Teiwes, 2017 This title was first published in 1980 Drawing upon released documents memoirs and party history works the process and impact of the political campaigns in China between 1950 and 1965 is documented Complete with extensive interviews with Chinese scholars and former officials the book reviews the findings of the first edition Provided by publisher Retirement of Revolutionaries in China Melanie Manion, 2014-07-14 In this book Melanie Manion analyzes the largest bloodless circulation of elites in history the massive retirement of officials in the People's Republic of China Beginning in 1978 and continuing through the 1980s Chinese leaders in Beijing replaced millions of old cadres including veterans of the communist revolution with younger generations of better educated and less generalist officials How were the elders persuaded to retire Manion shows how a norm of age based exit from office historically novel in the Chinese communist setting was engineered by top policymakers and aided by younger cadres Manion's research combined a wide variety of sources and methods many new to the study of Chinese politics The author examined hundreds of party and government documents surveyed articles in newspapers and journals and interviewed officials in charge of supervising cadre retirement policy She first conducted long exploratory interviews with retired cadres and then designed questionnaires distributed to hundreds of others for quantitative analysis Finally to understand the viewpoints of those with the most to gain she interviewed younger employed cadres The result is a rich portrayal of manipulative leadership in post Mao China which reveals the key role of the private interests of all the parties involved Originally published in 1993 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books

China's Road to Disaster: Mao, Central Politicians and Provincial Leaders in the Great Leap Forward, 1955-59 Frederick C Teiwes, Warren Sun, 2016-07-01 This text analyzes the dramatic shifts in Chinese Communist Party economic policy during the mid to late 1950s which eventually resulted in 30 to 45 million deaths through starvation as a result of the failed policies of the Great Leap Forward Teiwes examines both the substance and the process of economic policy making in that period explaining how the rational policies of opposing rash advance in 1956 57 gave way to the fanciful policies of the Great Leap and assessing responsibility for the failure to adjust adequately those policies even as signs of disaster began to reach higher level decision makers In telling this story Teiwes focuses on key participants in the process throughout both rational and utopian phases Mao other top leaders central economic bureaucracies and local party leaders The analysis rejects both of the existing influential explanations in the field the long dominant power politics approach focusing on alleged clashes within the top leadership and David Bachman's recent institutional interpretation of the origins of the Great Leap Instead this study presents a detailed picture of an exceptionally Mao dominated process where no other actor challenged his position where the boldest step any actor took was to try and influence his preferences and where the system in effect became paralyzed while Mao kept changing signals as disaster unfolded

Chinese Immigration and Australian Politics Jia Gao, 2020-07-14 This book analyses how an increasing number of new Chinese migrants have integrated into Australian society and added a new dimension to Australian domestic politics as a result of Australia's merit based immigration system and its shift towards Asia These policies have helped Australia sustain its growth without a recession for decades but have also slowly changed established patterns in the distribution of job opportunities wealth and political influence in the country These transformations have recently triggered a strong Sinophobic campaign in Australia the most disturbing aspect of which is the denial of the successful integration of Chinese migrants into Australian society Based on evidence gathered through a longitudinal study of Chinese migrants in Australia this book examines the misconceptions troubling Australia's current China debate from six important but overlooked perspectives ranging from migration policy changes economic factors grassroots responses the role of major political parties community activism to knowledge issues

Politics in China Since 1949 Robert Weatherley, 2007-01-24 Since the victory of the 1949 revolution the incumbency of the Chinese Communist Party has been characterized by an almost relentless struggle to legitimize its monopoly on political power During the Mao era attempts to derive legitimacy focused primarily on mass participation in political affairs a blend of Marxist and nationalist ideology and the charismatic authority of Mao Zedong The dramatic failure of the Cultural Revolution forced the post Mao leadership to discard these discredited paradigms of legitimacy and move towards an almost exclusively performance based concept founded on market economic reform The reforms during the 1980s generated a number of unwelcome but inevitable side effects such as official corruption high unemployment and significant socio economic inequality These factors culminated ultimately in the 1989 demonstrations in Tiananmen Square and throughout China Since Tiananmen the party has sought to diversify the basis of its legitimacy by adhering more closely to constitutional procedures in decision making and to a certain extent by reinventing itself as a conservative nationalist party This probing study of post communist revolution Chinese politics sets out to discover if there is a plausible alternative to the electoral mode or if legitimacy is the exclusive domain of the multi party system

China's Post-Jiang Leadership Succession John Wong, 2002 As the 16th Congress of the Chinese Communist Party October 1st 2002 draws near China watchers in Washington Tokyo Taipei and many other places have their eyes intently fixed on the political scene in Beijing Most are predicting problems involved in the transition process as well as speculating on the final leadership line up Nevertheless such speculation is intellectually rather futile To avoid being too speculative the contributors to this book have focused instead on two key aspects of China's leadership transition first changes in the politics of leadership transition and second real and potential problems and challenges that China's younger fourth generation leaders have to grapple when they take over

China's Political Worldview and Chinese Exceptionalism Benjamin Ho, 2025-10-01 China's Political Worldview and Chinese Exceptionalism International Order and Global Leadership uses the notion of Chinese exceptionalism as a framework to analyze China's international politics and foreign policy. This book argues that China's approach to international relations is best understood in the context of these claims to exceptionalism and China's broader political world view. In doing so, it fosters a more comprehensive understanding of China's actions within the realms of foreign policy and international politics and in the context of the preferred world order norms and rules that the country seeks to promote. Focuses on the study of China's political worldview, an area that is under-studied by Western scholars of Chinese politics. Emphasizes on China's diplomatic activities in Asia, which is an area of great interest to policy makers. Study on Chinese exceptionalism, which is also an under-researched albeit growing theme in recent years. Modernity with a Cold War Face Xiaojue Wang, 2020-05-11. The year 1949 witnessed China divided into multiple political and cultural entities. How did this momentous shift affect Chinese literary topography? Modernity with a Cold War Face examines the competing, converging and conflicting modes of envisioning a modern nation in mid-twentieth century Chinese literature. Bridging the 1949 divide in both literary historical periodization and political demarcation, Xiaojue Wang proposes a new framework to consider Chinese literature beyond national boundaries as something arising out of the larger global geopolitical and cultural conflict of the Cold War. Examining a body of heretofore understudied literary and cultural production in mainland China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and overseas during a crucial period after World War II, Wang traces how Chinese writers collected artistic fragments, blended feminist and socialist agendas, constructed ambivalent stances toward colonial modernity, and an imaginary homeland, translated foreign literature to shape a new Chinese subjectivity, and revisited the classics for a new time. Reflecting historical reality in fictional terms, their work forged a path toward multiple modernities as they created alternative ways of connection, communication, and articulation to uncover and undermine Cold War dichotomous antagonism.

The Transformational Role of Dramaturgy in China's Performing Arts Ting Zhang, 2025-08-11. A pioneering examination of a field in its early stages, Zhang delves into a detailed exploration of the evolving role of dramaturgy in contemporary Chinese theatre, bridging the gap between established Western theories and the unique practices emerging in the Chinese theatre scene, and offering valuable insight into the reshaping of theatre production amidst a rapidly changing cultural landscape. Compared with the development of dramaturgy in Western countries, dramaturgical practice in contemporary Chinese theatre is still in its infancy. This book aims to fill this gap by exploring dramaturgy's evolution and current role in Chinese theatre. It embarks on a global exploration in terms of both dramaturgical theories and practices across Germany, the UK, the US, and the Asia Pacific region, providing a theoretical framework. It then traces the evolution of Chinese spoken drama, Huaju, from its origins in 1907 to the present. This chronological exploration illuminates Huaju's development from foreign influences in the early decades to a more recent era of self-exploration. The book features three key case studies: the reception of Henrik Ibsen's work in China, the 1983 production of Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman in Beijing, and the writing and staging of Teahouse. It also explores contemporary dramaturgical practices in China based on fieldwork and interviews with theatre practitioners in Beijing and Shanghai Through an examination of the similarities and differences in dramaturgical practices across performing arts in China the book firmly positions Chinese dramaturgy within the broader currents of global theatre discourse This book is a unique cross cultural resource with practical insights and theoretical reflections of great value for academics scholars educators and practitioners in the fields of theatre studies dramaturgy cross cultural performance studies contemporary Chinese theatre and the global evolution of dramaturgy

Civil-Military Relations in Post-Deng China Nan Li, 2020-10-01 This book demonstrates that civil military relations have evolved beyond symbiosis to quasi institutionalization in post Deng Xiaoping China As the People s Liberation Army PLA is a Leninist party army it is commonly assumed that the relationship between the Chinese Communist Party CCP and the PLA is symbiotic and institutional boundaries based on a clear functional division of labor are absent between the two This symbiosis suggests that the primary role of the PLA is in China s domestic politics it is to participate in intra CCP leadership power struggle and in defending the CCP regime against popular rebellions from within Chinese society By analyzing major changes in the functions of the PLA political commissar system the extent of the PLA involvement in the power struggle of the CCP leadership and the circulation of elites across civil military institutional boundaries this book offers a new theoretical explanation of civil military relations in China It also discusses the implications of the findings for China s domestic politics and foreign policy

Chinese Politics in the Era of Xi Jinping Willy Wo-Lap Lam, 2015-03-12 Renowned for his coverage of China s elite politics and leadership transitions veteran Sinologist Willy Lam has produced the first book length study in English of the rise of Xi Jinping General Secretary of the Chinese Communist Party CCP since November 2012 With rare insight Lam describes Xi s personal history and his fascination with quasi Maoist values the factional politics through which he ascended the configuration of power of the Fifth Generation leadership and the country s likely future directions under the charismatic princeling Despite an undistinguished career as a provincial administrator Xi has rapidly amassed more power than his predecessors He has overawed his rivals and shaken up the party state hierarchy by launching large scale anti corruption and rectification campaigns With a strong power base in the People s Liberation Army and a vision of China as an awakening lion Xi has been flexing China s military muscle in sovereignty rows with countries including Japan Vietnam and the Philippines while trying to undermine the influence of the United States in the Asia Pacific region While Xi is still fine tuning his art of governance his zero tolerance for dissent and his preoccupation with upholding the privileges of the red aristocracy and the CCP s status as perennial ruling party do not bode well for economic political or cultural reforms Lam takes a close look at Xi s ideological and political profile and considers how his conservative outlook might shape what the new strongman calls the Great Renaissance of the Chinese race

Political Participation in Beijing Tianjian Shi, 1997 In this first scientific survey of political participation in the People s Republic of China Tianjian Shi identifies twenty eight participatory acts and groups them into seven areas voting campaign activities appeals adversarial activities cronyism resistance and boycotts What he finds will surprise many observers Political participation in a closed society is not necessarily characterized by passive citizens driven by regime mobilization aimed at carrying out predetermined goals Beijing citizens acknowledge that they actively engage in various voluntary participatory acts to articulate their interests In a society where communication channels are controlled by the government Shi discovers access to information from unofficial means becomes the single most important determinant for people s engaging in participatory acts Government sponsored channels of appeal are easily accessible to ordinary citizens so socioeconomic resources are unimportant in determining who uses these channels Instead voter turnout is found to be associated with the type of work unit a person belongs to subjective evaluations of one s own economic status and party affiliation Those most likely to engage in campaign activities adversarial activities cronyism resistance and boycotts are the more disadvantaged groups in Beijing While political participation in the West fosters a sense of identification the unconventional modes of participation in Beijing undermine the existing political order
