Douglas, Sean Markey, Sarah Minnes, Bill Reimer, 2019-07-04 Canadian regional development today involves multiple actors operating within nested scales from local to national and even international levels Recent approaches to making sense of this complexity have drawn on concepts such as multi level governance relational assets integration innovation and learning regions These new regionalist concepts have become increasingly global in their formation and application yet there has been little critical analysis of Canadian regional development policies and programs or the theories and concepts upon which many contemporary regional development strategies are implicitly based This volume offers the results of five years of cutting edge empirical and theoretical analysis of changes in Canadian regional development and the potential of new approaches for improving the well being of Canadian communities and regions with an emphasis on rural regions It situates the Canadian approach within comparative experiences and debates offering the opportunity for broader lessons to be learnt This book will be of interest to policy makers and practitioners across Canada and in other jurisdictions where lessons from the Canadian experience may be applicable At the same time the volume contributes to and updates regional development theories and concepts that are taught in our universities and colleges and upon which future research and analysis will build

Regionalism and the Humanities Timothy R. Mahoney, Wendy J. Katz, 2008-12-01 Although the framework of regionalist studies may seem to be crumbling under the weight of increasing globalization this collection of seventeen essays makes clear that cultivating regionalism lies at the center of the humanist endeavor With interdisciplinary contributions from poets and fiction writers literary historians musicologists and historians of architecture agriculture and women this volume implements some of the most innovative and intriguing approaches to the history and value of regionalism as a category for investigation in the humanities In the volume's inaugural essay Annie Proulx discusses landscapes in American fiction comments on how she constructs characters and interprets current literary trends Edward Watts offers a theory of region that argues for comparisons of the United States to other former colonies of Great Britain including New Zealand Australia and Canada Whether considering a writer's connection to region or the idea of place in exploring what is meant by regionalism these essays uncover an enduring and evolving concept Although the approaches and disciplines vary all are framed within the fundamental premise of the humanities the search to understand what it means to
