Made in the Philippines James A. Tyner, 2004-08-02 The Philippines is the world's largest exporter of temporary contract labor with a huge 800 000 workers a year being deployed on either six month or two year contracts This labor migration is highly regulated by the government private and non governmental non private organizations Tyner argues that migrants are socially constructed or made by these parties and that migrants in turn become political resources Employing a post structural feminist perspective Tyner questions the very ontology of migration

Labor Movement Harald Bauder, 2006-02-23 Throughout the industrialized world international migrants serve as nannies construction workers gardeners and small business entrepreneurs Labor Movement suggests that the international migration of workers is necessary for the survival of industrialized economies The book thus turns the conventional view of international migration on its head it investigates how migration regulates labor markets rather than labor markets shaping migration flows Assuming a critical view of orthodox economic theory the book illustrates how different legal social and cultural strategies towards international migrants are deployed and coordinated within the wider neo liberal project to render migrants and immigrants vulnerable pushing them into performing distinct economic roles and into subordinate labor market situations Drawing on social theories associated with Pierre Bourdieu and other prominent thinkers Labor Movement suggests that migration regulates labor markets through processes of social distinction cultural judgement and the strategic deployment of citizenship European and North American case studies illustrate how the labor of international migrants is systematically devalued and how popular discourse legitimates the demotion of migrants to subordinate labor Engaging with various immigrant groups in different cities including South Asian immigrants in Vancouver foreigners and Sp taussiedler in Berlin and Mexican and Caribbean offshore workers in rural Ontario the studies seek to unravel the complex web of regulatory labor market processes related to international migration Recognizing and understanding these processes Bauder argues is an important step towards building effective activist strategies and for envisioning new roles for migrating workers and people The book is a valuable resource to researchers and students in economics ethnic and migration studies geography sociology political science and to frontline activists in Europe North America and beyond

Caring for the 'Holy Land' Claudia Liebelt,2011-11-01 In Israel as in numerous countries of the global North Filipina women have been recruited in large numbers for domestic work typically as live in caregivers for the elderly The case of Israel is unique in that the country has a special significance as the Holy Land for the predominantly devout Christian Filipina women and is at the center of an often violent conflict which affects Filipinos in many ways In the literature migrant domestic workers are often described as being subject to racial discrimination labour exploitation and exclusion from mainstream society Here the author provides a more nuanced account and shows how Filipina caregivers in Israel have succeeded in creating their own collective spaces as well as negotiating rights and belonging While maintaining transnational ties and engaging in border crossing journeys these women seek to fulfill their dreams of a better life During this process new socialities and subjectivities emerge that point to a form of global citizenship in the making consisting of greater social economic and political rights within a highly gendered and racialized global economy

Multinational Maids Anju Mary Paul,2017-09-28 Explores how global markets middlemen and destination aspirations drive the stepwise migrations of Filipino and Indonesian migrant domestic workers

Migration Revolution Filomeno V. Aguilar Jr.,2014-04-11 Since the 1960s overseas migration had become a major factor in the economy of the Philippines It has also profoundly influenced the sense of nationhood of both migrants and nonmigrants Migrant workers learned to view their home country as part of a plural world of nations and they shaped a new sort of Filipino identity while appropriating the modernity of the outside world where at least for a while they operated as insiders The global nomadism of Filipino workers brought about some fundamental reorientations It revolutionized Philippine society reignited a sense of nationhood imposed new demands on the state reconfigured the class structure and transnationalized class and other social relations even as it deterritorialized the state and impacted the destinations of migrant workers Philippine foreign policy now takes surprising turns in consideration of migrant workers and Filipinos living abroad Many tertiary education institutions aim deliberately at the overseas employability of local graduates And the Fil foreign offspring of unions with partners from other nationalities add a new inflection to Filipino identity

The Business of War James A. Tyner,2017-11-30 Since the cessation of major combat operations in Iraq approximately 120 people either contract workers or private soldiers have been abducted with one third being executed The largest contingent of these workers has been provided by the Philippines Through a specific though not exclusive focus on the Philippines connection this book considers the myriad ways in which transnational labour migration intersects with the occupation of Iraq Also examining the role of the USA in the Middle East the book places the war on terror within the practices of neoliberalism but also links this with migration issues and argues that it is all part of a larger business of conflict

Southeast Asian Migration Khatharya Um, Sofia Gaspar, 2015-10-01 Southeast Asia has long been a crossroad of cultural influence and transnational movement but the massive migration of Southeast Asians throughout the world in recent decades is historically unprecedented Dispersal compelled by economic circumstance political turmoil and war engenders personal familial and spiritual dislocation and provokes a questioning of identity and belonging This volume features original works by scholars from Asia America and Europe that highlight these trends and perspectives on Southeast Asian migration within and beyond the Asia Pacific region Adopting an interdisciplinary approach with contributions from sociology political science anthropology and history and anchored in empirical case studies from various Southeast Asian countries it extends the scope of inquiry beyond the economic concerns of migration and beyond a single country source or destination and disciplinary focus Analytic focus is placed on the forces and factors that shape migration trajectories and migrant incorporation experiences in Asia and Europe the impact of migration and immigration status on individuals families and institutions on questions of equity inclusion and identity and the triangulated relationships between diasporic communities the sending and receiving countries Of particular importance is the scholarly attention to lesser known populations and issues such as Vietnamese in Poland children and the 1.5 generation immigrants health and mental consequences of state sponsored violence and protracted encampment ethnic media and the challenges of both transnational parenting and family reunification In examining the complex and creative negotiations that immigrants engage locally and transnationally in their daily lives it foregrounds immigrant resilience in the strategies they adopt not only to survive but thrive in displacement

Iraq, Terror, and the Philippines' Will to War James A. Tyner, 2005-04-20 After September 11 2001 United States President George W Bush put together a Coalition of the Willing From the very beginning this coalition included the Philippines a willing participant in the U S led invasion and occupation of Iraq and the larger War on Terror This timely and persuasive book argues that the Philippines recent foreign policy must be understood by considering three factors the crucial role of overseas employment to the Philippine economy the mendicant relationship between the Philippines and the United States and the Catholicism of Philippine President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo Between September 11 and August 4 2004 the Philippine State identified itself as a loyal and supportive member of the Coalition of the Willing in part to take advantage of the labor opportunities in the reconstruction efforts of Iraq However in the face of mounting violence and instability in the war torn country the Philippines became increasingly reluctant to actively participate in the coalition When

Angelo de la Cruz a Filipino truck driver was kidnapped the Philippine government withdrew its forces from Iraq This decision can only be understood in the context of Macapagal Arroyo s political fundamentalism Specifically Macapagal Arroyo believed that it was God s will to spare the life of de la Cruz This study of the Philippines recent foreign policy examines the interconnections of international relations transnational labor migration military conflict theology and terrorism It is unique in its explicit examination of peripheral states participation in the War on Terror the invasion of Iraq and the Coalition of the Willing as well as its willingness to discuss the religious context of a state s foreign policy

Engendering Transnational Voices Guida Man,Rina Cohen,2015-05-04 Engendering Transnational Voices examines the transnational practices and identities of immigrant women youth and children in an era of global migration and neoliberalism addressing such topics as family relations gender and work schooling remittances cultural identities caring for children and the elderly inter and multi generational relationships activism and refugee determination Expressions of power resistance agency and accommodation in relation to the changing concepts of home family and citizenship are explored in both theoretical and empirical essays that critically analyze transnational experiences discourses cultural identities and social spaces of women youth and children who come from diverse racial ethnic and cultural backgrounds are either first or second generation transmigrants are considered legal or undocumented and who enter their adopted country as trafficked workers domestic workers skilled professionals or students The volume gives voice to individual experiences and focuses on human agency as well as the social economic political and cultural processes inherent in society that enable or disable immigrants to mobilize linkages across national boundaries Contemporary Ethnic Geographies in America Christopher A. Airriess,2015-09-28 Ethnic diversity has marked the United States from its inception and it is impossible to separate ethnicity from an understanding of the United States as a country and Americans as a people Since the 1965 Immigration and Nationality Act the United States has experienced watershed transformations in its social cultural and ethnic geographies Considering the impact of these wide ranging changes this unique text examines the experiences of a range of ethnic groups in both historical and contemporary context It begins by laying out a comprehensive conceptual framework that integrates immigration theory globalization transnational community formation and urban cultural and economic geography The contributors then present a rich set of case studies of the key Latin American Asian American and Middle Eastern communities comprising the vast majority of newer immigrants Each case offers a brief historical overview of the group s immigration experience and settlement patterns and discusses its contemporary socioeconomic dynamics All these communities have transformed and been transformed by the places in which they have settled Exploring these changing communities places and landscapes this book offers a nuanced understanding of the evolution of America s contemporary ethnic geographies Rethinking Unequal Exchange Salimah Valiani,2012-03-07 Rethinking Unequal Exchange traces the structural forces that have created the conditions for the increasing use production and circulation of temporary migrant nurses worldwide Salimah Valiani explores the political economy of health care of three globally important countries in the importing and exporting of temporary migrant nurses the Philippines the world's largest supplier of temporary migrant nurses the United States the world's largest demander of internationally trained nurses and Canada which is both a supplier and a demander of internationally trained nurses Using a world historical approach Valiani demonstrates that though nursing and other caring labour is essential to human social and economic development the exploitation of care workers is escalating Valiani cogently shows how the global integration of nursing labour markets is deepening unequal exchange between the global North and the global South

Language in Late Capitalism Alexandre Duchêne, Monica Heller, 2012-04-23 This book examines the ways in which our ideas about language and identity which used to be framed in national and political terms as a matter of rights and citizenship are increasingly recast in economic terms as a matter of added value It argues that this discursive shift is connected to specific characteristics of the globalized new economy in what can be thought of as late capitalism Through ten ethnographic case studies it demonstrates the complex ways in which older nationalist ideologies which invest language with value as a source of pride get bound up with newer neoliberal ideologies which invest language with value as a source of profit The complex interaction between these modes of mobilizing linguistic resources challenges some of our ideas about globalization hinting that we are in a period of intensification of modernity in which the limits of the nation State are stretched but not yet undone At the same time this book argues this intensification also calls into question modernist ways of looking at language and identity requiring a more serious engagement with capitalism and how it constitutes symbolic including linguistic as well as material markets

Multilingual Sydney Alice Chik, Phil Benson, Robyn Moloney, 2018-11-07 The rise of global mobility has had a deep impact on the study of urban multilingualism Once associated with research on minority speech communities and inner city ethnolinguistic enclaves Chinatowns Little Italies etc it is now concerned much more with the use of multiple languages in diverse neighbourhoods across the city In this book the authors take an innovative approach that builds on previously published work in two ways First it focuses on a single city and second it adopts a multidisciplinary approach to multilingualism By examining the phenomenon of multilingualism in a single city from a range of perspectives this book paints a more comprehensive picture of the current dimensions of urban multilingualism. A unique feature of this book is the inclusion of contributions from scholars with expertise in education, geography, media, health, communication, and international studies, in addition to community practitioners. Sydney is the largest city in Australia and on most counts it is also among the most linguistically diverse cities in the world. As such, it is an ideal site for a multidisciplinary study of urban multilingualism. The selection of 18 multidisciplinary case studies on multilingualism in Sydney, Australia, represents some of the strongest and most innovative research on urban multilingualism in the world today. This book examines how multilingualism permeates institutional and everyday practice in the city, raising important questions about what a multilingual city can and should be.

Trans-speakerism Takaaki Hiratsuka, 2025-08-18 This pioneering exploration of trans-speakerism takes readers on a journey that redefines the foundations of language education discourse. This edited volume serves as a vital contribution, bringing together assorted empirical studies and discussions contributed by scholars with various linguistic backgrounds and scholarly experiences from around the world to confront and deconstruct the enduring influence of native-speakerism. At the heart of this work is the innovative concept of trans-speakerism, which moves beyond historical bifurcated markers for language speakers. Via the adoption of all-embracing terminology, global speakers of English (GSEs), global teachers of English (GTEs), and global Englishes researchers (GERs), we propose a richer, more contextual understanding that shines a light on individual agency and multiplicity. This volume therefore stands out not only for its theoretical insights but also for its ability to inspire change. We demonstrate new ways to visualize entrenched power dynamics in language education by asserting the strengths and experiences of all practitioners and researchers whilst honoring their multifaceted identities beyond reductive linguistic categorizations. Framing language education and its related fields through the prism of trans-speakerism unveils new possibilities for both practitioners and researchers to refurbish traditional hierarchies and herald a future of inclusive excellence.

Migration Michael Samers, 2009-12-07 Presents an introduction to migration and immigration in a global context. This book offers a critical, multi-disciplinary approach to the subject, borrowing from human geography, political science, social anthropology, and sociology.

Intimate Encounters Lieba Faier, 2009 Lieba Faier investigates the processes by which Filipina women who emigrated to work in rural Japan in hostess bars have overcome initial hostilities to become regarded as ideal traditional Japanese brides. Intimate Encounters shows how changes to culture and identity come about through ordinary interpersonal exchanges.

In the Name of Women's Rights Sara R. Farris, 2017-04-27 Sara R. Farris examines the demands for women's rights from an unlikely collection of right-wing nationalist political parties, neoliberals, and some feminist theorists and policy makers. Focusing on contemporary France, Italy, and the Netherlands, Farris labels this exploitation and co-optation of feminist themes by anti-Islam and xenophobic campaigns as femonationalism. She shows that by characterizing Muslim males as dangerous to western societies and as oppressors of women, and by emphasizing the need to rescue Muslim and migrant women, these groups use gender equality to justify their racist rhetoric and policies This practice also serves an economic function Farris analyzes how neoliberal civic integration policies and feminist groups funnel Muslim and non western migrant women into the segregating domestic and caregiving industries all the while claiming to promote their emancipation In the Name of Women s Rights documents the links between racism feminism and the ways in which non western women are instrumentalized for a variety of political and economic purposes
