photographs that show the origins of Australia s environmental laws and how they borrowed from international precedents or furnished lessons for other nations Through its multi disciplinary enquiry the book offers scholars and students of environmental law legal history and the environmental humanities a unique story about the failures and successes in the making of environmental law The ebook editions of this book are available open access under a CC BY NC ND 4.0 licence on bloomsburycollections.com Conserving Forest Biodiversity David B. Lindenmayer, Jerry F. Franklin, 2013-04-10 While most efforts at biodiversity conservation have focused primarily on protected areas and reserves the unprotected lands surrounding those areas the matrix are equally important to preserving global biodiversity and maintaining forest health In Conserving Forest Biodiversity leading forest scientists David B. Lindenmayer and Jerry F. Franklin argue that the conservation of forest biodiversity requires a comprehensive and multiscaled approach that includes both reserve and nonreserve areas They lay the foundations for such a strategy bringing together the latest scientific information on landscape ecology forestry conservation biology and related disciplines as they examine the importance of the matrix in key areas of ecology such as metapopulation dynamics habitat fragmentation and landscape connectivity general principles for matrix management using natural disturbance regimes to guide human disturbance landscape level and stand level elements of matrix management the role of adaptive management and monitoring social dimensions and tensions in implementing matrix based forest management In addition they present five case studies that illustrate aspects and elements of applied matrix management in forests The case studies cover a wide variety of conservation planning and management issues from North America South America and Australia ranging from relatively intact forest ecosystems to an intensively managed plantation Conserving Forest Biodiversity presents strategies for enhancing matrix management that can play a vital role in the development of more effective approaches to maintaining forest biodiversity It examines the key issues and gives practical guidelines for sustained forest management highlighting the critical role of the matrix for scientists managers decisionmakers and other stakeholders involved in efforts to sustain biodiversity and ecosystem processes in forest landscapes
