The Aesthetics of Mythmaking in German Postwar Culture André Fischer, 2024-03-15 Myths are a central part of our reality But merely debunking them lets us forget why they are created in the first place and why we need them Andr Fischer draws on key examples from German postwar culture from novelists Hans Henny Jahnn and Hubert Fichte to sculptor and performance artist Joseph Beuys and filmmaker Werner Herzog to show that mythmaking is an indispensable human practice in times of crisis Against the background of mythologies based in nineteenth century romanticism and their ideological continuation in Nazism fresh forms of mythmaking in the narrative visual and performative arts emerged as an aesthetic paradigm in postwar modernism Boldly rewriting the cultural history of an era and setting in transition The Aesthetics of Mythmaking in German Postwar

Culture counters the predominant narrative of an exclusively rational Vergangenheitsbewältigung coming to terms with the past Far from being merely reactionary the turn toward myth offered a dimension of existential orientation that had been neglected by other influential aesthetic paradigms of the postwar period Fischer's wide ranging transmedia account offers an inclusive perspective on myth beyond storytelling and instead develops mythopoesis as a formal strategy of modernism at large

Legends of People, Myths of State Bruce Kapferer, 2011-12-01 The civil war in Sri Lanka and the part that nationalism seemed to play in it inspired the writing of this book some twenty three years ago The argument was developed through a comparative analysis of nationalism in Sri Lanka with the author's native Australia At the time this constituted an innovative approach to comparison in anthropology as well as to nationalism and its possibilities It was not based on differences but on the way in which perspectives from within the two nationalisms when seen side by side could present an understanding of their implication in producing the violence of war racism and social exclusion The book has lost none of its importance and urgency as proven by the chapters in the Appendix written by top scholars working in Sri Lanka and in Australia These contributions bring together new material and critically explore the book's themes and their continued relevance to the various trajectories in nationalist processes since the first publication of the book

Docu-Fictions of War Tatiana Prorokova, 2019-05-01 Historical writing and fiction are not the same thing though historians often creatively manipulate material in imposing plot structures selecting starting and ending points and fashioning compelling literary characters from historical figures In Docu Fictions of War Tatiana Prorokova argues that the opposite is also true war fiction offers a kind of history that both documents its subjects and provides a snapshot of the cultural representation of the United States most recent military involvements She covers a largely neglected body of cinematic and literary texts about the First Gulf War the

Balkan War the Afghanistan War and the Iraq War to open a fresh analysis of cultural texts on war Prorokova contends that these texts are not pure fiction but docu fictions works of imagination that can document their subjects while disclosing the social political and historical link between war and culture during the last three decades Docu Fictions of War analyzes how these representational narratives have highlighted a humanitarian rationale behind American involvement in each war whether the stated goals were to free the oppressed from tyranny stop genocide or rid the world of terrorism The book explores the gap between history what allegedly happened and the cultural mythology that is both true and inexact tangible and sensed recognized and undocumented
