Mourning a Breast Xi Xi,2024-07-01 In 1989 the Hong Kong cult classic writer Xi Xi was diagnosed with breast cancer and began writing in order to make sense of her diagnosis and treatment Mourning a Breast published two and a half years later is a disarmingly honest and deeply personal account of the author's experience of a mastectomy and of her subsequent recovery. The book opens with her gently rolling up a swimsuit. A beginning swimmer she loves going to the pool eavesdropping on conversations in the changing room shopping for swimsuits. As this routine pleasure is revoked the small loss stands in for the greater one. But Xi Xi's mourning begins to take shape as a form of activism. In a conversational even humorous manner she describes her previous blinkered life of the mind before she came into her body and learned its language. Addressing her reader as frankly and unashamedly as an old friend she coaxes and confesses confronts society's failings and advocates for a universal literacy of the body. Mourning a Breast was heralded as the first Chinese language book to cast off the stigma of writing about illness and to expose the myths associated with breast cancer. A radical and generous book about creating in the midst of mourning. Using language that was deceptively simple almost childlike Xi Xi infused her fiction and poetry with eclectic references to literature cinema art architecture and fairy tales. Her work captured the unease of Hong Kong's transition to Chinese rule gave voice to the city's children and working class residents and helped put it on the literary map. New York Times

HEAT Series 3 Number 8 Alexandra Christie, 2023-04-15 Some things have nothing in common until you put them together says artist and collector Patrick Pound about his series of found photographs in our latest issue. The writers in HEAT Series 3 Number 8 seem similarly drawn to overlooked meaning. In Shopping a short story by Katerina Gibson a young arts worker in Melbourne overcomes an obsession with designer clothing. The late Hong Kong writer Xi Xi in a work of autobiographical fiction processes a cancer diagnosis. Essayist Cameron Hurst finds herself attending a meeting of the Victorian Spiritualists Union after reading Henry Handel Richardson. And poets Judith Beveridge and Paul Muldoon transform unassuming animals people and places into singular moments. Recent praise for HEAT. So slender and elegant nothing wasted nothing grandiose and beautiful work. Helen Garner. Elegantly designed and thoughtfully curated and including work from canonical Australian writers to emerging voices to authors in translation HEAT reminds us how crucial such organs are to the vigour and health of our literary ecosystem. The Saturday Paper. A very beautiful and stylish object long may this new series of HEAT continue. Sarah Holland Batt. I welcome the return of HEAT. Readers and writers alike will revel in its daring audacity bold exploration and innovative celebration of literature. Alexis Wright
