Shanghai And Mumbai:

Locating Right to the City in the Global South Tony Samara, Shenjing He, Guo Chen, 2013-01-04 Despite the fact that virtually all urban growth is occurring and will continue to occur in the cities of the Global South the conceptual tools used to study cities are distilled disproportionately from research on the highly developed cities of the Global North With urban inequality widely recognized as central to many of the most pressing challenges facing the world there is a need for a deeper understanding of cities of the South on their own terms Locating Right to the City in the Global South marks an innovative and far reaching effort to document and make sense of urban transformations across a range of cities as well as the conflicts and struggles for social justice these are generating The volume contains empirically rich theoretically informed case studies focused on the social spatial and political dimensions of urban inequality in the Global South Drawing from scholars with extensive fieldwork experience this volume covers sixteen cities in fourteen countries across a belt stretching from Latin America to Africa and the Middle East and into Asia Central to what binds these cities are deeply rooted complex and dynamic processes of social and spatial division that are being actively reproduced These cities are not so much fracturing as they are being divided by governance practices informed by local histories and political contestation and refracted through or infused by market based approaches to urban development Through a close examination of these practices and resistance to them this volume provides perspectives on neoliberalism and right to the city that advance our understanding of urbanism in the Global South In mapping the relationships between space politics and populations the volume draws attention to variations shaped by local circumstances while simultaneously elaborating a distinctive transnational Southern urbanism It provides indepth research on a range of practical and policy oriented issues from housing and slum redevelopment to building democratic cities that include participation by lower income and other marginal groups It will be of interest to students and practitioners alike studying Urban Studies Globalization and Development Infrastructure and

Development Davinder Kaur Gill, 2011 Locating Right to the City in the Global South Tony Roshan Samara, Shenjing He, Guo Chen, 2013 Drawing from scholars with extensive fieldwork experience this volume covers sixteen cities in fourteen countries across a belt stretching from Latin America to Africa and the Middle East and into Asia Central to what binds these cities are deeply rooted complex and dynamic processes of social and spatial division that are being actively reproduced These cities are not so much fracturing as they are being divided by governance practices informed by local histories and political contestation and refracted through or infused by market based approaches to urban development Through a close examination of these practices and resistance to them this volume provides perspectives on neoliberalism and right to the city that advance our understanding of urbanism in the Global South Development-Induced Displacement in India and China Florence Padovani, 2016-08-29 The world seems to have recently discovered India and China as major players in Asia and political and economic connections between the two countries are rapidly growing Beyond the fashionable phenomenon the two countries have much in common and many shared experiences Both are developing countries with dynamic economies focused on lifting their people out of poverty There are also differences as well as India is a democracy while China is an autocratic state and the speed of economic growth is much higher in India This collection provides a comparative analysis of development induced migration in India and China caused by urbanization and dam construction The contributors include scholars from both countries working in both academia and consultancy positions Shanghai and Mumbai Tapati Mukhopadhyay,2001 With reference to India report of survey carried out by Society for Participatory Research in Asia

Cities in a World Economy Saskia Sassen,2018-05-30 Cities in a World Economy examines the emergence of global cities as a new social formation As sites of rapid and widespread developments in the areas of finance information and people global cities lie at the core of the major processes of globalization The book features a cross disciplinary approach to urban sociology using global examples and discusses the impact of global processes on the social structure of cities The Fifth Edition reflects the most current data available and explores recent debates such as the role of cities in mitigating environmental problems the global refugee crisis Brexit and the rise of Donald Trump in the United States The Changing Role of Schools in Asian Societies John Chi-Kin Lee,2007-12-05 Walk into a classroom in Tokyo New York London or Rotterdam and the similarities in structure activity purpose and style will outweigh differences in language dress and ethnic characteristics Learning is regulated and rationed teaching is a process or one way transmission of knowledge students need to be docile and conformist assessment needs to sift and sort the bright from the not so bright and rewards will be given to those who successfully negotiate this regime But are these the kinds of places that can meet the needs of the net generation The Changing Role of Schools in Asian Societies is concerned with the debate about the nature of modern schooling in Asia Traditionally schools are historical constructions reflecting the social economic and political needs of the societies that invest in them As Asia faces the challenges posed by the knowledge economy its schools have taken on a new and quite different importance This informative book outlines the broad policy contexts in which these transformations are taking place and the practical strategies that are needed to meet this objective The authors argue that the future of Asian societies depends on a transformation that requires a fundamental restructuring of schools as we know them while maintaining their long held cultural values This valuable insight provides an overview of educational issues in Asian societies establishes a broad theoretical framework in which these issues can be understood contextualizes issues by providing country case studies acknowledges the important role of culture influencing educational priorities It should be of interest to all those working in education policy and comparative education Re-framing Regional Development Philip Cooke,2013-01-17 Turbulence characterises the current global scene This book uses complementary theoretical approaches to understand and help prescribe policies to re frame the regional development problem in turbulent times These approaches are evolutionary complexity evolutionary economic geography emergence theory and resilience theory From below they address the four major crises creating a perfect storm for societies and economics involving the climate change crisis the energy crisis the banking and financial crisis and the global economic crisis This book analyses and proposes ways in which regional economies in particular are having to be reframed to address these crises First many must evolve in new ways possibly moving back from the service economy towards a new greener form of manufacturing of goods as well as services Accordingly regional economies are innovating in new ways Amongst these are the quest for relatedness within their own regional orbits and promoting modularity as a mode of analysis and a policy stance to stimulate innovation across industry and geographical borders Finally regional economies and societies are discovering that from a resilience perspective they must find answers to the higher levels of governance with which they increasingly struggle In this respect regional economies are in transition and regional processes are emergent The transition seeks to address the four crises involving re balancing re directing and re framing future policy and practice This book describes many of the novel framings involved in understanding the new ways in which this major task is being addressed in theory policy and everyday practice

A TEXTBOOK OF URBAN PLANNING AND GEOGRAPHY SHARMA, SAMEER, 2020-11-01 Generally textbooks on urban geography and urban planning are based on ideas laid out in the west and are unable to explicitly connect those ideas to the way Indians experience their cities This gap is addressed in this book by reconceptualising Indian urban studies The reconceptualisation is done by dissecting western theories concepts paradigms and principles and practices and placing them alongside how Indians experience their urban landscapes Such a comparative analysis allows readers to break from their past understandings of the structure and dynamics of Indian cities as well as enable researchers to make exploratory hypotheses The book will empower students to craft and implement new approaches unconstrained by orthodox theories and biases Primarily intended for the students of Geography and Urban Planning the book covers the evolution of urban structures and dynamics of settlements in India largely after India's Independence There are seven chapters in the book First three chapters describe and explain the evolution of Indian settlements up to the present The next four chapters focus on regions urban planning urban governance and the social landscape of Indian cities Each chapter ends with a set of short and long answer questions

KEY FEATURES Large coverage of the syllabi prescribed in Indian academic institutions Strategically organised text of each chapter for the ease of learning Abundant case studies in each chapter Chapter end short answer long answer and fill in the blank type exercise problems

A History of Future Cities Daniel Brook,2013-02-25 An inspired tour of the post modern city Invigorating Mark Kingwell Harper s Hailed as an original and fascinating book Times Literary Supplement A History of Future Cities is Daniel Brook s captivating investigation of four instant cities St Petersburg Shanghai Mumbai and Dubai that sought to catapult themselves into the future by emulating the West Business World ,2005 Routledge Handbook on Global China Maximilian Mayer,Emilian Kavalski,Marina Rudyak,Xin Zhang,2024-10-22 This innovative Routledge Handbook sheds light on the complex and transformative nature of Global China prompting a re evaluation of existing theories on global and regional dynamics It encourages theoretical innovation methodological reflection and analytical transformation providing new avenues for critical engagement with China s global interactions The chapters propose three key commitments for the study of Global China Advocating for diverse viewpoints and non binary frameworks employing nuanced analysis to understand Beijing s transnational relations and utilizing alternative methodological approaches to explore different trajectories for China in international affairs The Handbook also identifies and avoids epistemic traps that hinder the understanding of Global China such as othering and strategic narcissism It suggests five analytical frameworks related to relationality global capitalist processes language and discourse power planetary scale modernization and experimentalism to guide future research By adopting these frameworks researchers can gain a deeper understanding of the multifaceted factors shaping Global China within the broader global context of cooperation competition and crisis Introduction Chapter 21 and Epilogue of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license The Inconvenient Generation Minhua Ling,2019-10-22 After three decades of massive rural to urban migration in China a burgeoning population of over 35 million second generation migrants living in its cities poses a challenge to socialist modes of population management and urban governance In The Inconvenient Generation Minhua Ling offers the first longitudinal study of these migrant youth from middle school to the labor market in the years after the Shanghai municipal government partially opened its public school system to them Drawing on multi sited ethnographic data Ling follows the trajectories of dozens of children coming of age at a time of competing economic and social imperatives and its everyday ramifications on their sense of identity educational outcomes and citizenship claims Under policies and practices of segmented inclusion they are inevitably funneled through the school system toward a life of manual labor Illuminating the aspirations and strategies of these young men and women Ling captures their experiences against the backdrop of a reemergent global Shanghai Gateways to Globalisation François Gipouloux,2011-01-01 Gateways to Globalisation makes a significant contribution to the understanding of the emerging East Asian regional system of financial centres within the broader global context and how they interact within the global circuits of finance. In particular it focuses on the emergence of the financial centres of Tokyo, Shanghai, Hong Kong and Singapore and the attempts by both national governments and the private sector to position them so that they become more competitive in the global and regional context. The volume shows much historical sensitivity showing that while the increase in the importance of these financial centres is principally post 1945, their emergence has been aided by the deep historical roots that go back several centuries. The book will be of great value in the interpretation of the role of East Asia in what many commentators have called the Asian Century.

Terry McGee, The University of British Columbia, Canada

Gateways to Globalisation cogently demonstrates that Hong Kong, Singapore, Beijing, Shanghai and Tokyo operate as gateways to Asia and as linchpins for Asia to the global economy. The authors' theoretical frameworks and original empirical research support provocative findings that challenge conventional thinking. Tokyo may decline as a global city. As Beijing and Shanghai ride China's rapid growth, they face uncertainty about its future openness to the global economy. Vibrant Hong Kong and Singapore confront challenges from other rising centers.

David Meyer, Washington University in St. Louis, US

This book distinguishes itself in its emphasis on historical and cultural links as well as contemporary globalization processes on large East Asian cities. Arising from a research program and four seminars, the editor has picked scholars who can relate past and present trends. Historical links of Japanese cities are explored. Leading world cities in the region are analysed in their evolution from entrepôts to modern gateways, service integrators, transport hubs and financial centres. It is a study of the integration and interrelationships of East Asian cities in the global economy.

Yue-man Yeung, Chinese University of Hong Kong

Asia's trading and financial hubs have become global cities which frequently have more in common and closer linkages with each other than with their corresponding hinterlands. As this book expounds, these global cities illustrate to what extent world trends deeply penetrate and permeate the national territorial interiors and processes that were otherwise presumed to be controlled by the State.

Gateways to Globalisation is soundly based on accurate and extensive research including perspectives from historians, economists, geographers and sociologists from China, Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong in order to grasp the regional character of trade and finance beyond national borders and traditional academic frameworks. The book documents that today major urban centres such as Tokyo, Beijing, Singapore, Hong Kong and Shanghai, situated on the periphery of the maritime corridor of East Asia, form a system characterised by the intensity of their economic linkages and integration into the world economy. Since the mid 1980s, these major Asian cities have become the worldwide oriented centres for production, trade, finance and research. This collective effort offers, in addition to its regional framework, up to date information that strengthens an original trans disciplinary analysis of a region and its economic characteristics which will be of interest to readers within academia and beyond. This well detailed and thorough work will interest academics and post graduate students in economics, geography, finance, history, regional studies and Asian studies as well as those who have a general
