Zornberg,2009-03-31 From one of the most innovative and acclaimed biblical commentators at work today here is a revolutionary analysis of the intersection between religion and psychoanalysis in the stories of the men and women of the Bible For centuries scholars and rabbis have wrestled with the biblical narrative attempting to answer the questions that arise from a plain reading of the text In The Murmuring Deep Avivah Zornberg informs her literary analysis of the text with concepts drawn from Freud Winnicott Laplanche and other psychoanalytic thinkers to give us a new understanding of the desires and motivations of the men and women whose stories form the basis of the Bible Through close readings of the biblical and midrashic texts Zornberg makes a powerful argument for the idea that the creators of the midrashic commentary the medieval rabbinic commentators and the Hassidic commentators were themselves on some level aware of the complex interplay between conscious and unconscious levels of experience and used this knowledge in their interpretations In her analysis of the stories of Adam and Eve Noah Jonah Abraham Rebecca Isaac Joseph and his brothers Ruth and Esther how they communicated with the world around them with God and with the various parts of their selves Zornberg offers fascinating insights into the interaction between consciousness and unconsciousness In discussing why God has to seduce Adam into entering the Garden of Eden or why Jonah thinks he can hide from God by getting on a ship Zornberg enhances our appreciation of the Bible as the foundational text in our quest to understand what it means to be human Rebecca

Patricia White,2021-05-06 The 1940 film adaptation of Daphne du Maurier's gothic romance Rebecca begins by echoing the novel's famous opening line Last night I dreamt I went to Manderley again Patricia White takes the theme of return as her starting point for an exploration of the film's enduring power Drawing on archival research she shows how the production and reception history of Rebecca the first fruit of the collaboration between Hollywood movie producer David O Selznick and British director Alfred Hitchcock is marked by the traces of women's contributions White provides a rich analysis of the film addressing the gap between perception and reality that is constantly in play in the gothic romance and highlighting the queer erotics circulating around the heroine Mrs Danvers and the dead but ever present Rebecca Her discussion of the film's afterlives emphasizes the lasting aesthetic impact of this dark masterpiece of memory and desire while her attention to its remakes and sequels speaks to the ongoing relevance of its vision of gender and power New Chronicles of Rebecca
