Early Pottery Technologies among Foragers in Global Perspective Giulia D'Ercole, Elena A. A. Garcea, Lenka Varadzinová, Ladislav Varadzin, 2024-11-06 This book presents up to date perspectives on pre farming innovations through material practices resource intensification and emerging technologies particularly pottery manufacture It includes original studies on the earliest pottery productions among foragers from different parts of the world based on first hand excavations and laboratory analyses Its broad geographic scope includes Northern and Central Europe Eastern Asia different regions in China Northern Western and Southern Africa and southeastern North America comprising parts of the world previously ignored different regions in Africa and extending beyond the Old World i e North America It also takes into account the differing chronologies of the emergence of pottery before food production which are not limited to the late Pleistocene and early Holocene but extend as late as the middle Holocene e g in Southern Africa This volume offers a fresh and still unexplored global intercultural and interactive discussion on the emergence of pottery By mapping the latest findings and variety of methodological approaches it intends to capture both variability and common denominators of the cultural processes between the end of the Pleistocene and the early mid Holocene in which the production and use of pottery played a significant role among hunter gatherers This book is a fundamental contribution to the understanding of the role of material practices in cultural transformations in late prehistory worldwide and to the debate on how local narratives mirror different social identities meanings and or functions depending on the specific economic context settlement system and cultural landscape It emphasizes how transformative technologies can potentially create radical changes in the way human populations live and interact with each other Ultimately this volume contains valuable reflections and expectations for the future of worldwide pottery research among foragers Redefining Global Markets Erika Majzlíková, 2024-04-17 This book analyses the possible regionalization of global value chains particularly in manufacturing Amidst calls for an industrial renaissance in Europe and a resurgence of manufacturing jobs in the United States the dynamics of global value chains have been reshaped by global pandemics geopolitical tensions and increased automation Employing a multi regional input output model the book scrutinizes the decline in offshoring after the mid 2010s It sheds light on regionalization as a pivotal force redefining global markets and focuses on Europe and North America revealing the strengthening of regional ties Discussing future challenges the book will appeal to scholars students and researchers as well as practitioners and policy makers interested in a better understanding of de globalization nuances connected to the evolving role of manufacturing in global value chains Global Perspectives on Technology Transfer and Commercialization John Sibley Butler, David V. Gibson, 2011-01-01 As we move further into the 21st century increasing emphasis is being placed on the importance of technology transfer Through new research and practices scholars practitioners and policymakers have made great strides in broadening our understanding and ability to implement technology transfer and commercialization processes The fruit of that research is collected in this timely volume Technology transfer is a dynamic area of study that examines traditional topics such as intellectual property management the management of risk market identification the role of public and private labs and the role of universities This volume reflects on how government business and academia influence technology transfer in different countries and how the infrastructure of a country enhances technology and contributes to each country's overall economy Interpreting and adopting the processes of technology transfer and commercialization or building innovative ecosystems is critical to seeing success in this digital age Those leading the surge toward building innovative ecosystems for technology transfer are the fellows of the Institute for Innovation Creativity and Capital IC2 Institute at The University of Texas at Austin Global in its scope of solving market economy problems for this volume the Institute has focused its lens on accelerated knowledge based development Here scholars from 13 countries come together to critique technology transfer from each of their respective nations The results of their contributions lend innovative insight to exactly how different nations are working to maximize technology transfer and commercialization in uncertain times Those with an interest in commercialization and technology transfer from students to scholars practitioners to policymakers will find this important collection of great value

Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics Ian Coxhead, 2014-12-17 The Routledge Handbook of Southeast Asian Economics offers new insights into the rapidly developing economies of Southeast Asia Despite widespread initial deprivation Southeast Asia has achieved and sustained a remarkable rate of growth in the course of which tens of millions have successfully escaped severe poverty Though the economies of the region vary in many dimensions integration into the wider East Asian network of production and trade is a notable common feature one that continues a centuries long history of engagement with global trade A second striking feature is the pace and extent of transformation in the structure of production and in sources of household income in the region which has undergone remarkably rapid industrialization and urban growth However the search for sustained and sustainable growth through and beyond middle income continues to confront pressing economic and policy challenges This Handbook offers a timely and comprehensive overview of Southeast Asian economic development Organized according to the logic of chronological and thematic unity it is structured in these sections Growth and development over the long term Food agriculture and natural resources Trade investment and industrialization Population labor and human capital Poverty and political economy Twenty first century challenges This original Handbook written by experts in their fields is unique in the breadth and depth of its coverage Its forward looking perspective renders it relevant both now and in the future This advanced level reference work will be essential reading for students researchers and scholars of Asian Studies Economics and Southeast Asian studies

The Rise of Asia Prema-chandra Athukorala, 2010-07-12 The Rise of Asia examines emerging trends and patterns of foreign trade and investment in Asia with a view to contributing to the policy debate on how development strategies should be adopted in response to challenges to economic globalization The existing body of knowledge in this subject area has predominantly been shaped by the experiences of the newly industrialized countries NICs in East Asia This volume is inspired by the conviction that generalization from the NIC experience is hazardous because the on going process of economic globalization over the past two decades has dramatically transformed the international context of national development policy making Moreover as embracing market albeit at varying degree and rapidly has now become an Asia wide phenomenon it is vital to look at the issues from a broader relational perspective paying attention to opportunities for intra regional division of labour within the wider context of global economic integration This book will be of interest to students and scholars with an interest in Asian studies economics political economy and globalization
