The Regions and the New Europe Martin Rhodes, 1995 The contributors argue that some regions such as Emilia Romagna Baden Wurttemberg and Rhone Alpes have been highly successful in launching regional development strategies Others such as the English and certain southern European regions lack the economic resources and institutional structures to follow these examples The book analyses the reasons for success and failure and considers the strategic development options open to the less developed European regions

Regional Behaviour Dimitrios C. Christopoulos, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2001 In the framework of the EU a number of policies have been devised for regions in order to facilitate their balanced economic development The author argues that the focus on regional planners and their actions in academic literature has obscured the importance of regional elites in this process The author compares Western Scotland and the west of Crete focusing on the wider regional political and business elites within these regions and attempting a comparison of elite attitudes within regions and between regions

Enterprising Initiatives in the Experience Economy Britta Timm Knudsen, Dorthe Refslund Christensen, Per Blenker, 2014-09-19 Over the last decade the close relationship between culture and economy or the experience economy has risen on the agenda Although there is an established research field for analysing the economic impact of entrepreneurship there is currently a limited amount of research that analyses the cultural impact and opportunity of entrepreneurship Linking experience economy with enterprising behavior moves the term away from businesses competitiveness and consumer behavior towards a more value focused business in general This ground breaking book integrates entrepreneurship and empowerment into one central theme drawing on research from both the social sciences innovation entrepreneurship empowerment and activism and the humanities participatory culture user generated designs creative networks Enterprising Initiatives expands the definition of entrepreneurship beyond a primarily economic profit seeking phenomenon to a broader understanding of enterprising behaviour based on an individual opportunity nexus Beyond social entrepreneurship it explores a broad range of individual collective and cooperative citizen initiatives under the umbrella of enterprising action This innovative approach will be of great interest to scholars in entrepreneurship social entrepreneurship cultural entrepreneurship cultural studies and consumer culture as well as for policy makers in public and local government regional development and cultural event management International Books in Print, 1995 Barbara Hopkinson,[Anonymus AC01401231],1995

they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice

Developing Frontier Cities Harvey Lithwick, Yehuda

Gradus, 2013-04-17 The Unique Nature of Frontier Cities and their Development Challenge Harvey Lithwick and Yehuda Gradus The advent of government downsizing and globalization has led to enormous competitive pressures as well as the opening of new opportunities How cities in remote frontier areas might cope with what for them might appear to be a devastating challenge is the subject of this book Our concern is with frontier cities in particular In our earlier study Frontiers in Regional Development Rowman and Littlefield 1996 we examined the distinction between frontiers and peripheries The terms are often used interchangeably but we believe that in fact both in scholarly works and in popular usage very different connotations are conveyed by these concepts Frontiers evoke a strong positive image of sparsely settled territories offering challenges adventure unspoiled natural landscapes and a different and for many an attractive life style Frontiers are lands of opportunity Peripheries conjure up negative images of inaccessibility inadequate services and political and economic marginality They are places to escape from rather than frontiers which is where people escape to Peripheries are places of and for losers Corporate Social Responsibility in Europe Samuel O. Idowu, René Schmidpeter, Matthias S.

Fifka, 2015-02-12 This book explores the current state of Corporate Social Responsibility CSR in 24 European nations examining the state of the development and practice of CSR and sustainability for organizations in these countries The common denominator for all of the book's 25 chapters is a management perspective rather than an ethical discourse. The book therefore represents a comprehensive survey of initiatives and activities in the field of CSR and provides a wealth of complete cases and examples for different approaches to sustainable and responsible management practice. The book also reviews the relevant political and governmental guidelines and frameworks for organizations both on a national and a European level. Europe has taken a leading role in the promotion and implementation of CSR. This book showcases how through CSR enterprises can significantly contribute to achieving the European Union's treaty objectives of sustainable development and a highly competitive social market economy.

Return Migration and Regional Development in Europe Robert Nadler, Zoltán Kovács, Birgit Glorius, Thilo Lang, 2016-07-30. This book assesses recent migration patterns in Europe which have significantly included return migration against the stream of East-West migration. Since the Eastern enlargement of the EU, many regions of Central and Eastern Europe have experienced a loss of human resources in core industries, raising concerns about social, economic, and territorial cohesion in the region. The success rates of national and regional governmental policy aiming to retain or re-attract skilled workers have been variable, yet return migration has emerged as a major element of migration flows. Bringing together leading researchers on this important topic in contemporary European geography, the contributors analyse a series of key issues. These include theoretical frameworks in the field of return migration, the nexus between return migration and regional development, the effects of the global and European crisis on emigration and return migration, non-economic motivations for emigration and return, the intergenerational character of return migration, and the reintegration of return migrants into post-socialist societies. Taken together, the chapters see return migrants as important agents of change, innovation, and economic growth. The book will be of great interest for scholars and students of human, economic, and political geography.

Urban Regeneration in Europe Uwe Altrock, Detlef Kurth, 2024-11-25. We understand urban regeneration as all efforts managed, funded, or at least guided to some extent by public authorities that aim at improving, stabilizing, or revitalizing existing neighborhoods. This comprises area-based strategies, improvements of public infrastructure, and interventions into the physical structure of the built environment. Their strategies may be redevelopment, renewal, careful regeneration, socially integrative management, and others. Those efforts aim at dealing with reurbanization trends recently challenged by new suburbanization, due to overheated development, sharp increases in house prices, and more and more professionals working from home. The major objective of the book is to give an overview of the variety of approaches applied in European countries. Therefore, it takes a particular look at the systems of urban regeneration that build upon an interplay of specific legal frameworks, policies, public funding schemes, physical planning tools, partnerships, and governance arrangements applied with the intention of solving urban problems. For this purpose, chapters present case studies of those national or regional systems or outstanding examples of long-term efforts by major cities.

Urban Change and Regional Development at the Margins of Europe Ignazio Vinci, Paula

Russell, 2022-07-28 Since the beginning of the 1990s regions and urban areas have become a primary target of EU Cohesion Policy. For a number of European cities especially in the less developed regions this has resulted in a unique opportunity for the implementation of extensive development projects as well as delivering innovations in urban policy and local governance. Through the detailed observation of planning processes which took place in four European cities Porto PT, Malaga ES, Palermo IT and Thessaloniki EL this book explores the different ways that EU intervention can affect the policy process locally from the regeneration of decayed neighbourhoods and the creation of key services for improving the quality of life to the establishment of new governance relations and increasing the institutional capacity in local government. The book also provides a critical reflection on the impact of EU urban policy in reducing regional disparities and the extent to which Cohesion Policy has helped cities to open new pathways for local development. With a special focus on the EU's marginal regions this book is a guide to understanding how EU policy has affected urban change and local development across Europe. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the journal Urban Research Practice.
