China's Railway Transformation Junjie Xi, Paco Mejias Villatoro, 2022-12-30 This book investigates China's railway transformation through history along with culture changes and urban development The book begins by looking at the background of China and the history and growth of railway development in China through five key phases followed by assessing the cultural changes in the railway carriage and exploring how these are linked to social equality and national provisions The core of this book aims to analyse the Chinese urban transformation through the development of the high speed rail HSR infrastructure in China Eleven important new HSR stations in mainland China plus the new Hong Kong West Kowloon Station have been selected to contextually explore how HSR infrastructures have affected the development of the Chinese urban context The selected case studies are the stations of Beijing South Wuhan Shanghai Hongqiao Guangzhou South Xi'an North Nanjing South Chengdu East Tianjin West Zhengzhou East Hangzhou East and Hong Kong West Kowloon All of these were built between 2008 and 2018 In these case studies the location and the intentions and success of promoting urban development are analysed and assessed Following this the book further investigates the peculiarities of the new HSR stations in China in comparison with stations in Europe An assessment framework is established to evaluate the Chinese case studies comparatively with significant cases in Europe attending to the urban structure of the area the architectural quality the functional diversity and the quality of the public space generated in the surrounding area

Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature Li-hua Ying, 2009-12-22 Modern Chinese literature has been flourishing for over a century with varying degrees of intensity and energy at different junctures of history and points of locale An integral part of world literature from the moment it was born it has been in constant dialogue with its counterparts from the rest of the world As it has been challenged and enriched by external influences it has contributed to the wealth of literary culture of the entire world In terms of themes and styles modern Chinese literature is rich and varied from the revolutionary to the pastoral from romanticism to feminism from modernism to post modernism critical realism psychological realism socialist realism and magical realism Indeed it encompasses a full range of ideological and aesthetic concerns Historical Dictionary of Modern Chinese Literature presents a broad perspective on the development and history of literature in modern China It offers a chronology introduction bibliography and over 300 cross referenced dictionary entries on authors literary and historical developments trends genres and concepts that played a central role in the evolution of modern Chinese literature Thrown upon the World George Kolber, Charles Kolber, 2018-06-28 It is 1938 when the Kolbers affluent Viennese Jews flee their country for Shanghai after its annexation by the Nazis Eva and her daughter take the Trans Siberian Railroad through war zones where they must confront border guards and Japanese imprisonment Meanwhile her husband Josef and their twin sons travel by ocean liner hiding valuables in crates Similarly in China the politically powerful Gan Chen family finds their lives upended by Japanese invaders Forced to abandon their estate the family seeks refuge in Shanghai While the families adapt to their new lifestyles during the war their children meet Walter Kolber is a handsome violinist Chao Chen is a gifted pianist After a forbidden romance blossoms Chao Chen discovers she is pregnant Without familial blessings the lovers marry in December 1946 and head with their newborn to a refugee camp in Austria As Chao Chen grapples with language and cultural barriers the family is met with turmoil and tragedy Now only time will tell if they will survive their troubles to start a new life in the United States A remarkable true story Thrown upon the World tells the tale of two families brought together during World War II in Shanghai and the twist of fate that split them apart The Columbia Companion to Modern East Asian Literature Joshua S. Mostow, 2003-07-10 This extraordinary one volume guide to the modern literatures of China Japan and Korea is the definitive reference work on the subject in the English language With more than one hundred articles that show how a host of authors and literary movements have contributed to the general literary development of their respective countries this companion is an essential starting point for the study of East Asian literatures Comprehensive thematic essays introduce each geographical section with historical overviews and surveys of persistent themes in the literature examined including nationalism gender family relations and sexuality Following the thematic essays are the individual entries over forty for China over fifty for Japan and almost thirty for Korea featuring everything from detailed analyses of the works of Tanizaki Jun ichiro and Murakami Haruki to far ranging explorations of avant garde fiction in China and postwar novels in Korea Arrayed chronologically each entry is self contained though extensive cross referencing affords readers the opportunity to gain a more synoptic view of the work author or movement The unrivaled opportunities for comparative analysis alone make this unique companion an indispensable reference for anyone interested in the burgeoning field of Asian literature Although the literatures of China Japan and Korea are each allotted separate sections the editors constantly kept an eye open to those writers works and movements that transcend national boundaries This includes for example Chinese authors who lived and wrote in Japan Japanese authors who wrote in classical Chinese and Korean authors who write in Japanese whether under the colonial occupation or because they are resident in Japan The waves of modernization can be seen as reaching each of these countries in a staggered fashion with eddies and back flows between them then complicating the picture further This volume provides a vivid sense of this dynamic interplay

Going to the Countryside Yu Zhang, 2020-03-03 Since the beginning of the twentieth century modern Chinese intellectuals reformers revolutionaries leftist journalists and idealistic youth had often crossed the increasing gap between the city and the countryside which made the act of going to the countryside a distinctively modern experience and a continuous practice in China Such a spatial crossing eventually culminated in the socialist state program of down to the villages movements during the 1960s and 1970s What then was the special significance of going to the countryside before that era Going to the Countryside deals with the cultural representations and practices of this practice between 1915 and 1965 focusing on individual homecoming rural reconstruction revolutionary journeys to Yan an the revolutionary going down to the people as well as going to the frontiers and rural hometowns for socialist construction As part of the larger discourses of enlightenment revolution and socialist industrialization going to the countryside entailed new ways of looking at the world and ordinary people brought about new experiences of space and time initiated new means of human communication and interaction generated new forms of cultural production revealed a fundamental epistemic shift in modern China and ultimately created a new aesthetic social and political landscape As a critical response to the urban turn in the past few decades this book brings the rural back to the central concern of Chinese cultural studies and aims to bridge the city and the countryside as two types of important geographical entities which have often remained as disparate scholarly subjects of inquiry in the current state of China studies Chinese modernity has been characterized by a dual process that created problems from the vast gap between the city and the countryside but simultaneously initiated constant efforts to cope with the gap personally collectively and institutionally The process of crossing two distinct geographical spaces was often presented as continuous explorations of various ways of establishing the connectivity interaction and relationship of these two imagined geographical entities Going to the Countryside argues that this new body of cultural productions did not merely turn the rural into a constantly changing representational space most importantly the rural has been constructed as a distinct modern experiential and aesthetic realm characterized by revolutionary changes in human conceptions and sentiments
