Roberts,2019-01-03 Can scientific explanation ever make reference to God or the supernatural The present consensus is no indeed a naturalistic stance is usually taken to be a distinguishing feature of modern science Some would go further still maintaining that the success of scientific explanation actually provides compelling evidence that there are no supernatural entities and that true science from the very beginning was opposed to religious thinking Science without God Rethinking the History of Scientific Naturalism shows that the history of Western science presents us with a more nuanced picture Beginning with the naturalists of ancient Greece and proceeding through the middle ages the scientific revolution and into the nineteenth century the contributors examine past ideas about nature and the supernatural Ranging over different scientific disciplines and historical periods they show how past thinkers often relied upon theological ideas and presuppositions in their systematic investigations of the world In addition to providing material that contributes to a history of nature and naturalism this collection challenges a number of widely held misconceptions about the history of scientific naturalism

The Shape of the Past John Warwick Montgomery,2008-02-05 Dr Montgomery contends that no one can sit in a house by the side of the road and watch the world go by Everyone is caught up in the flux of human life and there is no naturalistic resting place within human history from which one can gain a universal absolute perspective on man s life Christianity is the only answer to this basic human predicament for it claims and by the resurrection backs up its claim that there is a God and that He entered human history and revealed its essential nature
