Popper's non-justificationist philosophy for promoting an open society. Specifically, the book is designed to develop an educational programme for fostering critical thinking in children, particularly when they are involved in group discussion. The study conducted an experiment to assess the effectiveness of Matthew Lipman's Philosophy for Children (P4C) programme in promoting Hong Kong Chinese children's critical thinking. Forty-two Secondary 1 students volunteered for the experiment, from whom 28 students were randomly selected and randomly assigned to two groups of 14 each: one receiving P4C lessons and the other receiving English lessons. The students who were taught P4C were found to perform better in the reasoning test than those who were not, to be capable of discussing philosophical problems in a competent way, and to have a very positive attitude towards doing philosophy in the classroom. It was also found that P4C played a major role in developing the students' critical thinking. Considering that the construction of children by adults as incompetent, in the sense of lacking reason, maturity, or independence, reinforces the traditional structure of adult authority over children in society, it runs counter to the goal of fostering critical thinking in children. As a way to return justice to childhood and to effectively promote critical thinking in children, the present study suggested reconstructing the concept of childhood, highlighting the importance of establishing a coherent public policy on promotion of agency in children, and also the importance of empowering them to participate actively in research, legal, and educational institutions.

European Childhoods Allison James, Adrian L. James, 2008-01-23. The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child resulted in even greater global awareness of the significance of children's rights and perspectives. The contributors to this book explore the extent to which children's interests are finding expression in different societies in Western Europe.

Children's Stories and 'Child-Time' in the Works of Joseph Cornell and the Transatlantic Avant-Garde Analisa Leppanen-Guerra, 2017-07-05. Focusing on his evocative and profound references to children and their stories, Children's Stories and Child Time in the Works of Joseph Cornell and the Transatlantic Avant Garde studies the relationship between the artist's work on childhood and his search for a transfigured concept of time. This study also situates Cornell and his art in the broader context of the transatlantic avant-garde of the 1930s and 40s. Analisa Leppanen-Guerra explores the children's stories that Cornell perceived as fundamental in order to unpack the dense network of associations in his under-studied multimedia works. Moving away from the usual focus on his box constructions, the author directs her attention to Cornell's film and theater scenarios, explorations, dossiers, and book objects. One highlight of this study is a work that may well be the first artist's book of its kind and has only been exhibited twice: Untitled Journal d'Agriculture Pratique, presented as Cornell's enigmatic tribute to Lewis Carroll's Alice books.

Babies Without Borders Karen Dubinsky, 2010-06-28. While international adoptions have risen in the public eye and recent scholarship has covered transnational adoption from Asia to the U.S., adoptions between North America and Latin America have been overshadowed and in some cases forgotten. In this nuanced study of adoption, Karen Dubinsky expands the historical record while she considers the political symbolism of children caught up in adoption and migration.

controversies in Canada the United States Cuba and Guatemala Babies without Borders tells the interrelated stories of Cuban children caught in Operation Peter Pan adopted Black and Native American children who became icons in the Sixties and Guatemalan children whose disappearance today in transnational adoption networks echoes their fate during the country's brutal civil war Drawing from archival research as well as from her critical observations as an adoptive parent Dubinsky moves debates around transnational adoption beyond the current dichotomy the good of humanitarian rescue against the evil of imperialist kidnap Integrating the personal with the scholarly Babies without Borders exposes what happens when children bear the weight of adult political conflicts
