Statistical Reference Index ,1986 Monitoring the Future, National Survey Results on Drug Use: Secondary school students , Reflections of Eminent Economists Michael Szenberg,Lall Ramrattan,2004-01-01 We are indebted to Michael Szenberg s persuasive powers in eliciting the self analyses of economists For these insights the budding economist as well as the historian of thought should be grateful From the foreword by Kenneth J Arrow Persuasive Communication and Drug Abuse Prevention Lewis Donohew,Howard E. Sypher,William J. Bukoski,2012-12-06 The history of drug abuse prevention campaigns suggests limitations in producing measurable changes in behavior In the past there was concern over the possibility of such publicity actually encouraging interest in drug use rather than discouraging such behavior Although little or no scientifically sound empirical evidence has been found to support such a view several social science textbooks still refer to this as something of which to be wary Reviews of early research appear to indicate inadequate methods and a lack of rigor in theory testing In recent years however research in communication and its uses in drug abuse prevention has become considerably more sophisticated and communication is being used far more effectively In this book the editors bring together some of the most successful drug abuse prevention researchers in the country along with other experts in this field or in persuasive communication to address use and effects of both mass media and interpersonal strategies This collection illustrates just how far the study of public influence through mass media has come especially regarding such a vital relevant issue as drug abuse prevention Leading Indicators for Healthy People 2010 ,1998

O'Malley, 1994 National Survey Results on Drug Use from the Monitoring the Future Study, 1975-1993: Secondary school students Lloyd Johnston, Patrick M. O'Malley, Jerald G. Bachman, 1994 This report summarizes a national survey of drug use and related attitudes among American secondary school students All of its data came from an ongoing national research and reporting program entitled Monitoring the Future A Continuing Study of the Lifestyles and Values of Youth These surveys address two major topics 1 the prevalence of drug use among American students in 8th 10th and 12th grades and 2 drug use trends by those students Distinctions were drawn among demographic subgroups incidence of first use recorded trends in use at lower grade levels and intensity of drug use Also included were key attitudes about illicit drug use incorporating perceptions of the social environment as potential explanatory factors The research focused on frequent drug use rather than analyzing everyone who has ever used drugs This strategy serves to differentiate levels of seriousness or extent of drug involvement Survey results indicate that the last decade witnessed an appreciable decrease in the use of numerous illicit drugs among seniors However eighth graders exhibited a significant increase in some drug use such as marijuana cocaine and LSD This latter evidence may indicate that younger cohorts have less opportunity to learn through informal means about the dangers of drugs Two appendixes present the prevalence and trend estimates adjusted for absentees and dropouts and definitions of background and demographic subgroups RJM Healthy People 2000 Institute of Medicine, 1990-02-01
