Political Construction Sites Nation Building In Russia And The Post Soviet States:

Political Construction Sites Pal Kolsto, 2018-02-19 The dissolution of the Soviet Union has provided scholars with tremendously rich material for the study of comparative nation building Not since the decolonization of Africa in the 1960s have so many new states been established in one stroke in one region The post Soviet states moreover have all the necessary prerequisites for fruitful comparison a number of similarities but also significant differences in terms of size culture and recent history In order to survive in the long run modern states normally must have a population that possesses some sense of unity Its citizens must adhere to some common values and common allegiance towards the same state institutions and symbols This does not mean that all inhabitants must necessarily share the same culture but they should at least regard themselves as members of the same nation Strategies to foster this kind of common nationhood in a population are usually referred to as nation building After a decade of post Soviet nation building certain patterns are emerging and not always the most obvious ones Some states seem to manage well against high odds while others appear to be disintegrating or sinking slowly into oblivion To a remarkable degree the former Soviet republics have chosen different models for their nation building This book examines the preconditions for these endeavors the goals the state leaders are aiming at and the means they employ to reach them

Nation-Building and Common Values in Russia Pål Kolstø, Helge Blakkisrud, 2005-11 Vladimir Putin has explicitly based his nation building initiatives on the assumption that there exists a vast pool of common values in Russia that cut across ethnic and regional divides Nation Building and Common Values in Russia explores whether Putin is correct in his assumption and to what degree a commonality of values among the citizens of a country is a crucial element in the establishment of a common identity among them The study raises two basic questions Which values are actually common among various groups in Russia's population And which nation building strategies are the Russian authorities actually pursuing centrally and locally Sociological and political approaches to the study of nation building and national cohesion in Russia are employed to answer these questions and the findings contribute to a better understanding of nation building processes in post Communist Russia in general and of Putin's strategies in particular

Nation-Building and Identity in the Post-Soviet Space Rico Isaacs, Abel Polese, 2016-04-14 Nation building as a process is never complete and issues related to identity nation state and regime building are recurrent in the post Soviet region This comparative interdisciplinary volume explores how nation building tools emerged and evolved over the last twenty years Featuring in depth case studies from countries throughout the post Soviet space it compares various aspects of nation building and identity formation projects Approaching the issue from a variety of disciplines and geographical areas contributors illustrate chapter by chapter how different state and non state actors utilise traditional instruments of nation construction in new ways while also developing non traditional tools and strategies to provide a contemporary account of how nation formation efforts evolve and diverge

Religion, Politics and Nation-Building in Post-Communist Countries Greg Simons, David

Westerlund,2016-03-03 The increasing significance and visibility of relationships between religion and public arenas and institutions following the fall of communism in Europe provide the core focus of this fascinating book Leading international scholars consider the religious and political role of Christian Orthodoxy in the Russian Federation Romania Georgia and Ukraine alongside the revival of old indigenous religions often referred to as shamanistic and look at how despite Islam s long history and many adherents in the south Islamophobic attitudes have increasingly been added to traditional anti Semitic anti Western or anti liberal elements of Russian nationalism Contrasts between the church s position in the post communist nation building process of secular Estonia with its role in predominantly Catholic Poland are also explored Religion Politics and Nation Building in Post Communist Countries gives a broad overview of the political importance of religion in the Post Soviet space but its interest and relevance extends far beyond the geographical focus providing examples of the challenges in the spheres of public religious and social policy for all transitional countries Migration, Refugee Policy, and State

Building in Postcommunist Europe Oxana Shevel,2011-10-24 Why do similar postcommunist states respond differently to refugees Why do some states privilege certain refugee groups while other states do not This book presents a theory to account for this puzzle and it centers on the role of the politics of nation building and of the office of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees UNHCR A key finding of the book is that when the boundaries of a nation are contested and thus there is no consensus on which group should receive preferential treatment in state policies a political space for a receptive and nondiscriminatory refugee policy opens up The book speaks to the broader questions of how nationalism matters after communism and under what conditions and through what mechanisms international actors can influence domestic policies The analysis is based on extensive primary research the author conducted in four languages in the Czech Republic Poland Russia and Ukraine Media and Nation Building John Postill,2006 With the end of the Cold War and the proliferation of civil wars and regime changes the question of nation building has acquired great practical and theoretical urgency From Eastern Europe to East Timor Afghanistan and recently Iraq the United States and its allies have often been accused of shirking their nation building responsibilities as their attention and that of the media turned to yet another regional crisis While much has been written about the growing influence of television and the Internet on modern warfare little is known about the relationship between media and nation building This book explores for the first time this relationship by means of a paradigmatic case of successful nation building Malaysia Based on extended fieldwork and historical research the author follows the diffusion adoption and social uses of media among the Iban of Sarawak in Malaysian Borneo and demonstrates the wide ranging process of nation building that has accompanied the Iban adoption of radio clocks print media and television In less than four decades Iban longhouses villages under one roof have become media organizations shaped by the official ideology of Malaysia a country hastily formed in 1963 by conjoining four disparate territories Unrecognized

States in the International System Nina Caspersen,Gareth Stansfield,2012-07-26 Unrecognized states are territories that have achieved de facto independence yet have failed to gain international recognition as independent states These territories constitute anomalies in the international system of sovereign states and often present significant challenges to policy makers as evidenced by the war in Georgia and the continued debate over Kosovo's independence This book draws on both theory and case studies to better understand the phenomenon of unrecognized states demonstrating that the existence of such entities is less unusual than previously assumed Moving away from an overt focus on case studies the chapters present various themes that link the emergence operations and development of unrecognized states and assess how the established order of states responds to the challenges they present How do unrecognized interact with the international system of sovereign states How does it shape their emergence operations and development How do these entities develop in a context of non recognition Are we witnessing a new form of statehood or are these entities better understood as states in waiting What are the strategies available for dealing with unrecognized states Could power sharing or autonomy provide a solution or are more innovative strategies necessary With contributions from leading scholars in a number of fields this book will appeal not only to students and scholars of Political Science International Relations Geography Area Studies Sociology and Conflict Resolution but also to journalists government bodies and NGOs

Minority Rights and Minority Protection in Europe Timofey Agarin, Karl Cordell, 2016-03-24 In order to gain access to the EU nations must be seen to implement formal instruments that protect the rights of minorities This book examines the ways in which these tools have worked in a number of post communist states and explores the interaction of domestic and international structures that determine the application of these policies Using empirical examples and comparative cases the text explores three levels of policy making within sub state and national politics and within international agreements laws and policy blueprints This enables the authors to establish how domestic policymakers negotiate various structural factors in order to interpret rights norms and implement them long enough to gain EU accession Showing that it is necessary to focus upon the states of post communist Europe as autonomous actors and not as mere recipients of directives and initiatives from the West the book shows how underlying structural conditions allow domestic policy actors to talk the talk of rights protection without walking the walk of implementing minority rights legislation on their territories

Is Russia Fascist? Marlene Laruelle, 2021-03-15 In Is Russia Fascist Marlene Laruelle argues that the charge of fascism has become a strategic narrative of the current world order Vladimir Putin's regime has increasingly been accused of embracing fascism supposedly evidenced by Russia's annexation of Crimea its historical revisionism attacks on liberal democratic values and its support for far right movements in Europe But at the same time Russia has branded itself as the world's preeminent antifascist power because of its sacrifices during the Second World War while it has also emphasized how opponents to the Soviet Union in Central and Eastern Europe collaborated with Nazi Germany Laruelle closely analyzes accusations of fascism toward Russia soberly assessing both their origins and their accuracy By labeling ideological opponents as fascist regardless of their actual values or actions geopolitical rivals are able to frame their own vision of the world and claim the moral high ground Through a detailed examination of the Russian domestic scene and the Kremlin's foreign policy rationales Laruelle disentangles the foundation for meaning and validity of accusations of fascism in and around Russia Is Russia Fascist shows that the efforts to label opponents as fascist is ultimately an attempt to determine the role of Russia in Europe's future

Nationalism and National Identities Martin Bulmer, John Solomos, 2014-01-02 Nationalism and nationalist ideas are a major force in the contemporary world This volume brings together original papers from a number of countries dealing both with theories and case studies of particular national contexts Taken together these papers shed light on the processes through which nationalist sentiments and ideas are articulated and given social and political meaning in specific situations They cover a broad range of different kinds of nationalist movements and ideologies using a variety of theoretical perspectives and based on varying empirical methodologies The cases covered include a comparison of Bosnia Herzegovina and the North Caucasus the role of religion in nationalist sentiment in Spain ethnicity and nationalism in Turkey Basque nationalism the Basque diaspora across the Atlantic the patrimonial state and inter ethnic conflict in Nigeria and nationalist movements in Uzbekistan and Tajikistan Though this is the empirical focus all chapters raise relevant theoretical questions and challenge differing approaches to the phenomenon of nationalism in the social sciences This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies

The Soviet Union Tania Raffass, 2012 The Soviet Union is often characterised as nominally a federation but really an empire liable to break up when individual federal units which were allegedly really subordinate colonial units sought independence This book questions this interpretation revisiting the theory of federation and discussing actual examples of federations such as the United States arguing that many federal unions including the United States are really centralised polities It also discusses the nature of empires nations and how they relate to nation states and empires and the right of secession highlighting the importance of the fact that this was written in to the Soviet constitution It examines the attitude of successive Soviet leaders towards nationalities and the changing attitudes of nationalists towards the Soviet Union Overall it demonstrates that the Soviet attitude to nationalities and federal units was complicated wrestling in a similar way to many other states with difficult questions of how ethno cultural justice can best be delivered in a political unit which is bigger than the national state Metaphor, Nation and Discourse Ljiljana Šarić, Mateusz-Milan Stanojević, 2019-05-20 This edited volume examines how metaphors and related phenomena metonymies symbols cultural models stereotypes lead to the discursive construal of a common element that brings the nation together The central idea is that metaphor use must be questioned to lay bare the processes and the discursive power behind them The chapters examine a range of contemporary and historical monomodal and multimodal discourses including politicians discourse presidential speeches newspapers TV series Catholic homilies colonialist discourse and various online sources The approaches taken include political science international relations cultural studies and linguistics All contributions feature discursive constructivist views of metaphor with clear sociocultural grounding and the notion of metaphor as a framing device in constructing various aspects of nations and national identity The volume will appeal to scholars in discourse analysis metaphor studies media studies nationalism studies and political science Identities, Nations and Politics after Communism Roger E. Kanet, 2013-10-18 This book focuses on questions of identity that have confronted the countries of Central and Eastern Europe after the collapse of the communist system that had previously provided them with an identity This development both facilitated and necessitated a reassessment of the now independent nations history orientation symbols and identity In some cases new states were created without a clear national identity while in others the nation was regaining statehood but not always within borders that had an historical association with the nation concerned The multiethnic character of the space of the former Soviet Union and its erstwhile satellites and the long historical legacy of complex relations boundary changes population migration and economic and social changes presented different challenges to the various nations and states concerned The essays in this volume attempt to elucidate and understand the issues of ethnic and national identity and their relationship to the emerging statehood in various regions of the post communist world This study makes clear that some nation states were far better prepared to handle these issues than others and that the longer term impact of the communist experience has varied This book was previously published as a special issue of Nationalities Papers Globalization, the Nation-State and the Citizen Alan Reid, Judith Gill, Alan Sears, 2013-03-01 The past decade has seen an explosion of interest in civics and citizenship education There have been unprecedented developments in citizenship education taking place in schools adult education centers or in the less formally structured spaces of media images and commentary around the world This book provides an overview of the development of civics and citizenship education policy across a range of nation states The contributors all widely respected scholars in the field of civics and citizenship education provide a thorough understanding of the different ways in which citizenship has been taken up by educators governments and the wider public Citizenship is never a single given unproblematic concept but rather its meanings have to be worked through and developed in terms of the particularities of socio political location and history This volume promotes a wider and more grounded understanding of the ways in which citizenship education is enacted across different nation states in order to develop education for active and participatory citizenry in both local and global contexts
