The Silver Mask Olga Yu Soboleva, 2008 A highly significant movement within the Silver Age harlequinade did not surface in Russian high culture until the turn of the twentieth century when it suddenly began to attract the close attention of symbolist authors In the present work an attempt is made to show that the proliferation of the new cultural idiom was indicative of the fundamental concerns of the time and intimately related to the development of artistic thought Although the theme is considered in its cultural totality visual arts literature and drama the work is focused on symbolist poetry It provides a close analysis of the harlequinade verse of Blok and Belyi two leading figures of the movement in whose writings the symbolist theory found its maturity and perfection The poems in question are conceptually centred on the dialectical unity of self and other one of the key notes in the new symbolist outlook This is traced at various levels of poetic representation in the imagery system and the principles of text construction in linguistic features and poetic devices employed by the authors Special attention is given to the sound organization of the poems which heightens considerably the semantic potential of the text

Rethinking Metonymy Sebastian Matzner, 2016-09-22 Although metonymy has long been recognized as being a central device in poetic language it has received little critical attention in its own right Not only has this created a gap in literary analytical scholarship which needs to be addressed but it has also allowed for problematic appropriations of metonymy as a critical concept now widely in use in structuralist studies across the humanities Rethinking Metonymy is the first monograph to confront and resolve these issues It advances the theory of poetic language by developing a ground breaking new definition of metonymy on the basis of an evaluation of examples in Greek tragedy and lyric poetry considering these in conjunction with examples from classicizing and Romantic German poetry for the purposes of illustration and comparison including works by Goethe Schiller and Herder In addition to establishing the fundamental principle different connotations and aesthetic effects of this important poetic device the volume also demonstrates how the new arguments it offers have the potential to set an agenda for far reaching reconsiderations in literary studies and beyond It mobilizes analytical insights into the inner workings of metonymy by examining three case studies designed to explore the trope in critical practice covering its role in creating a hellenizing style what happens to it in classic German translations of Aeschylus Agamemnon and critically re assessing its modern re appropriations as a structural semiotic paradigm Connecting classical perspectives with modern linguistic and literary theory Rethinking Metonymy is a compelling and authoritative analysis that rehabilitates and brings much needed clarity to an oft neglected literary device Its combination of in depth engagement with classical literature and cross cultural and cross linguistic comparison makes it an invaluable resource not only to specialists in Greek poetry but also to students and scholars engaged in literary analysis translation criticism and structuralist studies across a much wider range of disciplines

Vladimir Nabokov's Lolita Ellen Pifer, 2003 Eight reprinted essays mostly from the 1990s examine various facets of the Russian exile s 1955 novel that has raised literary legal and religious hackles since it was first published Also included is a 1967 interview with Nabokov by Herbert Gold There is no index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Towards a New Material Aesthetics Alastair Renfrew, 2006 Set in the context of the various materialist approaches to literary aesthetics that emerged in the twentieth century Renfrew s study presents a new synthesis of the work of Mikhail Bakhtin 1895 1975 and his circle Russian Formalism and elements of the official ideology of the early Soviet period The book s central aim in offering such a synthesis is to negotiate the poles of postmodernist subjectivism and traditional materialism around which much current literary and critical theory has stagnated and as the title suggests to point the way towards a newly conceived material basis for textual and literary analysis
