Authenticity and Legitimacy in Minority Theatre Patrice Brasseur, Madelena Gonzalez, 2010-04-16

Contemporary theatre is one of the best ways for ethno cultural minorities to express themselves whether they be of indigenous origin or immigrants It is often used to denounce social injustice and discrimination and more generally it helps to air questions debated in the wider community It may also express itself thanks to the staging of collective memory for it constitutes a privileged space for the exploration of the trauma of the past colonial for example as well as providing a means of effecting the reconfiguration of a new identity or of articulating an uneasiness about that identity Should minority theatre increase its visibility in relation to the mainstream or on the contrary remain on the margins and assert its specificity This question is at the centre of French Canadian experience for example but also applies to other postcolonial societies in Europe and elsewhere In order to maintain its cultural authenticity should this type of theatre distinguish itself from a multiculturalism that runs the risk of political and social recuperation If it is unable to resist the model proposed by globalization and widespread cultural dissemination will it lose its legitimacy Can and should there be a form of popular art at the service of the community The term minority raises questions that will be examined by the articles collected in this volume What is the definition of a minority Does this term refer to experimental and avant garde art forms as well as to ethno cultural drama Contemporary theatre is characterized by an aesthetics of hybridity in what measure is this the case for theatre outside the mainstream The exploration of this kind of theatre necessitates an examination of the very concept of theatre per se Since the development of the electronic media as the privileged vector of culture has not the theatrical genre itself become a minority art form These are some of the pressing questions that this volume will try to address thanks to a cross cultural multidisciplinary approach that aims to reveal the rich diversity of the field under study

Nation, community, self Gioia Angeletti, 2019-01-18T00:00:00+01:00 From the late 1960s until the present day a significant number of women playwrights have emerged in Scottish theatre who have made a pioneering contribution to dramatic innovation and experimentation Despite the critical reassessment of some of these authors in the last twenty years their invaluable achievement in playwriting within and outside Scotland still deserves more thorough investigations and fuller acknowledgement This work explores what is still uncharted territory by examining a selection of representative texts by Ann Marie di Mambro Marcella Evaristi Sue Glover Jackie Kay Liz Lochhead Sharman Macdonald and Joan Ure The three macro thematic areas of the book the rewriting of the Shakespearean canon the representation of female communities and minorities and the conflicts between the self and society find significant and paradigmatic expression in their dramas All seven writers examined in this book have explored new theatrical methods introduced aesthetic innovations and opened new perspectives to engage with the complexities of national community and individual identities This study will surely contribute to wider recognition of their achievement so that their work can never again be described as uncharted territory Two

Irelands Rebecca Pelan, 2005-06-27 The very different histories of the North and South are reflected in their literature While women in the Republic of Ireland have tended to write about social issues sexism crime unemployment and domestic violence women in Northern Ireland focused on their society's historical tension and primarily nationalist and unionist politics However Pelan maintains that feminist ideology has provided contemporary Irish women with an alternate political stance that incorporates gender and nationality ethnicity and allows them to move beyond the usual binaries of politics history and language Irish and English In an analysis enriched by a sophisticated but accessible engagement with contemporary feminist and gender theory Pelan concludes that Irish women's writing whether at the community or mainstream level North or South consistently articulates political issues of direct relevance to the lives of Irish women today As a result such work retains close links with the initial impetus of the second wave of feminism as a political movement and questions the legitimacy of long standing social religious and political conventions From within the framework provided by this second wave argues Pelan Irish women can critique certain masculine ideologies nationalist unionist imperialist and capitalist without forfeiting their own sense of gender and national or ethnic identity The book's significance lies in its placement of women's writing in the center of contemporary political discourse in Ireland and in ensuring that the writing from this period much of it long out of print continues to exist as sociological as well as literary records It will be of interest to a general and scholarly audience especially those in the fields of contemporary Irish writing feminism and literary history Cold Water Oil Fiona Polack, Danine Farquharson, 2021-12-19 Cold Water Oil Offshore Petroleum Cultures is a collection of essays examining how societies conceive of fossil fuel extraction in the inhospitable but fragile waters of the North Atlantic and Arctic oceans What happens offshore matters Currently over a quarter of the world's oil and gas is produced from beneath the seas The offshore petroleum industry is thus a crucial point of origin for global carbon emissions and other environmental harms Cold Water Oil Offshore Petroleum Cultures illuminates ignored histories influential contemporary narratives and emerging energy and environmental futures The volume centres on North Atlantic and Arctic regions the continuing but often strongly contested pursuit of oil and gas in frigid tumultuous and environmentally sensitive seas enforces the lengths to which corporations and governments will go to maintain the centrality of fossil fuels The book's contributors focus on the cultural social and ecological implications of oil and gas extraction in the oceanic territories of Canada Norway the UK Russia the US and the Iupiat of Alaska at a time of profound global uncertainty In conversation with the energy and environmental humanities and critical ocean studies Cold Water Oil considers a region central to debates about climate change and the planet's future Cold Water Oil engages students and researchers interested in climate change energy humanities critical ocean studies and North Atlantic and Arctic issues Made In Scotland Ian Brown, Mark Fisher, 1995 An anthology of new Scottish plays selected by Ian Brown former director of the Traverse theatre and Mark Fisher Editor of Theatre Scotland The Cut by Mike Cullen is A real discovery an explosive thriller Cullen's dialogue is demotic foul mouthed and occasionally bitterly funny and the sense of violence and claustrophobia is often almost unbearably intense The Life of Stuff This brutally funny piece is almost unclassifiable Imagine a collaboration between Joe Orton and William Burroughs and you will have some idea of Simon Donald's play a ruthlessly and compulsively hilarious dark comedy thriller Bondagers by Sue Glover A striking experience the mastery of the play was its rich resonant musicality All brilliantly structured surging with terrific dramatic energy Juliet Allardyce by Duncan McLean It is loud coarse tongued and funny a series of affectionate but telling snapshots which add up to a revealing portrait of the North East as it is now Julie Morrice Scotland on Sunday History of Scottish Women's Writing Douglas Gifford, 2020-03-31 No detailed description available for A History of Scottish Women's Writing British and Irish Dramatists Since World War II John Stanley Bull, 2005 Embraces the work of writers working in theatrical traditions ranging from the classic well made play to the most radical avant garde pieces This variety is indicative of the fact that this period is one of the most important in British drama comparable to the late Elizabethan Jacobean and post Restoration eras in terms of the quantity and quality of new work and surpassing both of them in the sheer variety of theatrical offerings Blue Ball Paul Godfrey, 1995-04-24 Paul Godfrey is so good so nervy and alert with imagination and intelligence Sunday Times The Blue Ball is an imaginative investigation of the experience of Space researched by the playwright among the astronauts themselves This ambitious play questions the politics of a culture in which the wondrous is rendered mundane and what seems commonplace is rendered absurd The Writers Directory 2008 Michelle Kazensky, 2007-06 Features bibliographical biographical and contact information for living authors worldwide who have at least one English publication Entries include name pseudonyms addresses citizenship birth date specialization career information and a bibliography The Writers Directory, 2013 Making Scenes, 1995 Four short plays for young actors Making Scenes 1 is an exciting selection of plays commissioned by the Royal National Theatre for the BT National Connections festival for young actors in 1995 Each play includes Production Notes dealing with setting and staging costume lighting and casting Also included are a set of questions and exercises for workshop classes Scotland and China, 2025-02-20 This volume written by young and established scholars surveys the role of China in Scottish literature and the translation and reception of Scottish literature in China Part 1 considers how the image of China has been constructed by
