

Water Lilies
J.M.W. Turner
1844
Oil on canvas
The painting 'Water Lilies' by J.M.W. Turner is a masterpiece of the Impressionist movement. It depicts a pond in the gardens of the House of St. John, Richmond, Surrey, where Turner spent much of his time. The painting is characterized by its soft, blended colors and visible brushstrokes, which capture the fleeting light and atmosphere of the scene. The composition is dominated by the large, round lily pads and the delicate pink flowers that float on the water's surface. The background shows a hint of the distant shoreline, with some foliage and a small building visible in the distance. The overall effect is one of tranquility and natural beauty, reflecting Turner's deep appreciation for the English landscape.
