FAO/WFP Crop and Food Security Assessment Mission (CFSAM) to the Lebanese Republic FAO; WFP, 2024-11-19 At the request of the Ministry of Agriculture MoA a joint FAO WFP Crop and Food Security Assessment Mission CFSAM visited the country from 15 to 28 July 2024 to estimate the 2024 crop production identify factors that affected production forecast staple food import requirements for the 2024 25 marketing year July June analyse the domestic food market and assess the acute food security situation The Mission identified measures to address some of the most pressing challenges in the agriculture sector with the aim of improving national food security and safety as well as strengthening the performance of the sector in line with the Lebanon National Agriculture Strategy NAS 2021 2025 The escalating conflict since September 2024 poses serious risks to agricultural production which has been an important source of income and employment since the financial collapse which started in October 2019 endangering its ability to support livelihoods especially for vulnerable communities The CFSAM was conducted at the end of July 2024 prior to the recent expansion in the intensity of the South border conflict taking place in Lebanon since 8 October 2024 At the time of finalization of this report the ongoing conflict had further intensified and expanded beyond South leading to the displacement of up to an estimated 1 million people inside the country according to Lebanese authorities with more than 258 000 persons between Lebanese and Syrian refugees having crossed the border to the Syrian Arab Republic as well as of 10 October 2024 Special report. 2023 FAO/WFP Crop and Food Security Assessment Mission (CFSAM) to the Republic of Tajikistan Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2023-12-13 At the request of the government a joint FAO WFP Crop and Food Security Assessment Mission CFSAM visited the country from 24 June to 14 July 2023 to estimate the 2023 crop production forecast cereal import requirements for the 2023 24 marketing year July June The mission held extensive meetings to discuss the status of the agricultural sector and the 2023 production prospects with staff of various relevant government institutions in particular the Ministry of Agriculture MoA the Agency on Statistics AoS under the President of the Republic of Tajikistan the Agency for Hydrometeorology AfH under the Committee of Environmental Protection and the Agency for Land Reclamation and Irrigation ALRI In addition the mission held consultations with staff of the United States Agency for International Development USAID Development Alternatives Incorporated DAI and the International Food Policy Research Institute IFPRI The mission proposes a series of cost effective measures to address some of the most pressing structural challenges to the agricultural sector with a view to contributing to national food security objectives and strengthening agricultural resilience of the agricultural sector in line with the National Development Strategy Hunger: Theory, Perspectives and Reality Amitava Mukherjee,2017-11-30 Hunger is an issue which has been subject to much rigorous intellectual examination by economists philosophers sociologists NGOs and governments This volume provides a critical overview of current academic and political perspectives and then compares these views from the non hungry people with those of the hungry particularly from a broad range of poor communities in India Their views are gathered using participatory rural appraisal techniques and the scale of the material presented is unprecedented Not surprisingly the comparisons show that the perceptions of the hungry are fundamentally different from those of the non hungry It makes compelling suggestions about how best policy makers can attempt to eliminate hunger based on what the hungry themselves suggest The book also draws attention to the critical role of Common Property Resources and women in the fight against under nutrition which have so far been largely ignored Critical Food Studies in Asia Arya Parakkate Vijayaraghavan,Dishari Chattaraj,2024-10-30 This book offers a curated collection of scholarship that significantly contributes to the shaping of Critical Food Studies in Asia Drawing on a machine generated literature review of select Springer publications it highlights the critical turn in Food Studies rooted in the recognition that everyday social discourses surrounding food embody complex interrelations of power dynamics identity politics and ideological underpinnings The book maps out key conceptual frameworks methods and methodologies from various disciplines offering insights into the understanding and analysis of foodways and practices The editors introductions accompanying the structured reviews open up discussions on prominent trajectories frameworks and future research scope in the area making it an essential reference point for scholars educators and students alike It also initiates deliberations on the complexities of working within a heterogeneous space like Asia while exploring its potential to evolve newer frameworks and alternative knowledge systems to critically engage with gastronomic practices The auto summaries have been generated by a recursive clustering algorithm via the Dimensions Auto summarizer by Digital Science The editors of this book selected which SN content should be auto summarized and decided its order of appearance Please be aware that these are extractive auto summaries which consist of original sentences but are not representative of its original paper since we do not show the full length of the publication Please note that only published SN content is represented here and that machine generated books are still at an experimental stage

Implications of Economic Policy for Food Security Anne Margaret Thomson, Manfred Metz, Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 1999-01-01 A manual aimed at helping policy analysts improve their understanding of the concept of food security and the problems related to it Food security is defined as having an available stable and accessible food supply for each human being The food system including the production and transformation of food is studied to show the causes of food insecurity how international macro level and agricultural sector policies affect the food system and how national and international policies that could improve food security can be identified

Food Security, Food Prices and Climate Variability Molly Brown, 2014-06-05 The agriculture system is under pressure to increase production every year as global population expands and more people move from a diet mostly made up of grains to one with more meat dairy and processed foods This book uses a decade of primary research to examine how weather and climate as measured by variations in the growing season using satellite remote sensing has affected agricultural production food prices and access to food in food insecure regions of the world The author reviews environmental economics and multidisciplinary research to describe the connection between global environmental change changing weather conditions and local staple food price variability The context of the analysis is the humanitarian aid community using the guidance of the USAID Famine Early Warning Systems Network and the United Nations World Food Program in their response to food security crises These organizations have worked over the past three decades to provide baseline information on food production through satellite remote sensing data and agricultural yield models as well as assessments of food access through a food price database These datasets are used to describe the connection and to demonstrate the importance of these metrics in overall outcomes in food insecure communities

Assessing Vulnerability to Global Environmental Change Richard J. T. Klein, Anthony G. Patt, 2012-05-16 Assessing the vulnerability of human populations to global environmental change particularly climate change is now the main imperative of research and international action However much of the research into vulnerability is not designed to feed directly into decision making and policy creating a gap between the knowledge created by researchers and what is required by decision makers This book seeks to rectify this problem and bridge the gap. It discusses vulnerability as the central theme and brings together many different applications from disaster studies, climate change impact studies and several other fields and provides the most comprehensive synthesis of definitions, theories, formalization and applications to date, illustrated with examples from different disciplines, regions and periods and from local through to regional, national and international levels. Case study topics cover sea level rise, vulnerability to changes in ecosystem services, assessing the vulnerability of human health and double exposure to climate change and trade liberalization amongst other issues. Research outcomes stress that science policy dialogues must be transparent to be effective and concentrate on a mutual understanding of the concepts used. A key research finding is that the most useful information for decision makers is that which shows the separate causes and drivers of vulnerability rather than presenting vulnerability in an aggregated form. The book concludes with a unifying framework for analysing integrated methodologies of vulnerability assessment and guiding how research and policy can be linked to reduce vulnerability.

Food Aid After Fifty Years Christopher B. Barrett, Dan Maxwell, 2007-05-07 This book analyzes the impact food aid programmes have had over the past fifty years, assessing the current situation as well as future prospects. Issues such as political expediency, the impact of international trade and exchange rates are put under the microscope to provide the reader with a greater understanding of this important subject matter. This book will prove vital to students of development economics and development studies and those working in the field.

Lake Victoria Monitored from Space Joseph Awange, 2020-12-17 This book employs a suite of remotely sensed products and advanced technologies to provide the first comprehensive space based sensing of Lake Victoria, the world's second largest freshwater lake that supports a livelihood of more than 42 million people, modulates regional climate but faces myriads of challenges. Proper understanding of the lake and changes in its physical dynamics, e.g. water level, shorelines and areal dynamics resulting from the impacts of climate variation and climate change as well as anthropogenic, e.g. hydropower and irrigation, is important for its management as well as for strategic development before, during and after climate extremes, e.g. floods and droughts, in order to inform policy formulations, planning and mitigation measures. Owing to its sheer size and lack of research resources, commitment by regional governments that hamper its observations, however, it is a daunting task to undertake studies on Lake Victoria, relying solely on in situ boots on the ground measurements which are sparse, missing in most cases, inconsistent or restricted by governmental red tapes. To unlock the potentials of Lake Victoria, this book argues for the removal of obsolete Nile treaties signed between Britain, Egypt and Sudan in the 1920s and 1950s which prohibits its utilization by the upstream countries. The book is useful to those in water resources management and policy formulations, hydrologists, environmentalists, engineers and researchers. In a unique cross disciplinary approach, the book articulates the various climatic impacts and explanations from natural and anthropogenic origins which affected Lake Victoria and its vicinity, including the drastic increase and depletion of water level in the Lake and dams, floods and droughts, water quality, security, crop health, food security and economic implications With no exception as in his many publications Joseph L Awange used data analysis methodologies including filtering adjustment theory and robust statistics to quantify the hydrologic and other parameters and their estimated uncertainties The Book is recommended for readers from a diverse disciplines including physical and social sciences policy law engineering and disaster management Professor C K Shum Ohio State University Advanced Community Nutrition Mr. Rohit Manglik,2024-03-06 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels
