Public

Investment and Regional Economic Development Daniel Felsenstein,Ronald McQuaid,Philip McCann,Daniel

Shefer,2001-01-01 Public Investment and Regional Economic Development is a very interesting and stimulating reading for policymakers and anyone doing research in this area Adelheid Holl Environment and Planning C Government and Planning The relationship between public investment and regional economic development is of perennial interest and is particularly topical now as issues of infrastructure and innovation are high on policy agendas in many countries Public investment is often viewed as a possible method for jump starting lagging regional economies and also as a requirement for the continued development of more prosperous regions Public Investment and Regional Economic Development provides a systematic analysis of the complex relationship between public investment and regional economic development The authors offer new insights into the key issues of regional growth and present a broad variety of perspectives ranging from transport and housing infrastructure through to human capital and innovation

Regional Economic Problems A. J. Brown, E. M. Burrows, 2017-08-25 Originally published in 1977 This book provides the first concise non technical account of what the main kinds of regional problems are how they arise and the kinds of policy which have been used to tackle them in the UK USA and Western Europe The book starts with a discussion of why regional problems really are situations which call for special action followed by a short preliminary classification of problem regions including those in the less developed countries then on to a more detailed survey of the origins and experience of selected problem regions in the more developed market economies The authors focus on four broad kinds of problem region agricultural regions coal mining regions old textile regions and so called congested regions They conclude with a selective survey of regional policies in these more advanced economies distinguishing and comparing the main trends and the different national styles
