The Shape of Art in the Short Stories of Donald Barthelme Wayne B. Stengel, 1985-01-01      The woman of the crowd Daniela Daniele, 2021-12-28 This book traces the origins of the Postmodern eclectic grammar of linguistic collision back in the Surrealist poetics of ruins Keeping in mind the images of lost direction in the big city as a central figure in the discussion of both the Modern and Postmodern aesthetics of displacement Daniele starts comparing the epiphanic encounters of the Baudelairian fl neur in metropolitan Paris in constant search for the traces of a lost symbolic order with Breton s enigmatic pursuit of Nadja the elusive sphinx in the crowd who moves in a mental territory of puzzling condensations and of ineffable objets trouvés In his visual and written work Marcel Duchamp was probably the first artist to envision the space of the crowd as a trans urban multiple dimension a cool arena of disjunctive encounters contributing to transform the Surrealist erotic space of desire in a cooler open field of performance Deeply influenced by Duchamp s hybrid aesthetics American Postmodern writers such as Donald Barthelme and Thomas Pynchon and the performance artist Laurie Anderson represent metropolis as a geographical incest as a plural entropic semiosphere which transcends the notion of urban community to become the tolerant receptacle of an ethnic and discursive multiplicity an electronic area of linguistic collisions translatable in new fragmented and unfinished narratives Evoking the assemblages of Abstract Expressionists the debris of Simon Rodia junk art and the hybrid language of Postmodern architecture this neo Surrealist narrative discourse transforms the epiphanic traces envisioned by the Baudelairian and Bretonian heroes in partial parodies in enigmatic fragments whose ultimate source transcends the narrator s knowledge The conceptual strategy which is constitutive of these texts implicitly asks the puzzled reader to disentangle the entropic plots immersing him in the midst of a linguistic wilderness where all opposites fact and fiction man and machine man and female enigmatically and humorously coexist novel and short story for postmodern times Chief among them were Kurt Vonnegut Jerzy Kosinski Donald Barthelme Ronald Sukenick Raymond Federman Clarence Major and Gilbert Sorrentino Although their work proved puzzling to reviewers and did not fit the conventions familiar to academic critics these writers found an ally in a young reader named Jerome Klinkowitz Hired to teach Hawthorne and other nineteenth century figures Klinkowitz found his deepest sympathies and most lifelike affinities to be with Vonnegut and company instead Beginning in 1969 he published the first scholarly essays on Vonnegut Kosinski Barthelme and the others in turn By 1975 he was ready to write Literary Disruptions a literary history of what he called this post contemporary period Since then he has written more than thirty books on contemporary fiction and its allied developments in cultural history art music politics and philosophy Keeping Literary Company details Klinkowitz s work with these writers not just researching their fiction and other publications but introducing them to one another and taking part in the business world activities that spread news of their innovations He shows how what they wrote was so much a part of those turbulent times that a new literary generation found itself defined in such works as Slaughterhouse Five Being There and Snow White Here is a fascinating first person account of what these important figures wrote how they wrote it and what it means in the development of American fiction American Fiction Since 1940 Tony Hilfer,2014-09-25 In this remarkable book Tony Hilfer provides a major survey of the wealth of post war American fiction He analyses the major modes and genres of writing from realist to postmodernist metafiction and black humour the fiction of social protest women s writing and the traditions of African American Southern and Jewish American fiction Key writers discussed include William Faulkner Norman Mailer Ralph Ellison Saul Bellow Joseph Heller Vladimir Nabokov and Joyce Carol Oates The book concludes by exploring contemporary trends through detailed case studies of Donald Barthelme and Toni Morrison Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady,2012-12-06 Reader s Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study American Short-story Writers Since World War II. Patrick Meanor,Richard Edward Lee,2001 Focuses on how the declining market for short story writers after World War II saw the migration of these writers to universities where they not only continued to write but established creative writing classes that would in turn inspire and develop new generations of writers of various genres Fiction in the Quantum Universe Susan Strehle,2000-11-09 In this outstanding book Susan Strehle argues that a new fiction has developed from the influence of modern physics She calls this new fiction actualism and within that framework she offers a critical analysis of major novels by Thomas Pynchon Robert Coover William Gaddis John Barth Margaret Atwood and Donald Barthelme According to Strehle the actualists balance attention to questions of art with an engaged meditation on the external actual world While these actualist novels diverge markedly from realistic practice Strehle claims that they do so in order to reflect more acutely what we now understand as real Reality is no longer realistic in the new physical or quantum universe reality is discontinuous energetic relative statistical subjectively seen and uncertainly known all terms taken from new physics Actualist fiction is characterized by incompletions indeterminacy and open endings unsatisfying to the readerly wish for fulfilled promises and completed patterns Gravity's Rainbow for example ends not with a period but with a dash Strehle argues that such innovations in narrative reflect on twentieth century history politics science and discourse Steve Tomasula: The Art and Science of New Media Fiction David Banash, 2015-05-21 Steve Tomasula's work exists at the cutting edges of scientific knowledge and literary techniques As such it demands consideration from multiple perspectives and from critics who can guide the reader through the formal innovations and multimedia involutions while providing critical scientific aesthetic historical and technical contexts This book the first of its kind provides this framework showing readers the richness and relevance of the worlds Tomasula constructs Steve Tomasula's work is redefining the form of the novel reinventing the practice of reading and wrestling with the most urgent questions raised by massive transformations of media and biotechnologies His work not only charts these changes it formulates the problems that we have making meaning in our radically changing technological contexts Vast in scope inventive in form and intimate in voice his novels short stories and essays are read and taught by a surprisingly diverse array of scholars in fields ranging from contemporary experimental writing and literary criticism to the history of science biotechnology and bioart book studies and digital humanities topics as genre and form the role of the reader cultural and ethnic diversity and feminist perspectives on the short story In doing so they apply postmodern theoretical approaches to international short stories be they in the traditional mode the modern mode or the postmodern mode The volume looks at fiction by Edith Wharton Henry James Katherine Mansfield and other authors and at Iranian short fiction the postcolonial short story the fantastic in short fiction and other subjects
