Money And Modernity State And Local Currencies In Melanesia:

Money and Modernity David Akin, Joel Robbins, 1999 This collection of original essays explores money and its social dynamic in eight different Melanesian communities in order to determine why the people of Melanesia continue to use traditional kinds of currency such as shells alongside more modern types When the answer to this question is examined in relation to the use of money in other countries an entirely new model for thinking about money develops Mimesis and Pacific Transcultural Encounters Jeannette Mageo, Elfriede Hermann, 2017-10-01 How do images circulating in Pacific cultures and exchanged between them and their many visitors transform meanings for all involved This fascinating collection explores how through mimesis wayfarers and locales alike borrow images from one another to expand their cultural repertoire of meanings or borrow images from their own past to validate their identities A Cultural History of Money in the Modern Age Taylor C. Nelms, David Pedersen, 2021-03-11 Bracketed by global financial crises and economic downturns the modern age has been defined by debates about and transformations of money The period witnessed the consolidation of national currencies and monetary policies as well as the diversification of payment technologies and the proliferation of financial instruments Throughout even as it appeared abstracted by finance and depoliticized by expert ideologies money was revealed again and again to be a powerful medium of cultural imagination and practical inventiveness as well as the site of public and political struggles Modern money both as a form of liquidity and as a claim on wealth remains deeply unsettled caught between private and public interests and subject to epic struggles over the infrastructures of value creation and circulation and their distributional consequences Drawing upon a wealth of visual and textual sources A Cultural History of Money in the Modern Age presents essays that examine key cultural case studies of the period on the themes of technologies ideas ritual and religion the everyday art and representation interpretation and the issues of the age The Melanesian World Eric Hirsch, Will Rollason, 2019-03-28 This wide ranging volume captures the diverse range of societies and experiences that form what has come to be known as Melanesia It covers prehistoric historic and contemporary issues and includes work by art historians political scientists geographers and anthropologists The chapters range from studies of subsistence ritual and ceremonial exchange to accounts of state violence new media and climate change The Melanesian world assembled here raises questions that cut to the heart of debates in the human sciences today with profound implications for the ways in which scholars across disciplines can describe and understand human difference This impressive collection of essays represents a valuable resource for scholars and students alike Wayward Women Holly Wardlow, 2006-05-08 Analyzes female agency gendered violence and transactional sex in contemporary Papua New Guinea Focusing on Huli passenger women this work explores the socio economic factors that push women into the practice of transactional sex and asks how these transactions might be an expression of resistance or even revenge Engaging with Capitalism Fiona McCormack, Kate Barclay, 2013-05-14 The volume addresses how capitalism has been very effective in generating wealth and technological innovation but has also been associated with social inequity and environmental damage. Its inherent flaws have been highlighted by the escalation of ecological problems arising from growth oriented capitalism and various economic crises.

Expressive Genres and Historical Change Andrew Strathern, 2017-07-05 This collection of essays edited by leading scholars in the field focuses on how expressive genres such as music, dance and poetry are of enduring significance to social organization. Research from New Guinea, Indonesia and Taiwan is used to assess how historical changes modify these forms of expression to adjust to the social and political needs of the moment. The volume is unique in exploring the significance of expressive genres for the social processes of coping with and adjusting to change either from outside forces or from internal ones. The contributions detail first hand fieldwork often conducted over a period of many years and with each contributor bringing their experience to bear on both the aesthetic and the analytical aspects of their materials. Comparative in scope the volume covers Austronesian and non Austronesian speakers in the wider Indo Pacific region.

A Papuan Plutocracy John Liep, 2009-08-31 This book of classic scope is a monograph on a Melanesian society, an exploration of ranked exchange and a bold critique of anthropological exchange theory. John Liep unravels the complex society and exchange system on Rossel Island, east of New Guinea. At centre stage is the famous Rossel Island money, a hierarchy of more than twenty classes of sea shells displayed in payment rituals such as bridewealth and pig feasts. High ranking shells are monopolized by big men who control exchange and dominate social life on the island. Theories of reciprocity and gift exchange with their built in utopian assumption of social equality, Liep finds, cannot account for a system of ranked exchange. Instead, exchange is unequal and money an instrument of distinction and power. Liep argues that ranked exchange has remained undiscovered as a general phenomenon. Still found in some Pacific societies, it was formerly widespread in Oceania and beyond. The book will be essential to students of indigenous currencies and exchange theory and of interest to economic anthropologists and Oceanists.

Moral Economic Transitions in the Mongolian Borderlands Hedwig Amelia Waters, 2023-06-15 Since the early 1990s, Mongolia began its hopeful transition from socialism to a market democracy, becoming increasingly dependent on international mining revenue. Both shifts were promised to herald a new age of economic plenty for all. Now, roughly 30 years on, many of Mongolia's poor and rural feel that they have been forgotten. Moral Economic Transitions in the Mongolian Borderlands describes these shifts from the viewpoint of the self-proclaimed excluded, the rural township of Magtaal on the Chinese border. In the wake of socialism, the population of this resource rich area found itself without employment and state institutions yet surrounded by lush nature, 30 kilometres from the voracious Chinese market. A two-tiered resource extractive political economic system developed. Whilst large scale, formal, legally sanctioned conglomerates arrived to extract oil and land for international profits, the local residents grew increasingly dependent on the Chinese funded informal, illegal cross border wildlife trade. More than a story about rampant capitalist extraction in the resource frontier, this book intimately details the complex inner world's moral ambiguities and emergent collective politics.

constructed by individuals who feel caught in political economic shifts largely outside of their control Offering much needed nuance to commonplace descriptions of Mongolia's post socialist transition this study presents rich ethnographic detail through the eyes and voices of the state's most geographically marginalized It is of interest not only to experts of political economy and post socialist transition but also to non academic readers intrigued by the interplay of value's and capitalism

Mosko,Fred

Damon,2005-10-01 Over the past two decades chaos theory the perception of order previously hidden in phenomena of apparent randomness and disorder has fundamentally transformed the natural sciences In recent years numerous scholars in the social sciences and humanities have attempted to adapt the insights of chaos theory to their studies of human cultural and social systems Several of the world's leading anthropologists such as Roy Wagner Marshall Sahlins Marilyn Strathern and Arjun Appadurai have similarly drawn upon particular elements of chaos theory for their inspiration but as yet there is no focused comprehensive treatment of the applicability of chaos theory to anthropology's distinctive ethnographic and cross cultural materials This edited volume fills the gap with both accessible theoretical discussions of chaos theory applications in anthropology and detailed ethnographic and historical illustrations from Africa and Melanesia Archaeology of
