Photographs Elizabeth Edwards, Sigrid Lien, 2016-02-17 Almost all museums hold photographs in their collections and museum professionals and their audiences engage with photographs in a myriad of ways Yet despite some three decades of critical museology and photographic theory and an extensive debate on the politics of representation outside art museums almost no critical attention has been given specifically to the roles purposes and lives of these photographs within museums This book brings into focus the ubiquitous yet entirely unconsidered work that photographs are put to in museums The authors argument is that there is an economy of photographs in museums which is integral to the processes of the museum and integral to the understanding of museums The international contributors drawn from curators and academics reflect a range of visual and museological expertise After an introduction setting out the range of questions and problems the first part addresses broad curatorial strategies and ways of thinking about photographs in museums Shifting the emphasis from curatorial practices and anxieties to the space of the gallery this is followed by a series of case studies of exhibitionary practices and the museum strategies that support them The third section focuses on the role of photographs in the museum articulation of difficult histories A final section addresses photograph collections in a digital environment New technologies and new media have transformed the management address and purposing in photographs in museums from cataloguing practices to streaming on social media These growing practices challenge both traditional hierarchies of knowledge in museums and the location of authority about photographs The volume emerges from PhotoCLEC a HERA funded project on museums and the photographic legacy of the colonial past in a postcolonial and multicultural Europe Report of the

The Lost Photographs of Captain Scott Dr. David M. Wilson, 2012-01-16 The myth of Scott of the Antarctic Captain Robert Falcon Scott icon of fortitude and courage who perished with his fellow explorers on their return from the South Pole on March 29th 1912 is an enduring one elevated dismantled and restored during the turbulence of the succeeding century Until now the legend of the doomed Terra Nova expedition has been constructed out of Scott's own diaries and those of his companions the sketches of Uncle Bill Wilson and the celebrated photographs of Herbert Ponting Yet for the final fateful months of their journey the systematic imaging of this extraordinary scientific endeavor was left to Scott himself trained by Ponting In the face of extreme climactic conditions and technical challenges at the dawn of photography Scott achieved an iconic series of images breathtaking polar panoramas geographical and geological formations and action photographs of the explorers and their animals remarkable for their technical mastery as well as for their poignancy Lost fought over neglected and finally resurrected Scott's final photographs are here collected accurately attributed and catalogued for the first time a new dimension to the last great expedition of the Heroic Age and a humbling testament to the men whose graves still lie unmarked in the vastness of the Great Alone
