Religion And Fertility Arab Christian Muslim Differentials:

Religion and Fertility Joseph Chamie, 1981-04-30 This work is a critical investigation into the relationship between religious affiliation on the one hand and fertility family size preferences and family planning behaviour on the other Dr Chamie works from a set of unique data the 1971 Fertility and Family Planning Survey in Lebanon This survey is not only a national study of Lebanese fertility but also a large scale survey 2 800 people offering the opportunity to study Arab Christian Muslim differentials Lebanon s demographic situation has far greater scientific and practical importance than might be supposed from its relatively small population From observing the important religious communities at different stages of social and economic development Dr Chamie has thus been able to analyse the interacting effects of religion and socio economic development on reproductive behaviour

Will You Be Mother? Jane Bartlett, 1995-03 Women are taught from the earliest moments of life that motherhood along with marriage to a man is a natural state to which they should aspire From dollplay as a child to nagging questions of when am I going to become a grandparent as one gets older the societal pressure to procreate is constant and intense What then of women who choose not to have children or are unable to have children How do they respond to a society and to families that view them as selfish incomplete and less than women In Will You Be Mother Jane Bartlett interviews fifty women who for various reasons have not had children We hear from women who have chosen to be sterilized in their twenties others who can never say never but postpone childbearing because of acute ambivalence women in their sixties who have chosen to never have children and are happy with that choice and infertile women who have had no choice They speak of how their own childhoods shaped their decision and while expressing their frustration at the pressures placed upon them also exhibit an unequivocal sense of freedom Will You Be Mother is a diverse exploration of the personal and public implications of the pressure society puts on women to have children and a challenging critique of the prevalent belief that motherhood is a natural state for women

The Internationalization of Communal Strife (Routledge Revivals) Manus I. Midlarsky, 2014-06-03 First published in 1992 this edited collection argues that conflicts have a growing tendency both to intensify and to lengthen thus increasing the likelihood of external actors being drawn into the on going violence Here leading experts in comparative and international politics examine this tendency of communal conflicts to spill over into the international arena They also look at the conditions under which these processes do not occur and are mediated successfully The authors combine theoretical perspectives with case studies covering examples from the origins of the First World War to state building in Iraq and whether it was a precursor of the Iran Iraq War and the Gulf Crisis They present both a global overview and a focus on the state as the single most important intermediary in the internationalization process A

Paul Shaw, 2015-05-15 R Paul Shaw has travelled widely in the Arab world obtaining data and gathering impressions first hand from national and local planners In this book he identifies population and manpower problems that are likely to become more serious and more difficult to solve if they are neglected at this early stage of Arab development He focuses on five broad areas which are directly or indirectly related to mobilizing human resources and his book will be of special interest to all those who are concerned with such issues as population migration employment inequality the emancipation of women construction and agriculture Dr Shaw proposes policy directives which are sensitive to the problems as they are seen by the Arab governments themselves and sets out practical guidelines which can be used by Arab planners and policy makers An important feature of the book with respect to current literature on Arab development is that it moves away from a preoccupation with growth related investments to a concentration on development related population manpower and employment issues By bringing together such comprehensive empirical and bibliographic information it will also be invaluable as a reference source for some twenty Arab countries First published in 1983      The World's Religions Peter B. Clarke, Peter Beyer, 2009-05-07 This comprehensive volume focuses on the world's religions and the changes they have undergone as they become more global and diverse in form It explores the religions of the world not only in the regions with which they have been historically associated but also looks at the new cultural and religious contexts in which they are developing It considers the role of migration in the spread of religions by examining the issues raised for modern societies by the increasing interaction of different religions The volume also addresses such central questions as the dynamics of religious innovation which is evidenced in the rise and impact of new religious and new spirituality movements in every continent
