Teaching Philosophy,1978 Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature Supplement ,1927 Eight Propositions Joe L. Rempson,2020-11-19 Rempson takes issue with those who lay the plight of African Americans on racism not seeing it today as a major obstacle to black progress Rather he traces the origin back to what he terms the African American Garden of Eden In it W E B Dubois outlasted Booker T Washington and fathered a tradition which Rempson argues has produced a victim identity and an emphasis on the system rather than the self Only black males offer a way out he declares because it is entirely our black males who are keeping us down and curtailing our progress in contrast to black females who are doing OK They are plagued by what Rempson calls the African American Male School Adaptability Crisis AMSAC Their academic performance ranks at the bottom alone below black female students and below white Asian and Hispanic male students In large urban areas their high school dropout rate is 59 percent and nationally they lag behind in college attendance and graduation rates The outcome Rempson argues is dysfunctionality and the existence of hedonistic norms which hinder family and community stability But while black males are the problem Rempson contends it is nevertheless only they who can solve it because research and experience show that it takes males to bring up and change other males Though intended for everyone he therefore writes his book to his fellow advantaged black males and makes a passionate plea for them to step up and with the help of black females and of the nation take the lead As their guide he has formulated eight propositions Arrived at through an examination of impressively extensive data from numerous sources and disciplines they are a marked departure from the customary Most strikingly delicate matters such as those which pertain to intelligence quotient IQ and culture are openly confronted and dealt with But Rempson writes unless confronted we will not solve our problems Nor he continues can we solve them unless we cut the umbilical cord to white America We have no right to expect it to be our savior nor are we justified in perceiving it as our oppressor Forcefully and finely written Rempson s book is a singular and courageous contribution Alone his eight propositions make it a worthy read

Intrinsically Motivated Learning in Natural and Artificial Systems Gianluca Baldassarre, Marco Mirolli, 2013-03-29 It has become clear to researchers in robotics and adaptive behaviour that current approaches are yielding systems with limited autonomy and capacity for self improvement To learn autonomously and in a cumulative fashion is one of the hallmarks of intelligence and we know that higher mammals engage in exploratory activities that are not directed to pursue goals of immediate relevance for survival and reproduction but are instead driven by intrinsic motivations such as curiosity interest in novel stimuli or surprising events and interest in learning new behaviours The adaptive value of such intrinsically motivated activities lies in the fact that they allow the cumulative acquisition of knowledge and skills that can be used later to accomplish fitness enhancing goals Intrinsic motivations continue during adulthood and in humans they underlie lifelong learning artistic creativity and scientific discovery while they are also the basis for processes that strongly affect human well being such as the sense of competence self determination and self esteem This book has two aims to present the state of the art in research on intrinsically motivated learning and to identify the related scientific and technological open challenges and most promising research directions The book introduces the concept of intrinsic motivation in artificial systems reviews the relevant literature offers insights from the neural and behavioural sciences and presents novel tools for research The book is organized into six parts the chapters in Part I give general overviews on the concept of intrinsic motivations their function and possible mechanisms for implementing them Parts II III and IV focus on three classes of intrinsic motivation mechanisms those based on predictors on novelty and on competence Part V discusses mechanisms that are complementary to intrinsic motivations and Part VI introduces tools and experimental frameworks for investigating intrinsic motivations The contributing authors are among the pioneers carrying out fundamental work on this topic drawn from related disciplines such as artificial intelligence robotics artificial life evolution machine learning developmental psychology cognitive science and neuroscience The book will be of value to graduate students and academic researchers in these domains and to engineers engaged with the design of autonomous adaptive robots The contributing authors are among the pioneers carrying out fundamental work on this topic drawn from related disciplines such as artificial intelligence robotics artificial life
