Policy Frameworks For A Knowledge Economy:

Policy Frameworks for a Knowledge Economy Thomas J. Courchene, John Deutsch Institute for the Study of Economic Policy, 1996 Continuing the focus of earlier volumes on ways in which economic growth globalization and nationalism are being forged and reshaped by growth in the knowledge based economy this fourth volume of the Bell Canada Papers on Economic and Public Policy explores policy frameworks for a knowledge economy from a variety of perspectives

Handbook on the Knowledge Economy David Rooney, Greg Hearn, Abraham Ninan, 2005 This fascinating Handbook defines how knowledge contributes to social and economic life and vice versa It considers the five areas critical to acquiring a comprehensive understanding of the knowledge economy the nature of the knowledge economy social cooperative cultural creative ethical and intellectual capital knowledge and innovation systems policy analysis for knowledge based economies and knowledge management In presenting the outcomes of an important body of research the Handbook enables knowledge policy and management practitioners to be more systematically guided in their thinking and actions The contributors cover a wide disciplinary spectrum in an accessible way presenting concise to the point discussions of critical concepts and practices that will enable practitioners to make effective research managerial and policy decisions They also highlight important new areas of concern to knowledge economies such as wisdom ethics language and creative economies that are largely overlooked Distinguished by a combination of practical relevance and analytical rigour this Handbook provides new insights into the basic mechanisms that constitute a knowledge economy and society and will be invaluable to practitioners and academics in diverse areas of interest including knowledge management innovation management knowledge policy social epistemology and development studies

Crafting Innovative Places for Australia's Knowledge Economy Edward J. Blakely, Richard Hu, 2019-01-07 This book integrates planning policy economics and urban design into an approach to crafting innovative places Exploring new paradigms of innovative places under the framework of globalisation urbanisation and new technology it argues against state centric policies to innovation and focuses on how a globalized approach can shape innovative capacity and competitiveness It notably situates the innovative place making paradigm in a broader context of globalisation urbanisation the knowledge economy and technological advancement and employs an international perspective that includes a wide range of case studies from America Europe Asia and Australia Developing a co design and co creation paradigm that integrates governments the private sector and the community into shared understanding and collaborative action in crafting innovative places it discusses place based innovation in Australian context to inform policy making and planning and to contribute to policy debates on programs of smart cities and communities

Innovation in the Asia Pacific Thomas Clarke, Keun Lee, 2017-10-20 This book promotes the creation of advanced knowledge based economies driven by innovation networks and the continuous development of human capital and capability It provides valuable insights into the growing emergence of knowledge based industries of the Asia Pacific and highlights research on modes of creativity and innovation intellectual property the components of national innovation systems such as firms education and training knowledge and technical infrastructure and public policy The Asia Pacific region is currently in the process of transforming from being the manufacturing centre of the global economy to a centre of innovation for the knowledge economy with the successful IPO of Alibaba in 2014 being a prime example of this shift From a neo Schumpeterian perspective the region is increasingly engaged in shortening and intensifying cycles of innovation The historic agreement at the Beijing APEC meeting between China and the US to radically reduce carbon emissions indicates that one imperative of this innovation is to contribute to sustainability The fact that the US Government is moving away from this historic commitment while the Chinese Government is endorsing the commitment indicates an emerging opportunity for Asia to lead the world technologically in a vital industrial sector of the future

Japan, Moving Toward a More Advanced Knowledge Economy, 1 Tsutomu Shibata, 2006-01-01 These two volumes analyze Japan from the Knowledge Economy perspective covering a wide range of sectoral issues in development including the macro economic framework education and skills training the national innovation system science and technology information and communication technology and infrastructure While Volume 1 explores the four pillars of the Knowledge for Development framework the second volume presents up to date case studies of outstanding Japanese private companies that each characterize different aspects of the Knowledge Economy By combining economics and business these volumes allow readers to grasp the full scope of today's knowledge economy

Hub Cities in the Knowledge Economy Ben Derudder, Frank Witlox, 2016-05-13 The overarching research topic addressed in this book is the complex and multifaceted interaction between infrastructural accessibility connectivity of city regions on the one hand and knowledge generation in these city regions on the other hand To this end the book brings together chapters analysing how infrastructural accessibility is related to changing patterns of business location of knowledge intensive industries in city regions The chapters in this book specifically dwell on recent manifestations of and developments in the accessibility knowledge nexus with a particular metageographical focus on how this materializes in major city regions In the different chapters this shifting relation is broached from different perspectives seaports airports brainports at different scales ranging from global scale analyses to case studies and by adopting a variety of methodologies straddling the wide variety of methodological approaches currently adopted in human geography research Researchers contributing to this edited volume come from different scholarly backgrounds sociology human geography regional planning which allows for a varied treatise of this research topic

The Knowledge Economy and Lifelong Learning D.W. Livingstone, David Guile, 2012-09-07 This book presents some of the most trenchant critical analyses of the widespread claims for the recent emergence of a knowledge economy and the attendant need for greater lifelong learning The book contains two sections first general critiques of the limits of current notions of a knowledge economy and required adult learning in terms of historical comparisons socio political construction and current empirical evidence secondly specific challenges to presumed relations between work requirements and learning through case studies in diverse current workplaces that document richer learning processes than knowledge economy advocates intimate Many of the leading authors in the field are represented There are no other books to date that both critically assess the limits of the notion of the knowledge economy and examine closely the relation of workplace restructuring to lifelong learning beyond the confines of formal higher education and related educational policies This reader provides a distinctive overview for future studies of relations between work and learning in contemporary societies beyond caricatures of the knowledge economy The book should be of interest to students following undergraduate or postgraduate courses in most social sciences and education business and labour studies departments as well as to policy makers and the general public concerned about economic change and lifelong learning issues D W Livingstone is Canada Research Chair in Lifelong Learning and Work and Professor Emeritus at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto David Guile is Professor of Education and Work at the Institute of Education University of London

Knowledge Production and Contradictory Functions in African Higher Education

Nico Cloete, Peter Maassen, 2015-03-01 The dominant global discourse in higher education now focuses on world class universities inevitably located predominantly in North America Europe and increasingly East Asia The rest of the world including Africa is left to play catch up But that discourse should focus rather on the tensions even contradictions between excellence and engagement with which all universities must grapple Here the African experience has much to offer the high participation and generously resourced systems of the so called developed world This book offers a critical review of that experience and so makes a major contribution to our understanding of higher education How Universities Promote

Economic Growth Shahid Yusuf, Kaoru Nabeshima, 2007 With the competitiveness of firms in an open and integrated world environment increasingly reliant on technological capability universities are being asked to take on a growing role in stimulating economic growth Beyond imparting education they are now viewed as sources of industrially valuable technical skills innovations and entrepreneurship Developed and developing countries alike have made it a priority to realize this potential of universities to spur growth a strategy that calls for coordinated policy actions

Knowledge and Change in African Universities Michael Cross, amasa ndofirepi, 2017-01-28 While African universities retain their core function as primary institutions for advancement of knowledge they have undergone fundamental changes in this regard These changes have been triggered by a multiplicity of factors including the need to address past economic and social imbalances higher education expansion alongside demographic and economic growth concerns and student throughput and success with the realization that greater participation has not meant greater equity Constraining these changes is largely the failure to recognize the encroachment of the profit motive into the academy or a shift from a public good knowledge learning regime to a neo liberal knowledge learning regime Neo liberalism with its emphasis on the economic and market function of the university rather than the social function is increasingly destabilizing higher education particularly in the domain of knowledge making it increasingly unresponsive to local social and cultural needs Corporate organizational practices commodification and commercialization of knowledge dictated by market ethics dominate university practices in Africa with negative impact on professional values norms and beliefs Under such circumstances African humanist progressive virtues e g social solidarity compassion positive human relations and citizenship democratic principles equity and social justice and the commitment to decolonization ideals guided by altruism and common good are under serious threat The book goes a long way in unraveling how African
