Contextual Subjects Robert Leckey,2008-01-01 Law and legal discourse both presuppose and produce legal subjects Views on the nature of the legal subject will constantly shift therefore with changes in the law Contextual Subjects argues that a new view of the legal subject has indeed emerged and that it is now embedded in the social context and relationships This claim is developed through a contrast of Canadian family law and administrative law as it was in the mid twentieth century and as it is today Robert Leckey argues that it is not only the subject that is contextual Legal discourse and adjudication have also become more contextual making family law and administrative law themselves contextual subjects Leckey bolsters this argument through the use of relational theory a rich strand of feminist political theory that advocates a contextual method and seeks to promote constructive relationships that enable relational autonomy Developments in family law and administrative law therefore exemplify the contextualism called for by relational theorists Leckey points to the importance of contextualization but he is not uncritical of relational theory insisting that it should articulate more forcefully its normative vision of good relationships and offer clear recommendations in contested areas Contextual Subjects is the most thorough and sustained application of relational theory to legal examples to appear to date It is unique in Canadian legal scholarship for the way it pairs family law and administrative law and within legal scholarship in English for its integration of common law and civil law      The South Western Reporter ,1926 Includes the decisions of the Supreme Courts of Missouri Arkansas Tennessee and Texas and Court of Appeals of Kentucky Aug Dec 1886 May Aug 1892 Court of Appeals of Texas Aug 1892 Feb 1893 Jan Feb 1928 Courts of Civil and Criminal Appeals of Texas Apr June 1896 Aug Nov 1907 Court of Appeals of Indian Territory May June 1927 Jan Feb 1928 Courts of Appeals of Missouri and Commission of Appeals of Texas      Centennial James A.
