Madame Benoit Cooks At Home:

Madame Benoit Cooks at Home Jehane Benoît, 1987 HomeBaking Jeffrey Alford, Naomi Duguid, 2016-10-21 Home baking may be a humble art but its roots are deeply planted On an island in Sweden a grandmother teaches her granddaughter how to make slagbrot a velvety rye bread just as she was taught to make it by her grandmother many years before In Portugal village women meet once each week to bake at a community oven while the large stone oven heats up children come running for sweet sugary flatbreads made specially for them In Toronto Naomi makes her grandmother's recipe for treacle tart and Jeffrey makes the truck stop cinnamon buns he and his father loved From savory pies to sweet buns from crusty loaves to birthday cake from old world apple pie to peanut cookies to custard tarts these recipes capture the age old rhythm of turning simple ingredients into something wonderful to eat HomeBaking rekindles the simple pleasure of working with your hands to feed your family And it ratchets down the competitive demands we place on ourselves as home cooks Because in striving for professional results we lose touch with the pleasures of the process with the homey and imperfect with the satisfaction of knowing that you can as a matter of course prepare something lovely and delicious and always have a full cookie jar or some homemade cake on hand to offer Jeffrey Alford and Naomi Duguid collected the recipes in HomeBaking at their source from farmhouse kitchens in northern France to bazaars in Fez They traveled tens of thousands of miles to six continents in search of everyday gems such as Taipei Coconut Buns Welsh Cakes Moroccan Biscotti and Tibetan Overnight Skillet Breads They tasted interpreted photographed and captured not just the recipes but the people who made them as well Then they took these spot on flavors of far away and put them side by side with cherished recipes from friends and family closer to home The result is a collection of treasures cherry strudel from Hungary stollen from Germany bread pudding from Vietnam anise crackers from Barcelona More than two hundred recipes that resonate with the joys and flavors of everyday baking at home and around the world Inexperienced home bakers can confidently pass through the kitchen doors armed with Naomi and Jeffrey's calming and easy to follow recipes A relaxed easy handed approach to baking is they insist as much a part of home baking traditions as are the recipes themselves In fact it's often the last minute recipes semonlina crackers a free form fruit galette or a banana coconut loaf that offer the most unexpected delights Although many of the sweets and savories included here are the products of age old oral traditions the recipes themselves have been carefully developed and tested designed for the home baker in a home kitchen Like the authors previous books HomeBaking offers a glorious combination of travel and great tastes with recipes rich in anecdote insightful photographs and an inviting text that explores the diverse baking traditions of the people who share our world This is a book to have in the kitchen and then again by your bed at night to revisit over and over The Lost Art of Feeding Kids Jeannie Marshall, 2014-01-14 A lively story of raising a child to enjoy real food in a processed world and the importance of maintaining healthy food cultures Why is it so easy to find sugary cereals and dinosaur shaped chicken nuggets in a grocery store but so hard to shop for nutritious simple food for our children If you've ever wondered this you're not alone But it might surprise you to learn that this isn't just an American problem Packaged snacks and junk foods are displacing natural home cooked meals throughout the world even in Italy a place we tend to associate with a healthy Mediterranean diet Italian children traditionally sat at the table with the adults and ate everything from anchovies to artichokes Parents passed a love of seasonal regional foods down to their children and this generational appreciation of good food turned Italy into the world culinary capital we've come to know today When Jeannie Marshall moved from Canada to Rome she found the healthy food culture she expected However she was also amazed to find processed foods aggressively advertised and junk food on every corner While determined to raise her son on a traditional Italian diet Marshall sets out to discover how even a food tradition as entrenched as Italy's can be greatly eroded or even lost in a single generation She takes readers on a journey through the processed food and marketing industries that are re-manufacturing our children's diets while also celebrating the pleasures of real food as she walks us through Roman street markets gathering local ingredients from farmers and butchers At once an exploration of the US food industry's global reach and a story of finding the best way to feed her child The Lost Art of Feeding Kids examines not only the role that big food companies play in forming children's tastes and the impact that has on their health but also how parents and communities can push back to create a culture that puts our kids' health and happiness ahead of the interests of the food industry

Outside the Box Jeannie Marshall, 2012-04-03 A lively cross cultural look at the way packaged and fast foods are marketed to our kids and a meditation on how our eating habits and our family lives are being changed in the process When Canadian journalist Jeannie Marshall moved to Rome with her husband she delighted in Italy's famous culinary traditions But when Marshall gave birth to a son she began to see how that food culture was eroding especially within young families Like their North American counterparts Italian children were eating sugary cereal in the morning and packaged processed salt and fat laden snacks later in the day Busy Italian parents were rejecting local markets for supermercati and introducing their toddlers to fast food restaurants only too happy to imprint their branding on the youngest of customers So Marshall set on a quest to discover why something that we can only call kid food is proliferating around the world How did we develop our seemingly insatiable desire for packaged foods that are virtually devoid of nutrition How can even a mighty food culture like Italy's change in just a generation And why when we should and often do know better do we persist in filling our children's lunch boxes and young bodies with ingredients that can scarcely even be considered food Through discussions with food crusaders such as Alice Waters with chefs in Italy nutritionists fresh food vendors and parents from all over and with big food companies such as PepsiCo and Nestle Marshall gets behind the issues of our children's failing nutrition and serves up a simple recipe for a return to real food
