Paul Pogba: The Maestro of the Lawns Fabricio Sales Silva, 2025-04-23. I've always believed that anything is possible if you work hard, keep the faith, and never give up on who you really are. When I look back, I see more than just victories or defeats; I see lessons. I remember the hardships my family faced, the strength of my mother Yeo Moriba, who always taught me that love and determination can overcome any obstacle. She used to say, "Paul, you don't have to be like anyone else. Be you, and that will be more than enough." These words were my guide, especially in the moments when I felt lost or challenged. Football has always been my refuge, my passion, and my school of life. It wasn't just one game; it was the way I learned about discipline, teamwork, and resilience. There were times when they doubted me, questioned my choices, but I never allowed outside voices to silence my inner confidence. I learned that if you know your worth, no one can take it away from you. I want you to know that greatness is within you. Maybe you don't see it yet, maybe the world tries to convince you that it's not there. But believe me, it is. And it shows up when you're true to yourself, when you work hard and never give up. Remember that mistakes are part of the journey, and it is through them that you learn and grow. Accept your flaws, but never settle for them. Use them as stepping stones to climb even higher.

The Maestro, the Magistrate and the Mathematician Tendai Huchu, 2016-02-15. The Hairdresser of Harare, which the New York Times Book Review called a fresh and moving account of contemporary Zimbabwe, announced Tendai Huchu as a shrewd and funny social commentator. In The Maestro, the Magistrate, the Mathematician, Huchu expands his focus from Zimbabwe to the lives of expatriates in Edinburgh, Scotland. The novel follows three Zimbabwean men as they struggle to find places for themselves in Scotland. As he wanders Edinburgh with his Walkman on a constant loop of the music of home, the Magistrate, a former judge now a health aide, tries to find meaning in new memories. The depressed and quixotic Maestro, gone AWOL from his job, stocking shelves at a grocery store, escapes into books. And the youthful Mathematician enjoys a carefree and hedonistic graduate school life until he can no longer ignore the struggles of his fellow expatriates. In this novel of ideas, Huchu deploys satire to thoughtful end in what is quickly becoming his signature mode. Shying from neither the political nor the personal, he creates a humorous but increasingly somber picture of love, loss, belonging, and politics in the Zimbabwean diaspora.
