Wong,Claude-Hélène Mayer,Gökmen Arslan, In the era of COVID 19 many people have suffered high levels of stress and mental health problems To cope with the widespread of suffering physical psychological social and economical the positive psychology of personal happiness is no longer the sole approach to examine personal wellbeing Other approaches such as Viktor Frankl s theory of self transcendence provide a promising framework for research and intervention on how to achieve resilience wellbeing and happiness through overcoming suffering and self transcendence The existential positive psychology of suffering complements the positive psychology of happiness which is championed by Martin Seligman as two equal halves of the circle of wellbeing and optimal mental health This Research Topic aims to examine the different approaches to Positive Psychology and their influence on individual wellbeing during the COVID 19 era One of the exciting development in the positive psychology of wellbeing is the mounting research on the adaptive benefits of negative emotions such as shame guilt and anger as well as the dialectical process of balancing negative and positive emotions As an example based on all the empirical research and Frankl s self transcendence model Wong has developed the existential positive psychology of suffering PP2 0 as the foundation for flourishing Here are a few main tenets of PP2 0 1 Life is suffering and a constant struggle throughout every stage of development 2 The search for self transcendence is a primary motive guided by the meaning mindset and mindful mindset 3 Wellbeing cannot be sustainable without overcoming and transforming suffering In this Research Topic we welcome diverse approaches discussing the following points The dialectic process of overcoming the challenges of every stage of development as necessary for personal growth and self transcendence The role of self transcendence in resilience virtue meaning and happiness The upside of negative emotions The new science of resilience based on cultivating the resilient mindset and character How to make the best use of suffering to achieve out potentials mental health Books Out Loud ,2007 Meditative practice and behavioral neuroscience Junling Gao,2023-12-13 PASCAL. ,1992 Cognitive Psychology and Emotional Disorders

J. Mark G. Williams,1997-07-07 There has been an explosion of interest in applying the methods of experimental cognitive psychology to help understand emotional disorder especially most common anxiety depressive disorders This book reviews this work Our Own Worst Enemy Norman F. Dixon,1987 Index Medicus ,2001-05 Vols for 1963 include as pt 2 of the Jan issue Medical subject headings Highlights in psychology: Cognitive bias Sergio Da Silva,Rashmi Gupta,Dario Monzani,2023-07-24 Philosophical Transactions ,2006 Each issue of Transactions B is devoted to a specific area of the biological sciences including clinical science All papers are peer reviewed and edited to the highest standards Published on the 29th of each month Transactions B is essential reading for all biologists Physical Activity, Self-Regulation, and Executive Control Across the Lifespan Sean P. Mullen,Peter Hall,2016-02-05 There is overwhelming evidence linking increased physical activity with positive changes in cognitive functioning and brain health Much of what we know about these interrelationships comes from aerobic exercise training studies with older adults and children This literature has paved the way for the neuroscientific investigation of mechanisms responsible for exercise induced cognitive and brain health enhancement a list that ranges from molecular changes to systemic changes in executive control and neural connectivity A new perspective has also emerged that aims to understand executive control processes that may underlie the regulation of health behavior In accordance with this view physical activity falls under the umbrella of health behaviors that require a substantial amount of executive control Executive control is a limited resource and the aging process depletes this resource People who regularly exercise are said to have higher self regulatory control planning goal shielding and impulse control than irregular exercisers The successful maintenance of physical activity participation in lieu of daily cognitive stressors likely reflects an adaptive resistance to control failures Indeed a handful of studies have shown the relationship between greater executive control and subsequently higher levels of physical activity However little is known about the neural correlates of physical activity adherence or sedentary behavior with the view that neurocognitive factors have an antecedent and reciprocal influence on these behaviors No research has focused on the brain networks responsible for the self regulation of physical activity which likely overlaps with structures and functions playing critical roles in the regulation of other health behaviors Interdisciplinary investigations are needed to explain the extent to which physical activity self regulation and self regulatory failure is dependent upon or under the influence of executive control processes and brain networks Understanding the degree to which self regulatory resources may be enhanced restored and trained will have enormous implications for basic science and applied fields It is also of great import to understand whether or not physical activity self regulation is a domain specific behavior associated with specific brain networks or to determine the extent to which regulatory network sharing occurs The aim of this Frontiers Research Topic is to curate contributions from researchers in social and cognitive neurosciences and related fields whose work involves the study of physical activity behavior self regulation and executive control For this Research Topic we therefore solicit reviews original research articles and opinion papers which draw theoretical or empirical connections related to sustained physical activity behavior self regulatory strategies cognitive performance and brain structure and function While focusing on work in the neurosciences this Research Topic also welcomes contributions in the form of behavioral studies psychophysiological investigations and methodological innovations This Frontiers Research Topic will carve out new directions for the fields of exercise cognitive and social neurosciences We hope you will consider submitting your work     The Neurobiology of Social Recognition, Attraction and Bonding Royal Society (Great Britain).
