Monkey Hunting A Novel:

Monkey Hunting Cristina García, 2004-04-27 In this deeply stirring novel acclaimed author Cristina García follows one extraordinary family through four generations from China to Cuba to America. Wonderfully evocative of time and place, rendered in the lyrical prose that is García's hallmark, Monkey Hunting is an emotionally resonant tale of immigration, assimilation, and the prevailing integrity of self. Affect, Performativity, and Chinese Diasporas in the Caribbean

Elena Igartuburu García, 2024-02-12 Affect, Performativity, and Chinese Diasporas in the Caribbean: Hopeful Futures analyzes the emergence of Chinese diasporic literature and art in the Caribbean and its diasporas in the twenty-first century. This book considers the historical and critical discourse about the Chinese diasporas in the Caribbean and proposes a textual and visual archive, selecting contemporary texts that signal a changing paradigm in postcolonial literature at the turn of the twenty-first century. Whereas historically Chinese minorities had been erased or presented as ultimate Others, contemporary texts mobilize Chinese characters and their stories strategically to propose alternative configurations of community and belonging grounded in affective structures and contest the coloniality of national imaginaries. Ethnicity and Kinship in North

American and European Literatures Silvia Schultermandl, Klaus Rieser, 2021-03-17 This edited collection applies kinship as an analytical concept to better understand the affective economies, discursive practices, and aesthetic dimensions through which cultural narratives of belonging establish a sense of intimacy and affiliation. In North American and European ethnic literatures, kinship has several social functions: negotiating diasporic belonging in and outside of the perimeters of bloodlines and genealogy; positioning queer feminist interventions to counter ethno-nationalist narratives of belonging; challenging liberal sentimentalist narratives such as those grafted onto the bodies of transnational adoptees; reformulating cultural heterogeneity through interracial and interethnic kinship constellations outside either post-racial assumptions about colorblindness or celebrations of racial and ethnic pluralism. In all of these cases, kinship features as a common theme through which contemporary authors attend to challenges of inscribing individuals into inclusive counter-hegemonic cultural narratives of belonging. Activism and the American Novel

Channette Romero, 2012-08-29 Since the 1980s many activists and writers have turned from identity politics toward ethnic religious traditions to rediscover and reinvigorate their historic role in resistance to colonialism and oppression. In her examination of contemporary fiction by women of color including Toni Morrison, Ana Castillo, Toni Cade Bambara, Louise Erdrich, and Leslie Marmon Silko, Channette Romero considers the way these novels newly engage with Vodun, Santería, Candomblé, and American Indian traditions. Critical of a widespread disengagement from civic participation and of the contemporary novel's disconnection from politics, this fiction attempts to transform the novel and the practice of reading into a means of political engagement and an inspiration for social change. The Encyclopedia of Contemporary American Fiction, 2 Volumes Patrick O'Donnell, Stephen J.
