LEVY,2013-06-29 For many years I have been interested in computer chess and have collected almost every learned paper and article on the subject that I could find My files are now quite large and a considerable amount of time effort and expense has been required to build up this collection I have often thought how difficult it must be for many computer chess enthusiasts to acquire copies of articles that they see referenced in some other work Unless one has access to a good reference library the task is almost impossible I therefore decided to try to make available in one volume as many as possible of the most interesting and important articles and papers ever written on the subject Such a selection is naturally somewhat subjective and I hope that I will not offend authors whose works have been excluded In particular I have decided to exclude any material which has appeared in the Journal of the International Computer Chess Association ICCA or in its precursor the ICCA Newsletter The reason is simply that the ICCA itself is in the process of compiling a compendium containing the most important material published in those sources For further information on ICCA membership and publications the reader is

December 1964 Georgetown University commemorated the 175th anniversary of its founding by presenting a series of special lectures in the various disciplines appropriate to a university Among the subjects covered in separate and coherent series were the humanities the arts medicine law and religion One of the series entitled as a group Science and Society is represented by this book The ten papers presented here must be looked at in context an effort was made to present to a largely lay audience a cross section of those aspects of recent advances in science and technology that were considered to have the most striking or inclusive effects on man's view of his world on desirable public policy and on man's anticipations as to how further advances and applications of these advances were likely to change his environment Clearly so ambitious an undertaking could not be carried out within the compass of ten brief lectures Within a general structure it was necessary to use a sampling technique The general plan was adopted of having three lectures representative of the philosophical sector three of the public policy structure and three which would partake of the nature of extrapolations into the future
INTRODUCTION
A tenth lecture was later added which could be considered to fit equally well into the second or third of these categories
