The Art of the Caveman John Mc Donagh, 2016-09-23 The first monograph on the poetry of Paul Durcan this book deals thematically with the dominant concerns evident from his first solo collection O Westport in the Light of Asia Minor published in 1975 up to and including The Days of Surprise published in 2015 His work is marked by an unnerving emotional honesty and a recurring desire to undermine the pomposity of an Ireland struggling under the weight of inherited inconsistencies One of the central arguments here is that Durcan has captured more than any other poet of his generation the complexities and contradictions inherent in Ireland's emergence from the early difficult decades of independence The complex relationship between the public and private in his poetry is also explored as well as the poet's unflinching examination of his deepest personal relationships

The Art Of Life Paul Durcan, 2011-01-18 In The Art of Life Paul Durcan takes us around County Mayo in his filthy two door bottle green Opel Astra stopping off at Westport and Achill Island where he declares himself to be globally sad but locally glad Next he travels east to Dublin to hold in his arms his newborn granddaughter and thence to Tuscany Poland and Japan Along the way he reflects upon parental pride the aches and pains of old age the trim bottoms of snooker players the wisdom of ex wives and dogs on Sandymount Strand while introducing us to a host of colourful characters including a bishop a roofer a milkman a priest and an unmarried mother Is there an art of living or is life a work of art This magnificent collection originally published on Paul Durcan's sixtieth birthday reveals one of Ireland's most successful and popular poets at the height of his powers and continuing to challenge amuse and delight

Sub-versions Ciaran Ross, 2010 From Swift's repulsive shit flinging Yahoos to Beckett's dying but never quite dead moribunds Irish literature has long been perceived as being synonymous with subversion and all forms of subversiveness But what constitutes a subversive text or a subversive writer in twenty first century Ireland The essays in this volume set out to redefine and rethink the subversive potential of modern Irish literature Crossing three central genres one common denominator running through these essays whether dealing with canonical writers like Yeats Beckett and Flann O'Brien or lesser known contemporary writers like Sebastian Barry or Robert McLiam Wilson is the continual questioning of Irish identity Irishness going from its colonial paradigm and stereotype of the subaltern in MacGill to its uneasy implications for gender representation in the contemporary novel and the contemporary drama A subsidiary theme inextricably linked to the identity problematic is that of exile and its radical heritage for all Irish writing irrespective of its different genres Sub Versions offers a cross cultural and trans national response to the expanding interest in Irish and postcolonial studies by bringing together specialists from different national cultures and scholarly contexts Ireland Britain France and Central Europe The order of the essays is by genre This study is aimed both at the general literary reader and anyone particularly interested in Irish Studies

Praise in Which I Live and Move and Have my Being Paul Durcan, 2012-03-29 Paul Durcan's twenty second collection finds Monsieur le Poète on the road in Paris New York City Chicago Brisbane and Achill Island meditating upon the sanctuary of home and what it means to feel truly at home Regarded by many as the great poet of contemporary Ireland Durcan is on top form here as he contemplates the fall of the Celtic Tiger while railing against bankers and bonus boys There are poems of love lost and won and poems in memory of friends and relatives who have passed on but there is also joy to be found in the birth of a grandson and there is praise too for the modest heroism of truckers air traffic controllers and nurses those slim sturdy buxom nourishers of fallen mankind If for Sartre hell is other people for Durcan heaven is other people especially women

The Cambridge Companion to Irish Poets Gerald Dawe, 2018 A fresh accessible and authoritative study that conveys the richness and diversity of Irish poets their lives and times

Life is a Dream Paul Durcan, 2011-01-18 Famous for his electrifying poetry readings Paul Durcan marks four decades of composing silently and reciting aloud with this magnificent collection which brings together for the first time the critically acclaimed poet's own choice of his work from his first book Endsville 1967 to The Laughter of Mothers 2007 Life is a Dream represents the whole range of Durcan's writing funny and subversive verse narratives and self mocking poems of underachievement poems celebrating love and sex or the lives of famous writers and artists as well as tender poignant verses commemorating the dead Throughout his long career Durcan has continued to make passionate and moving poetry out of his own and his country's misfortunes He is by turns a surrealist a mystic an Irish comedian with perfect comic timing and an angry champion of the oppressed Life is a Dream reaffirms the constant vision and artistic integrity of one of the most powerful humane and original voices in modern poetry
