
TABLE 2. The Psychodynamic Intervention Rating Scale

Interpretive interventions

Defense interpretations: Therapist remarks that try to point out, refer to, or explain the motives for processes that mitigate or diminish affect or processes that reflect shifts in the content of topics or representations of persons. These interventions may address any aspect of a dynamic conflict.

Transference interpretations: Therapist remarks that point out, refer to, wonder about, or explain the patient's experience of the therapeutic relationship.

Noninterpretive interventions

Acknowledgments: Therapist remarks intended to convey that the patient's communication has been received.

Clarification: Therapist remarks that summarize what the patient has said without interpretation and with the intent of ensuring that the therapist has understood properly the patient's communication.

Questions: Therapist inquiries about affects or details of the patient's life, relationships, or significant others. These are not considered interpretive.

Associations: Therapist remarks that reflect on something the patient has said at another point, but without making an interpretation, or that involve therapist self-disclosures or general statements of fact or opinion. These may include answers to questions or explanations.

Reflections: Therapist remarks in which the intent is to briefly express the patient's experience; usually this involves the assertion of an affect.

Work-enhancing strategies: Therapist remarks that explain the value and rationale of therapy and encourage the patient to say whatever comes to mind, no matter how seemingly unimportant or obscure.

Support strategies: Therapist remarks that make suggestions, reinforce, or question patient's solutions to various problems.

Contractual arrangements: Therapist remarks that relate to the "whens," "for how longs," and "how much" of treatment.

Rating Your Psychotherapist:

Rating Your Psychotherapist Robert J. Langs, Robert Langs, MD M.D., 1991-06-25 Mastering the Financial Dimension of Your Psychotherapy Practice Peter H. Cole, Daisy Reese, 2017-06-27 Written by two therapists with extensive business experience Mastering the Financial Dimension of Your Psychotherapy Practice addresses the clinical and financial challenges of establishing and maintaining a successful private practice This book contains updated content on investing strategies changes in the insurance marketplace and trends in the marketing of a psychotherapy practice The first of five sections explores the life cycle of the modern therapy practice offering best business and investing practices for each phase In the second and third sections the authors consider the emotional dimension in the development of a private practice The fourth section offers a basic course in financial planning including an investigation into five common financial mistakes therapists make and various solutions to each situation The fifth section is designed to offer a road map of actions to take in establishing a financial plan Concluding the book is an inspirational discussion of how the therapist in private practice can create a career with meaning fulfillment personal satisfaction and solid financial rewards Buddhism and Psychotherapy Across Cultures Mark Unno, 2006-07-12 As Buddhism and psychotherapy have grown and diversified in Asia and the West so too has the literature dealing with their intersection In this collection of essays leading voices explore many surprising connections between psychotherapy and Buddhism Contributors include Jack Engler on Promises and Perils of the Spiritual Path Taitetsu Unno on Naikan Therapy and Shin Buddhism and Anne Carolyn Klein on Psychology the Sacred and Energetic Sensing Clinical Workbook for Psychotherapists Robert Langs, 2018-04-24 This clinical workbook stresses the details of sound clinical practice invites the reader to engage in exercises related to these practices as he or she goes through the volume and offers practice in techniques that are essential to sound psychotherapy The Family Interactive Rating Scale a Therapy Tool for Working with Families Nate M. Larsen Ph. D., 2012-02 The following chapters express my thoughts and experiences while developing and utilizing the Family Interactive Rating Scale FIRS Although the central concept is the rating scale it ultimately encompasses a therapy style that promotes better input from children fosters increased dialogue within families and provides a structure with more defined parameters for therapists when working with families all in an attempt to help them facilitate better change This is not intended to replace your therapy style with families but instead suggests a possible supplement to your therapy As a tool it can be used as often or as seldom as you the mental health provider sees fit Since developing and using the FIRS I have discovered therapy with children to run smoother and family sessions with children and their parents more productive I hope you find it as helpful as I have and that it makes your work with families even more enjoyable Modern Eclectic Therapy: A Functional Orientation to Counseling and Psychotherapy Joseph Hart, 2012-12-06 This book is a hybrid it contains theoretical sections and sections devoted to technique it attempts to provide a historical perspective and to give a contemporary formulation of theory and practice and it discusses both practical problems of day by day therapy sessions and philosophical issues related to the meaning of psychotherapy in modern society In a way the book reflects in its own style and contents the subject it is about Eclectic therapy is certainly a hybrid of many strains of influence it is more diverse in its structures theories and techniques than any other therapeutic orientation Still eclectic therapy does have a definite consistency and coherency that I hope will be clearly revealed in this book The plan of the book is as follows In Part I I will present the arguments and evidence that there is a modern trend toward eclecticism among therapists and then in Part II tie this trend into the historical tradition of functionalism Both the common features of clinical functionalism and the specific ideas and methods of James Janet Burrow Taft and Thorne are presented I believe it will be a revelation to many readers to see the contemporary significance of the therapies practiced by these eclectic pioneers

Psychoanalysis Online 4 Jill Savege

Scharff,2018-11-02 Psychoanalysis Online 4 Teleanalytic Practice Teaching and Clinical Research brings a systematic qualitative research perspective to the question of the effectiveness of teletherapy teleanalysis and teleteaching It suggests that contrary to some traditional arguments effective treatment teaching and supervision can take place remotely that affect and imagination are more important than physical presence Providing theories of therapeutic action as well as philosophical reflections the book features examples of online clinical cases including crisis interventions by email and aims to stimulate openness to innovation responsible process and review Each contributor presents their clinical qualitative research and survey study findings The Bernardi Three Level Model developed for assessing therapeutic change in the traditional analytic setting is applied to the study of teleanalysis with different patients It is found that in videoconference or even in email communication the sense of closeness in the therapeutic encounter does not depend on physical proximity but on integrity and commitment The book concludes with research findings on the effectiveness of videoconference compared to in the classroom settings for teaching psychodynamics supervising psychotherapy and conducting psychotherapy with Chinese students It will be of great interest to a variety of professionals and researchers who practise remotely with particular relevance for those situated in the fields of psychoanalysis and psychotherapy

Evaluating Student Learning Outcomes in Counselor Education

Casey A. Barrio Minton, Donna M. Gibson, Carrie A. Wachter Morris, 2016-04-14 This timely text describes the role of program evaluation in counselor education and provides step by step guidance for faculty seeking to develop comprehensive Student Learning Outcome SLO evaluation plans to meet accountability expectations It serves as a blueprint for demystifying the SLO process and making the switch from an input based measure of productivity that focuses on what counseling programs do to an outcome based approach that concentrates on the quality of learning through evidence based assessment of students knowledge and skills The first and second parts of the book lay the foundation for the SLO process and provide practical guidance for identifying and developing direct and indirect measures of student learning Part III offers strategies for creating measures collecting managing and reporting student data and using data to ensure competence In Part IV counselor educators across the country offer hands on application through a wide variety of SLO activities and rubrics linked to each of the curricular and specialty areas of the 2016 CACREP Standards Requests for digital versions from ACA can be found on www.wiley.com To purchase print copies please visit the ACA website Reproduction requests for material from books published by ACA should be directed to publications@counseling.org
