Rational Decisionmaking In The Preservation Of Cultural Property:

Rational Decision-making in the Preservation of Cultural Property Norbert Sebastian Baer,Folke Snickars,2001

Contemporary Theory of Conservation Salvador Munoz-Vinas,2012-05-23 Classical theories of conservation are well known in the heritage community but in the last two decades thinking has shifted and classical theory has faced increasing criticism Contemporary Theory of Conservation brings together current ideas in conservation theory presenting a structured coherent analysis of the subject for the first time This engaging and readable text is split into 3 parts The first Fundamentals of conservation addresses the identity of conservation itself and problems arising when classical conservation theories are applied The second part Questioning classical theories delves deeper into the criticism of classical ideas such as reversibility This leads on to the creation of new paradigms such as sustainability which are covered in the final part of the book Conservation ethics Human-Centered Built Environment Heritage Preservation Jeremy C. Wells,Barry L.

Stiefel,2018-09-20 Human Centered Built Environment Heritage Preservation addresses the question of how a human centred conservation approach can and should change practice For the most part there are few answers to this question because professionals in the heritage conservation field do not use social science research methodologies to manage cultural landscapes assess historical significance and inform the treatment of building and landscape fabric With few exceptions only academic theorists have explored these topics while failing to offer specific usable guidance on how the social sciences can actually be used by heritage professionals In exploring the nature of a human centred heritage conservation practice we explicitly seek a middle ground between the academy and practice theory and application fabric and meanings conventional and civil experts and orthodox and heterodox ideas behind practice and research We do this by positioning this book in a transdisciplinary space between these dichotomies as a way to give voice and respect to multiple perspectives without losing sight of our goal that heritage conservation practice should fundamentally benefit all people We believe that this approach is essential for creating an emancipated built heritage conservation practice that must successfully engage very different ontological and epistemological perspectives The Oxford Handbook of the Valley of the Kings Richard H. Wilkinson,Kent

R. Weeks,2016 This Handbook offers an invaluable and up to date resource on this critical and fascinating World Heritage site Handbook of Research on Heritage Management and Preservation Ngulube, Patrick,2018-02-02 Archives museums and libraries are pivotal to the management and preservation of any society s heritage Heritage assets should be systematically managed by putting in place proper policies maintenance procedures security and risks measures and retrieval and preservation plans The Handbook of Research on Heritage Management and Preservation is a critical scholarly resource that examines different aspects of heritage management and preservation ranging from theories that underline the field areas of convergence and divergence in the field infrastructure and the policy framework that governs the field and the influence of the changing landscape on practice Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as community involvement records legislation and collection development this book is geared towards academicians researchers and students seeking current research on heritage management and preservation Historical Perspectives on Preventive Conservation Sarah Staniforth, Getty Conservation Institute, 2013 The present volume provides a selection from more than sixty five texts tracing the development of this important area of conservation The texts range chronologically from antiquity to the present day They cover a wide range of subjects including philosophies of preventive conservation early traditions of housekeeping the museum environment relative humidity and temperature pollution biodeterioration and light There is also a generous selection of readings discussing future trends P 4 of cover

Managing the Magic of Old Places Jeremy Wells, 2025-10-14 From 1849 to the early 1980s the development of US historic preservation policy was shaped by fewer than one hundred elite White men from Europe and America This orthodox preservation doctrine has too long silenced the vibrant experiential relationships between everyday people and their heritage Managing the Magic of Old Places Crafting Public Policies for People Centered Historic Preservation offers a radical rethinking of how historic preservation is approached in the United States Author Jeremy C Wells argues for a revolutionary shift in federal preservation policy one that embraces community based participatory practice and draws from environmental psychology to tap into the intangible emotional connections people have with old places Wells highlights the experiential values that laypeople often ascribe to historic environments which are frequently dismissed by expert driven policies He contends that if historic preservation policy continues to ignore these aspects the field will lose relevance as the gap between professionals and the public widens Drawing from interdisciplinary research in the social sciences particularly phenomenology and environmental psychology Wells s vision of public preservation policy centers the lived experiences of communities reinvigorating the field and ensuring that the preservation of historic places resonates with a wider more inclusive audience Wells positions his work within the growing field of critical heritage studies yet his focus on the psychological and emotional aspects of preservation distinguishes it as a unique contribution By placing the needs and experiences of the public at the heart of preservation efforts Wells critiques the historical foundations of US preservation policy while offering a bold agenda for reform

Time Honored John H. Stubbs, 2009-01-14 The absence heretofore of a comparably thoroughgoing but accessible resource on a topic of such urgent public concern was a glaring lapse that makes this deeply researched lucidly written and helpfully annotated book an invaluable addition to the literature New York Review of Books Time Honored is a comprehensive survey of the practice theory and structure of architectural heritage conservation throughout the world Offering an argument for why architectural conservation is indispensable to modern life Time Honored describes its parameters and evolution in an historical context and then methodically presents approaches used in various countries showing how historic preservation in the West differs from conservation in the rest of the world Illustrated throughout with over 300 photographs drawings maps and charts No other book navigates the global conservation programs policies and project types so completely Architecture in Existing Fabric Johannes Cramer, Stefan Breitling, 2012-11-05 Architectural work on existing structures has become enormously important in recent years For the majority of architects this is where future market opportunities will lie This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the field and is thus addressed to all practitioners students and building sponsors whose interest goes beyond an initial encounter with this wideranging field of activity Contradicting the conventional view that creative design work is the exclusive province of new building design the authors offer a nuanced account of active and creative strategies for planning design and execution Subjects considered range from town planning issues through the overall project cycle and its individual phases all the way to building management Special focuses are the grammar of design as well as the issues arising through collaboration of different experts In order to illuminate this broad and complex spectrum of topics the book incorporates thirty examples of projects from Europe and North America in which buildings from a huge variety of periods from the Middle Ages to the 1960s are transferred into the present Stone in Architecture Siegfried Siegesmund, Rolf Snethlage, 2014-07-08 The weathering of historical buildings and indeed of monuments and sculptures of natural stone is a problem that has been encountered for hundreds of years However a dramatic increase in deterioration in the structure of our built heritage has been observed during the past century To understand the complex interaction that the stone in a building suffers with its near environment the building and the macro environment the local climate and atmospheric conditions requires an interdisciplinary approach and the application of many disciplines Climate change over the next 100 years is likely to have a range of direct and indirect impacts on many natural and physical environments including the built environment The protection of our architectural heritage has both cultural and historical importance as well as substantial economic and ecological value Large sums of money are being spent world wide on measures for the preservation of monuments and historical buildings The past few decades has seen an unprecedented level of research activity in this area the result of which is often difficult to access and are summarized in the new edition of STONE IN ARCHITECTURE The 4th edition of Stone in Architecture Properties Durability is a sophisticated and thorough exploration of stone its properties performance and conservation in monumental contexts The current editors Siegfried Siegesmund and Rolf Snethlage note the pioneering work of Erhard Winkler who wrote the first edition in 1973 when so little information could be found in the literature on the subject This new edition also published by Springer nearly doubles the size of Winkler s 1994 effort If you are familiar with the field and need to know little more than this statement you can put aside this review and go buy the book George Wheeler Department of Scientific Research The Metropolitan Museum of Art New York

Post-Industrial Landscape Scars A. Storm, 2014-10-22 Post industrial landscape scars are traces of 20th century utopian visions of society they relate to fear and resistance expressed by popular movements and to relations between industrial workers and those in power The metaphor of the scar pinpoints the inherent ambiguity of memory work by signifying both positive and negative experiences as well as the contemporary challenges of living with these physical and mental marks In this book Anna Storm explores post industrial landscape scars caused by nuclear power production mining and iron and steel industry in Malmberget Kiruna Barseb ck and Avesta in Sweden Ignalina and Visaginas Snie kus in Lithuania former Soviet Union and Duisburg in the Ruhr district of Germany The scars are shaped by time and geographical scale they carry the vestiges of life and work of community spirit and hope of betrayed dreams and repressive hierarchical structures What is critical Storm concludes is the search for a legitimate politics of memory The meanings of the scars must be acknowledged Past and present experiences must be shared in order shape new understandings of old places

Heritage or Heresy B. Schildgen, 2016-01-23 This is an account of the roles of local and national movements and of memory and regret in the destruction or preservation of the architectural artistic and historic legacy of Europe in which the author examines what is cultural heritage and why it matters

The Conservation of Medieval Polychrome Wood Sculpture Michele D. Marincola, Lucretia Kargère, 2020-08-18 The first English language book to comprehensively discuss the history and methodology of conserving medieval polychrome wood sculpture Medieval polychrome wood sculptures are highly complex objects bearers of histories that begin with their original carving and adornment and continue through long centuries of repainting deterioration restoration and conservation Abundantly illustrated this book is the first in English to offer a comprehensive overview of the conservation of medieval painted wood sculpture for conservators curators and others charged with their care Beginning with an illuminating discussion of the history techniques and meanings of these works it continues with their examination and documentation including chapters on the identification of both the wooden support and the polychromy itself the paint layers metal leaf and other materials used for these sculptures The volume also covers the many aspects of treatment the process of determining the best approach consolidation and adhesion of paint ground and support overpaint removal and surface cleaning and compensation Four case studies on artworks in the collection of The Cloisters in New York a comprehensive bibliography and a checklist to aid in documentation complement the text
