,1997      Current Research in Britain ,1998      Antibiotic Policies: Fighting Resistance Ian M. Gould, Jos W.M. van der Meer, 2007-08-19 In 1971 I started a fellowship in infectious diseases and medical microbiology at the Channing Laboratory of the Harvard Medical Service at Boston City Hospital My mentor Dr Maxwell Finland had encouraged me to return there from the Center for Disease Control as CDC was known then where I had studied infectious diseases epidemiology and hospital associated infection epidemiology with the idea that we would review the demographic patterns of bacteremia and several other infections during Dr Finland's long tenure at the hospital We did so but I was surprised to find that he also invited me to help with the assessment of the success or failure of the programs to control antimicrobial use that he and colleagues had put into place at the hospital over several years The paper describing that review finally was published in 1974 after a long and tortuous process of review at several journals Several reviewers felt that such attempts to improve use amounted to interference with the patient's physician to do what was best Others felt that such programs focused incorrectly on a subject other than treating the current patient Fortunately today it is clear that antimicrobial resistance results in major part but not entirely from the ways that we use antimicrobial agents and that the overall interests of patients in general as well as those of society are well served by efforts to use these drugs as well as possible      Energy Efficiency in Motor Systems Peter Radgen, Paolo Bertoldi, 2024-11-06 This book contains selected peer reviewed papers presented at the 12th International Conference on Energy Efficiency in Motor Systems EEMODS 22 held in Stuttgart Germany from May 3 5 2022 As with previous conferences in this series EEMODS 22 provided a scientific forum to discuss and debate the latest developments and impacts of electrical motor systems on energy and the environment energy efficiency policies and programs adopted and planned standards including ISO 50 001 and the technical and commercial advances made in the dissemination and penetration of energy efficient motor systems Topics covered include emerging motor technologies research and innovation in electric motors power electronics and drives pump systems market surveillance and enforcement mechanisms national energy efficiency standards including case studies plus much more The conference is international by nature and aims to attract high quality and innovative contributions from all corners of the globe while the papers facilitate the development of new technologies policies and strategies to increase energy efficiency

One of the primary functions of law is to ensure that the legal structure governing all social relations is predictable coherent consistent and applicable Taken together these characteristics of law are referred to as legal certainty In traditional approaches to legal certainty law is regarded as a hierarchical system of rules characterized by stability clarity uniformity calculable enforcement publicity and predictability However the current reality is that national legal systems no longer operate in isolation but within a multilevel legal order wherein norms created at both the international and regional level are directly applicable to national legal systems Also norm creation is no longer the exclusive prerogative of public officials of the state private actors have an increasing influence on norm creation as well Social scientists have referred to this phenomenon of interacting and overlapping competences as multilevel governance Only recently have legal scholars focused attention on the increasing interconnectedness and therefore the concomitant loss of primacy of national legal orders between the global European and national regulatory spheres through the concept of multilevel regulation In this project the author uses multilevel regulation as a term to characterize a regulatory space in which the process of rule making rule enforcement and rule adjudication the regulatory lifecycle is dispersed across more than one administrative or territorial level and amongst several different actors both public and private The author draws on the concept of a regulatory space using it as a framing device to differentiate between specific aspects of policy fields The relationship between actors in such a space is non hierarchical and they may be independent of each other The lack of central ordering of the regulatory lifecycle within this regulatory space is the most important feature of such a space The implications of multilevel regulation for the notion of legal certainty have attracted limited attention from scholars and the demand for legal certainty in regulatory practice is still a puzzle The book explores the idea of legal certainty in terms of the perceptions and expectations of regulatees in the context of medical products specifically pharmaceuticals and medical devices which can be differentiated as two regulatory spaces and therefore form two case studies As an exploratory project the book necessarily explores new territory in terms of investigating legal certainty first in terms of regulatee perceptions and expectations and second because it studies it in the context of multilevel regulation      World Development Report 2021 World Bank,2021-07-02 The unprecedented growth of data and its ubiquity in our daily lives signal that the digital revolution is transforming the world But much of the value of data remains untapped waiting to be realized Data collected for one particular purpose has the potential to generate economic value in applications far beyond those originally anticipated However many barriers stand in the way of the beneficial reuse of data ranging from misaligned incentives and incompatible data systems to a fundamental lack of trust The World Development Report 2021 Data for Better Lives will explore the tremendous potential of the changing data landscape to improve the lives of poor people but also to open backdoors that can harm individuals businesses and societies The first part of the report assesses how better use and reuse of data can enhance the design of public policies programs and service delivery as well as improve market efficiency and job creation through private sector growth The second part of the report focuses on issues of governance law and policy that can help realize data s potential benefits while safeguarding against harmful outcomes By examining these issues the report aims to show how data can be leveraged to benefit the lives of poor people      Statistik untuk Pemimpin Berwawasan Global (ed. 2) ,
